SUMMER SUMMARY

Unique Experiences

Center: Ants in your pants? Joey Nordtvedt, Chris Currall, and Mike Madden defy gravity with these antsy leaps.

Below right: Hike to the top. Ian Autrey stops to take in the breathtaking view of Silvas Lake.

Above: Water babies! Frances Leach and Bethany Vaught wade through the great pacific.

Center right: Ancient Runes. Jennifer McIntosh stands next to a piece of history near Stockholm, Sweden.

What will you always remember about the Summer of 1993?

Courtesy of Ketchikan Public Library and Ketchikan Museums

"I'm always going to remember the day I helped deliver a baby calf on my cousin's ranch in Montana." -Gwen Wright, senior

"I want to remember the toilets in Europe." -Bethany Vaught, junior

"I went back to my homeland, England." -David Gould, sophomore

"I'll always remember the day my whole baseball team threw my dad in the river." -Ty Hewitt, freshman

Below: Flower child in a wet suit? Melissa Brooks prepares to go for a thrilling ride on the ocean.

Summertime is for the birds and Country Time Lemonade. It's not like we desire a break from school. Yeah....whatever! You bet your pretty little pinkie we deserve a break! Despite what we may think, Ketchikan is a pretty cool place to hang out for the summer. There are tons of groovy things to do here. This place turns into a mini Seattle, with all the interesting species coming in to work for the canneries. Some of us work, but many simply think of summer as a time of play. But hey, that's okay, because we are only young once. One of summer's best features this year was that the glorious sun splashed down on us. Summer is always a blast, even if it rains, but this summer was so hot it could have easily fried an egg on the sidewalk. The three months we have away from school can somewhat recharge us for the upcoming nine months of wonderful learning experiences. Summer is a time for change, a new beginning. Every student in this school walks in the door late August a different person than the one who walked out the doors in May.

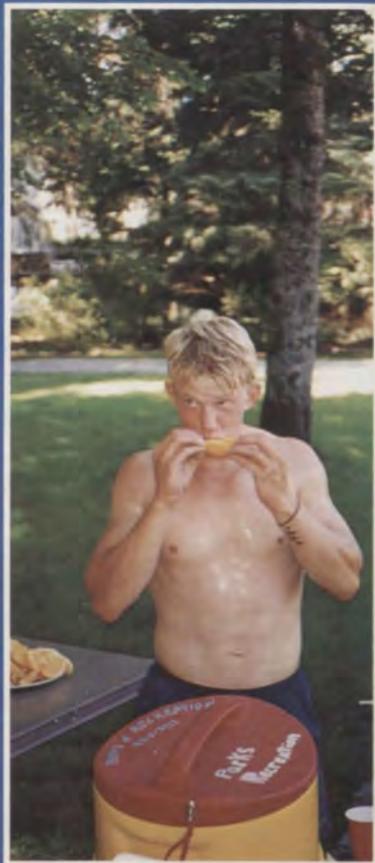

Above right: The long drop! Jessie Olmstead and Shannon Mahn take their deep plunge into the Tongass Narrows.

SUMMER CHALLENGES

Sweatin' in the sun

Bottom Left: "Okay man, the ball is yours! Just don't hurt me!" Corey Steffen clears the way before going for the goal.

Center: Where's the ball? Players are baffled in the case of the disappearing football. S.O. #14 knows where it is!

Bottom Right: A quick pick up for Ian Autrey as he ran the Calamity race this summer.

Bottom left: Guys, we won... didn't we? Steve Peterson asks Jesse West, Isaac Isaia, Krag Campbell, Anthony Manabat, Pat Stack, and David Vest.

THIS CLASS WAS MADE FOR WALKING

And that's just what we did!

Above: It's a stampede! With or without their float, the senior class upheld the 4th of July tradition.

Above: Proud Americans...and Proud seniors! Mindy Hamlin, Evelyn Macmanus, and Sissy Kelly show their spirit to their country...and class!

Below: Soaked and abandoned, the senior float paraded itself through town.

History has been ladies and gentlemen! For the first time in the history of fourth of Julys, the senior class of 1994 was expelled from the parade. Why, you ask? Candy, Super Soakers, class of 1983, and one mad cop may have had something to do with it. Did we walk away in defeat with our tails between our legs? No!! The senior class made like Fred Flinstone and hit the pavement. Here are a few comments made by members of the 1994 senior class, regarding the Fourth of July:

"I remember being crammed in the back of David Doyon's truck after the parade. We were stuck up on Water Street for twenty minutes!"
- Senior Rachel Cannon

"I had to work....." -Senior Chris Amos

"I heard our float got busted.....the fireworks were pretty cool. I worked on my truck most of the day." -Senior Ross Umphrey

"It felt great to be rebellious!"-Senior Kyli Spurgeon

July 4th, 1993 will always be remembered with a grin. What a day it was.

Below: Starry eyed! Knute Adcock and Chris Bruce are in a festive mood.

Center left: Hide the evidence! Don't you dare touch that Super Soaker Mindy Hamlin, and God forbid if you throw that candy!

Center: They took the Plunge. Rachel Cannon and Sissy Kelly climb up the ladder from the deep abyss which they dove into.

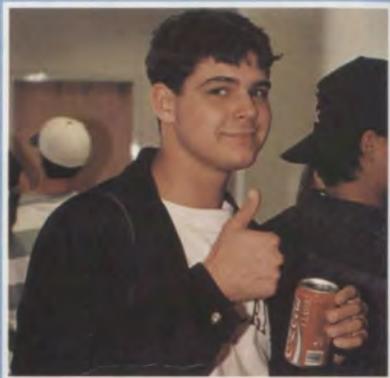

Bottom right: "I think a bug just landed in my mouth!" whines Corey Steffen. Emily Cook and Kristin Bruening don't know what to think.

FRESH DIMENSIONS

Our new look

Courtesy of Ketchikan Public Library and Ketchikan Museums

Top: "Wendy, your eyes are all aglow!" Frances Leach and Wendy Morrison ward off boredom during class.

Top Right: The hall gang. Kayhi students take a stroll through our new corridors.

Top: And the walls came a tumblin' down.... Our school which stood for forty years finally had its day of rest.

Was there ever a day more dreaded by high school students than August 30th? This date may seem insignificant to you now, but at one point, it may as well have been a four-lettered word. Even worse, it's a SIX letter word. SCHOOL. Cover thy ears! Don't utter such a word! School should be happily looked upon as a place of learning, as well as a continual social function. But folks, so times the party gets old. When Kayhi students were asked what they do to avoid boredom in the classroom, this is what a few said:

"I have pen fights and pass pennies through my fingers." - Matthew Cooke, junior

"I count the number of dandruff flakes on the shoulders of the person in front of me."

-Alisa Breese, senior

"I dream of skateboarding." - Jack R, senior

There are literally thousands of things to do when the teacher has a habit of rambling on, but counting dandruff? Gross Alisa!

Bottom: Banner of destruction. Desi Day holds in her hands the banner which signifies the fall of our school.

What would you do to avoid the First Day Of SCHOOL?

"I would say that I had an extended dentist appointment. Honest."
-Joey Nordtvedt, senior

"What wouldn't I do?!!!"
-Frances Leach, Junior

"I'd go to the bathroom....."
-John Cummings, sophomore

"To avoid school and my brother, I'd just stay home!"-Klm Smith, freshman

4TH YEAR FRESHMEN

Where's the bathroom?

Courtesy of Ketchikan Public Library and Ketchikan Museums

Wow! It finally happened! We're seniors! It's our turn to show them how it's done, and rule the school!...Sure! That might have been a brief thought, but how can you effectively rule a school you've never stepped foot inside before?!

When we were freshmen, it was "socially acceptable" not to know where you were going, but as seniors, we are expected to know just about everything!(Naturally!) We weren't supposed to be bombarded with a new school. How can we rule a school when we are lowered to fourth year freshmen?!

Walking around the new school was an experience in itself, and while doing so, we cornered a few unsuspecting seniors who confessed their fears about the new school.

"I walked around the school with my schedule for a week looking for rooms and asking people if it was an A, B, or C day." Jessie Olmstead

"I was too cool - I knew where everything was. I'm a man, I don't need to ask for directions!" Travis Steller

"I always felt worried that I would go to the wrong class on the wrong day!" Angela Gutches

"I felt like the troubles of man were coming down upon us in the midst of our generation gap." Ryan Bromley

"I skipped my seventh hour class because I couldn't find it." Chris Amos

"I felt in touch with myself."

Richard Nedzwecky

"I was happy, I guess. I was with all my friends, and I worked here all summer." Jared Goodale

"I felt like I was in the t.v. show '90210'." Tyson Adams

"It didn't feel any different than any other day. I was lost as usual." Anthony Manabat.

"Huh, huh, it was cool." Kyle Wendte

Sad, but true!

HOUSEWIFE?!! NO WAY!!

I have better plans

We're no longer underclassmen. We have reached the long overdue status of being a senior. But with all the fun comes responsibility and decisions. Ahhhhhhhh!

The future has become a vast field of opportunity. College is of top priority for most seniors, while working and getting money for college will come first for others.

Everyone has different goals or future plans. When cruising down Kayhi's halls looking for innocent seniors and popping the big question, "What are your future plans?" some of my peers were hesitant, but none-the-less knew what they were going to do. The answers ranged in 4 categories: sure, unsure, pretty sure, totally sure, and I-already-know-the-names-of-my-children sure.

Right: Planning for the future isn't as easy as it looks. Angela Gutches

*"My goal is to go to college, get married, and make a lot of money!"
Rhea Monrean, 12*

"I want to be a highly respected businessman in a big city by the time I am 30." Brendon Diment, 12

*"I'm going to graduate from college and go to Europe at least three times."
Jolene Gibson, 12*

But the most unique response came from senior, Joel Bruesch who said, "I'm going to marry some rich old lady who is half dead and inherit all her money!"

Whatever the outcome, the class of 1994 has already proved that we are ready for anything life throws our way or whatever the future will bring - at least we hope so!

STOP AND SMELL THE ROSES!

When's there time?

There are many tough responsibilities in being Seniors. Most all of them deal with English term papers and American Government Current Events papers. And that is just homework! Also adding stress are SAT, ACT, Scholarships and college applications. How do you deal with all this stress? Here are some Seniors who told us how they deal with stress. "I listen to music and pet my cat," said Jolene Gibson.

"Find an innocent freshman and introduce them to life in high school," stated Andrew Merrill.

The clock is ticking and time is running out. Soon we won't have to deal with classroom stress. But then we will have to face the future.

Left: "No way," says Jeremy Vaught as he looks at his test scores in awe.

When is there time to have fun you might ask yourself.

"Usually I can find time for fun on Friday night," Ronnie Jimdar stated.

"But there seems to be no time for family fun," Kyll Spurgeon said.

As seniors, there seems to be no time for anything. You are either stressing for an American government test, or studying for a Vocab test in English class. Many seniors are also working to save money so they can go to college to further their learning experiences. But the big thing that is on seniors' minds is passing American Government and English class. The last thing seniors want to hear is that there is a Blue Book test today. All the horrors of the Blue Book tests are finally coming true.

"If at first you don't succeed, try and try again," Advised Mr. Crockett.

IT'S A SENIOR THING!

Oh - so privileged!

Along with the responsibility of being a Senior comes many privileges. You get to be in charge of keeping the underclassmen in line by reminding them that, once again, Senior Square needs cleaning.

As you strut through the crowded halls, people move out of your way, hoping to avoid the wrath of a Senior. The expression of "Oh, no, not again" pops onto a bewildered freshman's face as he sees a Senior come toward him. There's nowhere to hide, so he just stands there. As he's shoved into a garbage can, he is reminded that hazing, although illegal, is still in full effect. You get to leave your mark on Senior Hill with many gallons of paint in the wee hours of the morning. The only fear is that of not getting it done before the previous class appears to protect the remainder of their legacy. You also get to march tall and proud through the middle of the street on the Fourth of July, claiming your fame as the class of 1994!

Travis Steller, when commenting on Senior Hill stated: "It's Good clean American fun!"

Aaron Shull added, "Senior power is Awesome!"

Amy Hull expressed that "It would be a lot better if there were less freshmen to get in our way!"

Mandi Olmstead believes that "being a Senior is the best thing since sliced bread!"

THE COLOR OF MONEY

We worked till we were blue in the face!

The class of 1994's Senior Carnival was a success! A whopping 13,000 plus was our reward for all the hard work and long hours put into this most festive event. The Seniors' sleepless weekend was well worth the experience! Here's what a few involved individuals had to say about the carnival.

"Making cotton candy for a million kids was great fun, until the machine blew up at me...that's when I unplugged it!" -Jolene Gibson

"We couldn't keep up with all the people at the concessions! It was crazy!" -Robbie Stosel

"I didn't get to see all that happened... All I saw was 500 little kids' faces that wouldn't sit still! And I didn't get to pee for 4 hours! It was Fun." -Moureen Kelly

"We put our shoulder to the wheel. We pushed along. We did the carnival with a heart full of song. We never shirk, we love our work. We did the carnival with a heart full of song." -Mr. Crockett

Top right- "Hey man, those people don't know how to dress!" Jennifer Rose and Kristen Bruening watch the crowd from their "groovy cakewalk."

Middle- "Timber!" The woodhogs did their fair share in making the carnival's raffle a success!

CLASS ACT

Reality check

Many of us never thought we'd get there, but we did. We are finally upperclassmen. The only drawbacks; more homework, tougher teachers, and harder classes. Almost doesn't seem worth it!

This year, though, Juniors are dealing with their classes in humorous and wild ways. From either imitating the Mad Scientist to dressing up in Togas, no it's not another Animal House, just Mr. Bolling's way of teaching his World History class about Socrates. Even if your teachers aren't making your classes interesting enough, you can always count on the person sitting behind or beside you to have done something the previous weekend worth talking about. It's not as if we are in school to learn anything, right?

No matter what your classes are they're sure to make life a little more interesting and, with all the homework teachers seem to pile on, give you a lot less free time.

Above: "Harken all ye men, It is I, the great one," exclaims Trevor Taggart as Russell Sund looks on in wonder.

Top: "Don't we look like little geniuses," asks Taylor Crockett and Karen Burnette taking a break from their chemistry class.

SKIPPING OUT

Juniors take "five"

When it comes to skipping, we Juniors are experts. Whether you have special plans, no plans, or just can't stand the thought of sitting through another hour of boring lecture from your least favorite teacher, cutting classes is something most of us have done once or twice.

Of course some students are sneakier than others. A common ploy is to ask a friend who is an aid to the office to write you a pass that will get you out of class. Then there are the rest of the juniors who could care less and when school gets to be too much will just walk out without a cover or excuse.

Which ever type you are you'll still be sure to answer the phone that night, hoping to catch the routine recorded message by Mr. Pennington before your parents do!

Above: "Say what?" Ian Plamondon roams the halls trying to waste time during class.

Top: "Aren't we crazy?" Jason Short and Adam Berkey show us what happens when you show up for class.

Top: "Swish!" Darren Ludwigen proves his basketball prowess by showing everyone how it's done.

Above: "Don't make me hurt you!" Taylor Crockett and Christy Wendte fight over who gets the ball.

Another school year has come and will soon be gone and we will wonder where the time has gone! (Not soon enough for some of us!)

Another school year means another year of sports. Another year of sports includes such privileges as getting up at five o'clock in the morning to make practice by six o'clock, staying until ten thirty or eleven to finish a game or go to a dance, and the honor of staying in shape so you can do all of these activities.

While the Junior class may be small in size, they are big on sports. Most of the class of 1995 are involved in some extra-curricular activity that takes a lot of time and energy, not to mention money and devotion.

Most of us can recognize the negative aspects of sports, but to the Junior class, those aspects are but a mere shadow to all the benefits that they receive.

Deeann Davidson, a junior who performs in drill team, had this to say about the positive aspect of being in a sport, "You get to perform in a group and in front of people, also the social part is great!"

Mike Matson, a junior who is on the wrestling team, had this to say about sports, "You feel you have accomplished something. It gives you a drive to be the best at what you do."

Juniors have worked hard to prove that they have the willing spirit to cooperate with their teammates and show true Kayhi spirit. In conclusion, it can be said of the Juniors that they always try to "be the best at what they do."

Above: Bellyflop? I don't think so. Robert Biagi shows the crowd how he soars through the air.

SPARE TIME

More like sparse time

The class of '95' has proved that they know how to have fun and in the meantime they manage to "spare" a few moments for what we call "spare time". Most of the juniors are involved in many school activities and functions. Almost all of these activities are very time-consuming. Along with all of the activities comes the question of how to spend the time that we have after school, in other words, our precious spare time. When asked the juniors weren't bashful about the subject, but they weren't exactly sure what they did with their time.

"I practice a lot, so I don't have spare time," said Jackie Cain

"I drive around and spend money on my friends." - Mary Dodge

But Denise Rickert put into words what we all feel when she simply said, "I don't have spare time!"

CHANGING MINDS

CHANGING MINDS

Still an underclassman, but one step closer to the top. Is being a Sophomore really different from your 1st year of high school? Many Sophomores claim that they still feel like Freshmen, so we asked them, "how is being a Sophomore different from being a Freshman?"

"It's easier. I'm actually passing all of my classes." -Dawn Dyakanoff

"You're not as intimidated. You know more people." -Rochelle Pimentel

"It's harder work but it's more fun. I like it." -Nell Kinunen

"As a Sophomore, I feel no different. It's just a title. It doesn't change my soul or me. I guess I'm considered a nerd, but as Bruce Lee said, 'the individual is more important than the style.' As long as you're true to yourself, you're whatever you wish. Even if you are a 'nerd'; as long as you follow your heart, you are a hero." -Scott Buendia

"You don't get teased as much as when you were a Freshman." -Kristin Rosenkranz

"As a Sophomore, I feel more respected by upperclassmen. I also feel more powerful, for I am an upperclassman." -Jon Chambers

"I don't feel like the new kid in school anymore." -Chris Harvey

"When Sarah gave me a rad ring. It was for Christmas, but she decided to give it to me before. She's done so many memorable things for me and to me. She's the best friend anyone could have..." -Jennifer Threlkeld

"My friends threw me a surprise party for my sweet 16th birthday." -Susie Navales

MINDS OF TOWER

Now that your 1st year of high school is gone, you can look down on all of the Freshmen you remember as sevis. You can walk down the hall and feel proud that you're not a Freshman any more. You can laugh when you see a Freshman getting harrassed by Seniors (although you still feel a little bit of sympathy for them. Don't worry, it'll all pass by the time you're a Senior). Do you feel more powerful now that you're a Sophomore?

"Yes, but not because I'm a Sophomore." -Jesse Bright

"Yes because people can't say, 'Oh she's just an airhead Freshman.' I love it!" -Angle Buel

"I don't feel any more powerful than I did when I was in 3rd grade. I think as you get older, people respect you for who you are, and not how old you are." -Chancey Davis

"Yes, except I look at the Freshmen and hope I never acted like they do sometimes. I just feel older." -Melissa Friend

"No because you're still a lowerclassman and you're only above the Freshmen. Nobody cares about the Freshmen." -Carrie Finegan

"Yeah, because my little brother's a Freshman." -Ben Currall

NO VACANCY

Get to your class in 10 minutes or more and you get a free tardy! Yah, Right! This isn't Denny or Domingos! This is a reality check in the fast lane of Ketchikan High School! It's bad enough when you're late to have to rush to your locker and collide with your locker cell buddy as you both frantically try to turn at the same time. Meanwhile, your two neighbors on each side of you are in the process of mutilating their own lockers. Some share their lockers with their best loved ones, but in some cases they share with their worst enemy, having to face them every day before class. AHHH! What do you call this crazy world of commotion? Total Underclassmen Chaos!!

Above: A group of crowded freshmen stand and wonder if things will ever get better.

NIGHTMARE

Most people think back to the beginning of their high school career as a frightening experience. Walking down the hall can turn into an ordeal. The Mighty Seniors line the halls, their laughter making you wonder if they're out to get you. Scenes flash through your head of Seniors mugging you as you turn the next corner. Each step you take towards your next class gives you a little bit of relief. You walk into your class and, as the bell rings you breathe a sigh of relief; that is, until you think of the next time you have to risk the depths and dangers of a five-minute passing period.

Freshmen this year seem to have it a little easy. We asked them what was the worst thing that has happened to them. Here is what a few of them said...

"Being the littlest."
-- Drew McCurley

"My brother tried to stuff me in a locker."
-- Pat Currall

"Being teased for liking a Junior."
-- Mariah Midgett

"Nothing yet."

FREE TIME

It seems like freshman year is a year with a lot of free time. Homework is either done quickly or ignored altogether. This leaves a bunch of time to do, well, stuff. Most freshmen said they like to spend free time with their friends, but what do they do?

Some play basketball or other sports, some watch T.V, and some spend their time doing outdoor things like camping and hiking.

"I spend my free time in ballet!" Carol Shaffer told us.

Well, whatever they do with those extra hours and minutes, let's hope they make the most of them before they're gone.

Above: "Sometimes a guy's gotta do, what a guy's gotta do." Ruben Pimentel shows us one way to enjoy free time. Top: Taking a break from it all, Andy Bernatson dreams of far off places.

O.k. lets get real! We all know about those projects, book reports or reports in general that we high school students just seem to ...overlook in our busy lives. But (there's always a big 'but') we miraculously find a way to creatively overcome this obstacle, or more appropriately, pull the wool over their eyes. But we'd be even dumber to think that our great teachers don't already have a clue. We're not the first brilliant ones.

Most could say that "improvising" has become a talent, and in a lot of cases older brothers and sisters have come in handy. Most people don't get away with that one for very long! When we asked a few individuals to tell us some of their unique and creative methods, the responses were generally the same tune.....

"Like I'm gonna tell!"-Mila Jarvi-12

"My lips are sealed. I'd never tell my trusty techniques!"-Julie Kenyon-12

TO BE OR NOT TO BE?

That is the question

"Theater is a very popular art. You have to be passionate about it and love what you are doing," says Jon. We at Kay-Hi had the great privilege of watching some Shakespearean artists from Ashland, Oregon perform their talents and having one on one contact in workshops. They brought us to a whole new love and understanding of Shakespeare. They didn't just teach Shakespeare, they also taught storytelling, stage combat, and many more things. We asked them all if they had any advice for us students. They advised "To follow your dreams and do what you love to do; live your life the way you want to, not what others want you to do," said Michelle. We asked some students at Kay-Hi what they thought of the performance. Here's their reactions!

"I thought they were funny," AnneMarie Crellin stated.

"I liked the workshop on the hair when we had to act out being a comb," says Chris Mecham.

"The skits were great," exclaimed Stormy Stewart.

Future Occupations of America

Courtesy of Ketchikan Public Library and Ketchikan Museums

Around the world in eight days might be the dream for some. But to be realistic, the future is not far from reach. Many Kay-Hi students are still struggling with future plans. Either they plan to attend college, or just stay and settle down in dear old K-Town. The young adults that attend Kay-Hi are already preparing for their occupations from learning the mystic ways of the ocean to flying with the birds of the sky. We asked some students what they wanted to do for an occupation, and here is how they responded.

"I want to fly the friendly skies," says Jared Goodale.

"I want to be a small animal vet and I want to make sure all the animals in the zoo are safe," replied Nicole Deal

"I want to become a Marine Biologist and help little fishes," responded Krag Campbell

Weight training & P.E.

Diet, exercise, junk food, health. These are the necessities of high school. Weight Training and P.E. help to keep us in shape. If you're planning on playing a school sport, or just enjoy working out, these are the classes to take. They are during school so that you don't have to worry about taking an aerobics class, which costs money, or struggling to find time to workout in between your busy high school schedule. Many of us enjoy being active.

One of the good things about working out is that it speeds up your metabolism. You burn your food faster and don't have to worry as much about what you eat. As long as you take in your daily nutrients, vitamins, and calories, you're ok. Have you ever seen those commercials where they encourage kids to drink milk? Well, we tried to think of an unusual question to ask Weight Training and P.E. students, so we came up with this: "Do you think milk does a body good?"

"Sure it does... It gives you strong bones, a healthy smile, and big muscles, but I drink it for the fun!" -DJ Thornlow

"Yes because it has lots of vitamins and minerals and it makes you strong like me." -David Mitchel

"Yes because it makes your eyes brighter, your teeth whiter, and your bones stronger." -Jessie Piltcher

"You look awesome if you're holding a carton of milk in your hand." -Laura Kinunen

Out of all the classes at Kayhi you could take, electives seem to be everyone's favorite. These classes let you explore areas of interest that are different than your typical required classes. Sometimes they may be referred to as "an easy A," but no matter how easy the class seems there are always the book tests to make sure you know what you are doing.

Photography is probably one of the most exciting elective classes to take. Besides learning how to operate a camera properly, you learn how to develop film, use negatives to create unique pictures, and to operate the dark room facilities. Except for the lab fee each semester, there really isn't a downside to taking photography. Just think, you may be the next National Geographic Photographer.

Art is a wonderful class where you can let your imagination run wild. Whether you are working with chalk, pencils or ink, masterpieces are always being created. You can also whip up a bowl, cup, or a saucer on the pottery wheel. If you'd rather hand mold a pottery sculpture the material is at your disposal.

Foreign Language, although a requirement for most college acceptance, is referred to as an elective. You have a choice of French, Japanese, and Spanish. The language classes take a lot of extra time and determination to stay with it, but in the long run it really pays off. We asked some students what they like about their elective classes.

"They're an easy A," replied Kasey Kelly

"It gives you a break from your regular classes," stated Kristen Rosenkrantz.

REQUIRED MINDS

Science, math, social studies

The roughest part about going to school are all of the required classes you must take. They are packed with hours of homework and mind boggling questions. Each new day promises a new worksheet or chapter questions that, no matter how hard you beg, are due the next day. From Geometry and Chemistry to World History and American Government, required classes mean that unless you successfully pass them, you don't graduate. The teachers will push you to the very edge, and just when you think that you can't take anymore, they give you a midterm or a huge packet on everything taught that semester. These classes, as frustrating as they may seem, will prepare you for the real world. Without them you really don't know all that you need to know for college, jobs, and every day life from now

When asked about his hardest class, Nate Maplesden replied, "Trig was my hardest class because I didn't pay attention in geometry."

Ariana Cusack commented "English Three College Prep. with Mrs. Halvorsen was definitely the hardest class I've ever taken."

Tom Jurczak said "Math is my hardest class because of all the homework you have to do."

Bottom left: "I love my seniors, they are winners," says Mr. Crockett as he looks around his relocated classroom.

BUSINESSLIKE MINDS

Business and Computers

Courtesy of Ketchikan Public Library and Ketchikan Museums

Computers and Business are an essential part of our school life at KAYHI. At some point during our four years of high school, we will find computers very useful at least once. If we didn't have computers, there would be no computer classes; and we wouldn't know how to use them after we graduate. This year, there have been so many changes. Things seemed to be running behind schedule. It took the student body, along with the staff, a couple of weeks to adjust to the new school. One of the problems we faced was the fact that there were no computers for some of the classes until the third week of school. We went to some of those classes and asked them, "How do you feel about the fact that the new computers didn't arrive until after school started?"

"I felt deprived, but I was impressed with the new computers. It was worth the wait." -Pat Cruise

"I was kind of disappointed because I wanted to learn how to type, but it was a nice break." Rochelle Pimentel

"The new computers were similar, so there wasn't much time taken away. It really didn't bother me." -Samantha Stewart

"It was very inconvenient. The reason I signed up for the class was to learn." -Jason McLaughlin

"I didn't even notice that there were no computers." -JoJo Entwit

"The Business Department had to borrow the Pilot Program computers from English, Math, and Science classes and it held them back. Teachers had to change lesson plans which involved time and caused a lot of frustration. We appreciated their flexibility and cooperation." -Mrs. Hanson

STRESSED

Williwaw

Yearbook class, the one and only class with a lot of rewarding promises for all of the hard work that has to be done. Deadline after deadline brings much stress to finish the pages and to double check to make sure there are no mistakes. Many nights you can see a lone light on in the Yearbook Room and hustling students rushing around searching for the perfect picture or that lost copy. You may think that this is too much dedication for one class, but after it's all said and done the good times make up for the hard times.

Mrs. O'Brien, this year's Advisor, has really made a big difference in the overall production of a fine yearbook. Her knowledge on how to get things done right has made all of the staff more apt to follow her advice and decisions.

The Editor and Advisor both do their very best to ensure that things are run smoothly and efficiently. With new rules and lots of encouragement to finish on time, the staff has pulled together and united as one to make the best possible yearbook.

When yearbook staff members were asked to describe the class in one word, they replied:

"There is no one word," Jennifer Ohmer

"It's stressful," Dana Bass

"Supercalafragilistikexpialidocious," Kyli Spurgeon

On behalf of the yearbook class we hope you will enjoy this yearbook and hope it will bring you many good memories in the future.

"Why did I run cross country?" That's the question everyone asks themselves before each race. Was it worth it? "The time spent with the people on the team was my favorite part," says freshman Nicole Deal. "We got really close."

From eight mile practices, aqua-aerobics and hacky sack to having your own dance in Hydaberg, sitting for hours at Subway in Sitka, and avoiding bears on the trail at practice, this was definitely a season to remember.

There is a lot that goes on at the Ketchikan swimming pool that we don't know about. The swimmers and divers deserve more credit than they receive, they are dedicated. How many of us would wake up at 4:30 a.m. for practice or swim 12,000 yards during a workout? Not many!

Although they have strenuous workouts, they still have fun; whether they race to early morning practice and get pulled over), sing songs during sets, or even hang out at the bottom of the pool for a tea party.

After workouts some find themselves heading to McDonalds, Subway, or even Cape Fox for mud pie. Swimmers are said to be unique. Can I wonder why? They only shave their entire bodies (sometimes even their heads!) You just don't find normal people doing that!

JV is a great second half team and made several come backs, but often fell short by 2 or 3 points. The loss of JV coach Wilburn half way through the season left the team in a tough position. A week later Randy Mogen filled the position and they became a unit once again. The Kayhi Boys Basketball J.V. and C teams have had a good year. They have had a lot of difficulties this season, but the coaches for the J.V. (Norm Skan) and the C team (Steve Bolhert) have worked hard to instill a sense of team work and also a core of discipline. Both teams have gone through some changes, such as getting new coaches in the middle of the season, and while that can put a strain on the teams, they have pulled through and proven that they are strong and through it all both teams have worked hard to make the 93-94 season a memorable one and hope to continue to do as such in the 94-95 season.

Renus Domingo, who is on the J.V. team, had this to say for the team, "I would like to thank my teammates for all the hard work and effort we have put in this season. It was a lot of fun and we'll be back next year in '95."

PLAYING IT GAME BY GAME

Toughest schedule in years

"With a young bench and one of Kayhi's most difficult schedules ever faced, the team did very well. We played people who were ranked high in State and even in the Nation. When some little problems with personalities were solved early in the season, team spirit was boosted and the team improved."

Jennifer McIntosh: "I think the Freshmen did a great job filling the empty positions on the team when we needed them to."
 Falene Dossman: "Throughout the course of the season, we have all overcome many conflicts and injuries. We have all worked extremely hard, and it's made us a better team."
 Leilani Finau: "It's been a rough season and it's made us a lot tougher than the other teams."

The women's basketball team had a tough season this year, but they managed to stick together till the end. The Lady Kings played sixteen of their twenty-two games on the road, which made for a lot of missed school and sleep. Players quit, were injured, and were sick, but still the Lady Kings pushed on. It wasn't always easy, but in the end it was definitely worth it. The friendships developed on the team, the fun times on the trips, the screaming crowds, and the thrill of a victory are the things that drive the Lady Kings, and will always keep them coming back for more.

PUT IT THROUGH

Swish and

Over the years one thing has stayed the same - the thrill of basketball season. Regardless of how good the home team plays, everybody still comes out to watch them play, in the hopes of catching a good game. This year the team, consisting of a generous number of sophomores, a few juniors, and many well seasoned seniors, didn't let their adoring public down. A mid-season coach change didn't slow these guys down, they rallied together and made the most of it. By the end of the season team members were pleased with their time and felt confident that they could take Southeast. "We played well this year and I hope that we'll win Southeast." Sophomore David Mitchel.

Right: Heads Up! Senior Captain Kyle Wendte reaches for the ball, hoping the Metlakatla Chiefs won't beat him to it.

Together!

That has been the rally cry for this group of young men all year. Through all of the adversity and injuries this team has stayed together.

I am proud to coach these players. They have a lot of heart and good attitudes. It demonstrates strong character to accomplish what they have with all of the distractions.

My wish is that their determination to succeed carries over into other areas of their lives, and that they never take their success for granted.

Stay strong. Stay proud. Stay..... Together!"

BE THE BEST

The 93/94 cheerleading coaches are: Dena Conley and Karen Pennington (not pictured).

The definition of a Cheerleader is: One who enthusiastically leads a crowd in cheering, someone who is high spirited, happy, and cheerful. Add some Kayhi spirit and some pep, and you have a Kayhi cheerleader! A lot of people have a misconception of cheerleading. So, we decided to ask a few people what the first thing was that popped into their heads when we said "cheerleader." Here's what they said, "little people in short skirts," "happy," "cheery," "bimbo," "school spirit," "nevermind." This is what some people may see, but there is more to cheering than meets the eye. Cheerleading is one of the most dangerous sports and also one of the best for your body. Cheerleaders are some of the only athletes who use every muscle in their body during practice and performance. A lot of time and skill goes into climbing and cheering. It's a fun sport that takes a dedicated spirit!

This year's 1993-94 Drill Team line captains consisted of three extremely dedicated members: Evelyn MacManus, Senior, 4yrs; Mindy Hamlin, Senior, 3yrs; and Karen Burnette, Junior, 2yrs. The line captains worked hard choreographing half of the routines and their whole S.E. Tournament routine with the help of two very experienced coaches, Abby Kosmos and Angie Oaksmith. Without the determination and sense of humor to keep them going, the K-Highlites wouldn't shine out on the floor during performance. Thanks to the line captains who helped to make it possible!

READY?

Good morning K-Highlites, rise and shine! Yes, it's that time of the year again where sleep isn't even a word in the K-highlites' vocabulary. Want to know what the Drill Team really looks like? Wake up at 4:30 in the morning and come to one of our 5am practices for a true behind the scene picture. Somehow, miraculously, the Drill Team always seems to recover from their six days a week practices and JUMP right back in to their sparkling selves come performance time. What makes them look so cool and collective out on the gym floor in front of a hyped up crowd of hundreds of people? What makes them look so with it all the time? It's called what every team dreams of having in their team to make them work together to the best of their ability, unity. One big happy family. Without this vital part the team would crumble. One of the necessities of Drill Team is to work as a team together and that's what this year's team has accomplished.

We asked a few drillteammates of what they thought made our team so united.

"It's proving to yourself and the team that you're dedicated." Jill Wallin Sophmore.

"If one member has a problem, the whole team is affected by it. We've been through a lot together, ups and downs, and this makes us a big happy family." Dana Bass, Junior

*"Togetherness. We're always together... I guess, sometimes..."
April Huie, Freshman*

From patriotic to jammin Michael Jackson style to shaking their hula skirts, the K-Highlites have sure proven their originality and spark for excitement throughout the whole Southeast Basketball Tournament and during the year of 1993-94!!!

...won! This year's Clarke Cochrane Christmas Classic tournament ended in success. The championship game against Kentwood was a close and exciting one that kept us on the edge of the bleachers. Everybody showed their spirit, from the drill team to the cheerleaders, and the pepband that kept our feet tapping. The gym was packed, the crowd was there to show their spirit including graduates from years past. This was a memorable week in '93 for everyone.

The week of Southeast Tournament was full of exhilaration and excitement. Our first Pep Assembly started it all! The bleachers became packed with students who were ready to rock the house with spirit. The underclassmen came to a hush as the Seniors made their grand entrance. We expanded our vocal chords to the limit and lifted our voices for our class. The chants of pride were heard echoing through the gym as the rally began.

Our mighty basketball teams were introduced and they looked ready to take on anything. As we looked on, games of balloon popping, musical chairs, and passing cotton balls took place. Finally came the yelling competition. The class members united to prove that they had the most spirit. It was a close tie between the Juniors and the Seniors, but the Seniors prevailed. The school was pumped and ready for the tournament to begin.

The opening ceremonies gave the basketball teams, cheerleaders, and drill team members a formal introduction. They were graced by the presence of the Mayors of the City, Borough, and Saxman. All three gave a quick pep talk and wished all of the teams the best of luck!

Doris Rich: "It's about time we had a Pep Assembly!"

Caren John: "The Pep Assembly was so loud that it nearly caused me to go deaf!"

William Kushnick: "It was pretty fun, I got to meet a lot of people at the tournament."

Chad Woodworth: "It was fun, interesting, and very different!"

IT'S ALL FUN AND GAMES

Southeast Tournament 1994

Southeast tournament comes to Kay-hi once every three years. What an exciting event for all! But this was the last year for this kind of tournament. It will never be the same again as various teams move up and down out of the division. The spirit of competition brought many students to watch our Kay-hi Kings compete. The Lady Kings took a grand second place that enabled them to go to state. The crowds were cheering along with the Kay-hi cheerleaders who gained the 'superior' title. The boys basketball players lost both games, but played hard and well considering what they went through this season. The K-highlights put on an awesome performance which received an 'excellent' in the adjudication. We should all be really proud of our Kay-hi Kings because they performed to the best of their ability and gave us some exciting games. We asked some of the students what they enjoyed most about competing in Southeast tournament and here are some responses:

"It was fun, because it was my last year to play high school basketball," stated B.J. Hendricks.

"Everyone came and supported us as cheerleaders and that made it exciting," said Beth Peterson.

"Meeting all the different girls on the drill team and making friends that I will see over the next few years," replied Karen Burnette.

DETERMINATION

It's the key

"Wrestling is great because it builds friendships. There is nothing to lose only something to gain."

-Kris Mackie, Senior

"Not everyone can be a champion. The only thing that separates a normal man from a champion is that a champion gets up even when he can't."

-Andrew Merrill, Senior

"It's only six minutes, but it's the longest six minutes of your life."

-Carey Gale, Senior

"Intensity is pushing yourself past your limits; only when you have competed intensely, can you become a champion."

-Steve Jackson, Senior

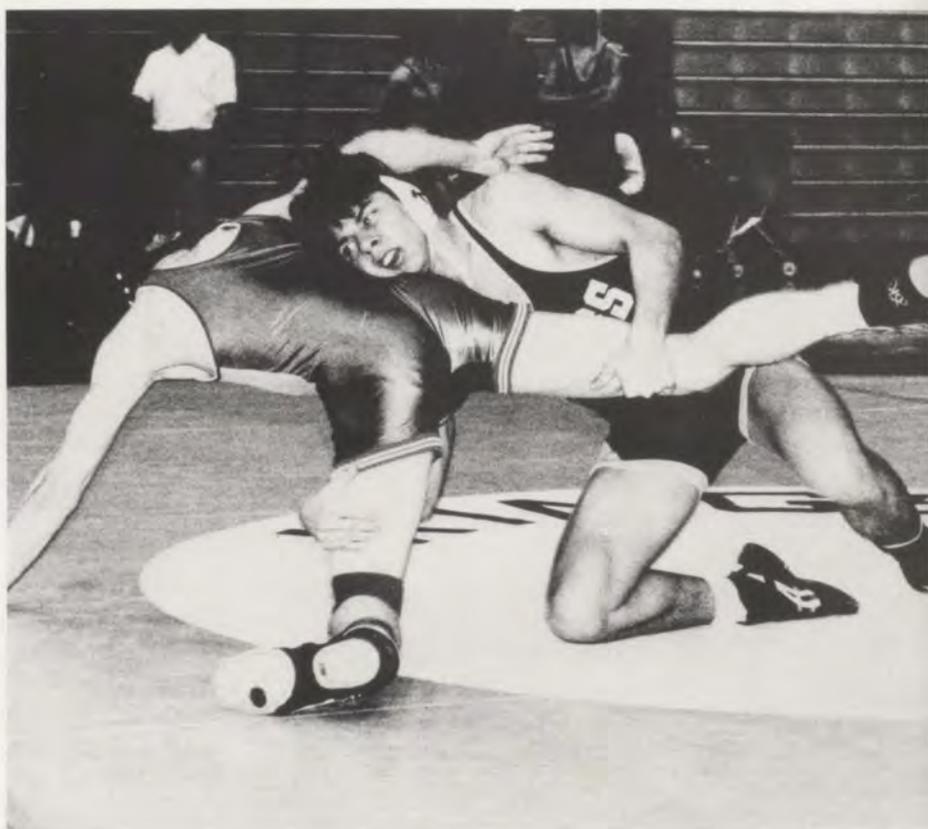

"The difference between winning and losing is the extra you put in."

-Ian Autrey, Senior

"There is a difference between wanting to win and not wanting to lose."

-Rod Thomas, Senior

It's that time of year again, when the guys of Kayhi show their dedication, determination, and ability to lose mass amounts of weight quickly! Not only does wrestling allow them to let out their inner aggressions, but it also strengthens friendships and gives them a sense of accomplishment. In past years the Kayhi wrestling team has shown that they are a force to be reckoned with, and this year they're out to prove that they haven't lost their magic touch.

TEAMWORK

Courtesy of Ketchikan Public Library and Ketchikan Museums

For old members, volleyball season was definitely different last year because of the number of participants. This year, the JV had 15 players while the Varsity had 10. The season was a lot of fun for everybody. From hiking up deer mountain, to barbecues, practices, and games, the team sure worked well together, which is handy. One of the most important things in any sport is teamwork. Sure, every team has its ups and downs, but in the end, all of the work, fun, frustrations, and victories make the season worthwhile. We asked the members, "What goal have you made for yourself this season?"

"To make the team and come in first place." -Sunshine Samanlego

"To make 80 out of 100 serves over the net for the Serve - a - thon." -Nicholle Chandler

Sheryl Yeager, Junior Varsity coach, has done a wonderful job this season. She taught the team to work together and have fun. Thanks Sheryl!

SET IT, SPIKE IT,

Varsity

Bump, Set, Spike, Power! The Kings Varsity Volleyball Team for 1993-94 has once again been strong during their defeats. They have worked hard to achieve their individual goals and, most importantly, their team goals. This year's team worked hard and we're very proud of them. Volleyball isn't as easy as it looks and a lot of time, effort, and patience must be put into it. Every team has its share of ups and downs, but something has to keep them going, telling them not to give up. We asked them, what inspires you the most about volleyball?"

"Being able to pound the ball in someone's face." -Leilani Finau

"TEAMWORK. Playing as a team and winning as a team." -Nicole Nelson

"The feeling that I've achieved something after winning a game." -Stephanie Nelson

Amber Thomas, Varsity Coach, is not only an excellent coach but she has shown her team that winning isn't everything. Just have fun and do your best, then you are a winner!

The Kayhi Drama Department went through a lot of changes this year. The biggest one was the loss of their theater; they needed a place to perform. They packed up their talent and moved to the White Cliff stage. This is where they performed "Wind in the Willows." The play "Our Town" was performed in the high school commons. The audience enjoyed a good show and a small dessert. A performance was presented at Cape Fox which was a dinner theater. The Drama Department is looking forward to their new theater where more plays will be performed by the Kayhi Drama Department. Drama doesn't just involve the actual acting on stage, but also includes: the Drama Classes, Drama Club, Thespians, and the Theater/Play Group. All people in each part of the Drama Department worked very hard to make enjoyable performances all around.

BATTLE OF THE MINDS

Debate challenges

Courtesy of Ketchikan Public Library and Ketchikan Museums

The heat of an organized argument, the victory of winning, the belief that you are right, and the satisfaction of a job well done. All of these describe our Debate Team.

Debate Team is very challenging. There are deadlines to be met, and you have to constantly be on your toes, or else the other side can gain on you. It is just like a court trial, only you aren't a lawyer.

I thought that it would be best to ask someone who was in Debate, so I decided to ask freshman Dan Patton, what he liked most about being on Debate and why he decided to take it.

"I took Debate because it sounded interesting and what I like most about Debate is the traveling, it is fun."

So while being on Debate can be mentally challenging you get to argue about your beliefs and you get to tell adults your opinion - sounds good to me!

In all my years at Ketchikan High School, I never quite understood what "Natural Helpers" really were and why they were called Natural Helpers. So I set out with pen and paper to answer my questions.

First I learned that to be a Natural Helper, you have to be "chosen", so it must be a very privileged status. Next, I learned that Natural Helpers do exactly what their title is: they help people - mostly students at Kayhi in their own grade level who aren't doing well in school or who have problems that they need to work out.

Jessie Olmstead, a senior, had this to say about why she likes being a Natural Helper, "I like being a Natural Helper because we learn how to deal with not only our own problems, but to help other people with their problems."

"You get the satisfaction of helping people," said Joe Beardslee, a sophomore.

" Learning to do, doing to learn, earning to live, living to serve." Sound familiar to you? Maybe to some, but not to others. This is the motto for FFA. Future Fishermen/Farmers of America. They do exactly what their motto says. For those of you who don't know this, the club was started in Virginia in the 1920's. Their main thrust is to train teenagers in fishing and farming. So when you're hungry for halibut, salmon, or livestock, thank the FFA. When we asked an FFA member what the best experience he had in the club was, he responded with this.

David Vest, 11, officer of FFA. "Going to Anchorage and skiing."

Harold Kiffer, 12, officer of FFA "The halibut trip to raise money, and winning state."

TV super stars and multi-millionaire businesses! Not yet, but possible for the future. Junior achievement is a non-profit organization that is helping youth approach their goals. This year they are creating a TV commercial that deals with important issues, such as drugs, sex, siblings the generation gap, gang violence and local government. They hope it will impact the youth in a positive way. When we asked members of JA why they joined the club, we got lots of different answers, here's some of them.

Megan Hooker, 11, "It sounded li ke fun".

Josephus Govaars, 11, "I wanted to learn about business and to make a little money."

What do hours of practicing, slaving over your music, and performing in front of your parents and peers have in common? They're all requirements for the chosen and the brave. Those that are willing to give up their precious spare time for practicing and rehearsals. I'm talking about the members of the numerous bands that make up part of the K-High department. From freshman to symphonic, or from contract to jazz band, you are guaranteed to find one that fits your musical tastes. To play among these select few, though, you not only have to be talented, but also be willing to strut your stuff in front of an audience. One of which was the Christmas concert where the band and choir did a duet. With all the talent in this school who knows what could happen. K-High just may produce the next Bach or Beethoven. Now wouldn't that just make Mr. Bjur's day!

SING, CHOIR OF ANGELS!

Exercising angels

What class is so strict you can't even chew gum, but so exciting over 50 people are in it? A class that starts out with exercises and ends in perfect harmony. Have you guessed what it is? It's choir! Shouts of "stretch your lips and roll those shoulders" from Mr Hughes send people running for the nearest exit. When choir members were asked what their most embarrassing experience while singing was, they gave us these answers:

Jeannie Sharman, 12, "My parents were sitting in the front row being really stupid, and making me laugh really hard."

James Corrao, 10, "Starting to sing the wrong song, realizing my mistake and then starting to sing another wrong song."

Too many people think that Interact is just a tree hugging group of people; some even show their ignorance by calling them green peacers. Those who are involved though, know it's much more. "We want to be known around the community as people who are willing to help," President Frances Leach says. By doing the soup kitchen, selling t-shirts, making food baskets at Christmas, and instigating numerous trash pick-ups, this club is already off to a great start. With officers Frances Leach, president; Stephanie Hughes, Vice-president; Desi Day, secretary; and Dana Bass, treasurer, this club is sure to accomplish all they set out to do. As the only student group of it's kind, Interact has proven, and will continue to show, just how worthwhile helping those in need can be.

SHOW YOUR SPIRIT

Every way you can

This year pep club got a whole new look. New officers Andy Mullen, president; Knute Adcock, vice-president; and Jos Govaars, Secretary-treasure, rounded out an interesting cast of leaders. Though they were dealt some hard knocks, like only being allowed to use flex for pep assemblies, an inconvenience that postponed our first assembly until the second semester of our school year, they still made the best of what they were allowed and tried their hardest to make this year one to remember. Always good at drawing, Knute supplied the sketches of our famous salmon for our attention getting posters. These posters helped to shine a spotlight on those that were involved in sports, band, choir or any other interesting extra curricular activity. By trying hard, these three guys proved that you can make something out of nothing. Who knows, maybe next year we can actually get time to have a pep assembly in our first semester!

ADAPTING TO CHANGE

A different world

Besides just adapting to a new school we have many other things to get used to this year, like the no eating in the halls rule, new schedule and flex. However, as the year drags on we find them easier to deal with. Here is what a few students had to say about the changes:

What do you think of the no eating in the halls rule?

"I think people will eat in the halls anyway, so why bother making a rule?" - Melinda Buel, Senior.

What is your favorite thing about the new school?

Doris Rich's (Senior) favorite thing about the new school is "I think it's pretty cool that we DID have music during lunch time, but then again the music wasn't that cool."

What do you think about the changes to flex?

Everyday should have a flex." - David Watt, Junior.

MINDING TIME

Chaos, lunch & flex

Life in the 1993-94 school year is definitely the year of experimentation and change. Many of us feel like we're living in 90210. With the classrooms, commons, and halls so different, it seems that the atmosphere is entirely different, too. Chaos in the halls, short flex, short lunches. Are these problems at Kayhi? Many students agree that there is no time for anything. What do you think?

"I don't know," says confused Freshman, Danielle Smith.

"Longer lunch because if you walk down the hill and walk back up, you're late." -Ruben Pimentel, Freshman

"We need a longer lunch definitely and flex should be after school so more people have time to get ready for the buses." -James Sullivan, Sophomore

"10 minutes between classes, longer flex, and longer lunch. Also, change our schedule back to the old way." -Jennie Berto, Sophomore

"The lunches should be longer, the halls should be wider, and the lockers should be bigger. We need room to breathe." -Sara Moberly, Junior

"Flex should be shorter and lunch should be like 45 minutes long." -Jeff Pierce, Junior

"There isn't enough time to do anything but classwork. There's not even enough time to go to the bathroom." -Rhea Monrean, Senior

"The lunch is short but flex is better used this way. They should've spread the freshmen out so the halls aren't so crowded." -Mrs. Keizer

Top left: "Gee, does the chicken or the egg come first?" Kirk Deal wonders.

Top right: "I hope I'm not late," Luke LeBeau rushes to his next hour.

TRANSPORTATION TRAUMAS

A license to cruise

By 8:00 in the morning we've all had our own mis-haps that are probably pretty unusual. How we get to school is one of those. Whether it is riding the bus, car pooling with friends, finding a parking spot once you do get here, or walking from a block away, everyone seems to have their own little problems. Here are some students' experiences with transportation:

What was the worst thing that ever happened to you while driving?

"I broke my key off in the ignition." - Autumn Beesley, 11.

What do some students do when they're running low on gas?

"I let my parents drive my car when it is on empty so they fill it up for me." - Jolene Gibson, 12.

What is your dream car?

Chet Thompson's (11) dream car is a "1988 Lamborghini Diablo."

Could you see him trying to park that in the staff parking section?

Middle: $3.70 please! "I don't have that much," smirks Cole Harren to the cab driver.

Top: You're busted! Kris Mackie waits patiently for a quick ride to the cop shop.

Above: now there'll be plenty of room for students to park their cars....maybe next year!!

Right: Your basic form of transportation to and from school; the rusty, trusty Mayflower school bus.

Top left: Walking is the easiest way for Mariah Midgett and Jaydi Hayley to get to and from school.

Top right: SK-8 or Die! Getting to school on a skateboard is a real mission for some of the students.

Above: Pile out everyone! Car pools at lunch require a truck and a lot of people crammed in the back.

Above: "Hey, so I like listening to the cello on my way to school - so what!" Yells Mr. Bjur.

KAYHI'S GHOSTS AND GOBLINS

Still trick or treating

Courtesy of Ketchikan Public Library and Ketchikan Museums

As the golden sun sets behind the snow-capped mountains, a full moon rises and gives light to the darkened streets. A misty fog floats a few feet off the ground, causing evil shapes to appear out of nowhere. The clouded shapes get closer and pass just inches from our fear stricken bodies before we realize that they are just Trick-or-Treaters.

The Halloween spirit was alive at Kayhi this year. Everything from Flasher to Flowers to Hershey's Kisses were seen roaming the halls and haunting the staff. The costume contest at flex drew a large crowd of students who had fun seeing the variety of costumes. The lucky winners were Neil Kinunen in Tweedle Dee for the Funniest, Emily Moore in a daisy for Most Original, and Jessica Leighton in a Grim Reaper for Scariest.

Halloweens in the past have been a real scare for a few of us. Amber Gardner, 10, remembers, "When I was seven, a huge pit-bull chased me down the street while I was Trick-or-Treating." Tiffany Bowie, 12, reflects, "I went Trick-or-Treating at a really scary house with lots of Halloween stuff, and a big guy in a gorilla suit jumped out and scared me!"

When the Halloween spirit takes affect you'd better watch out because you never know what kind of creature may come knocking at your door!

Top right: "Oh-baby, oh-baby, the intensity is killing me," laughs George Murdaugh to his many boy-friends.

Above: The blooming daisy, Emily Moore, has huge petals that could hardly fit down the halls, let alone between the desks.

A GOOD OL' FASHIONED HOEDOWN!

With a few minor adjustments

On October 30th, 1993, our island rocked. Not because of the ocean waves, but because of the wicked sound waves coming out of the Armory. This year's lip sync wasn't really a lip sync at all. Not only were performers' lips moving, but their vocal chords were also getting a workout. We had our own mini concert, with moshing and stagediving. We had the whole ten yards! We tuned into the intense and wild sounds of the up and coming groups Stout, No2, and Woody. Such talent has never surfaced in our small, but groovy metropolis of Ketchikan. Stout, Woody or No2 may be the next Pearl Jam or Stone Temple Pilots. Soon we'll be hearing them on the radio, and hey, next they'll have their very own video on MTV! Okay, okay, so maybe it's a little far fetched. KYS was kind enough to sponsor this festive event. Give them a round of applause folks!

Styles at Kayhi

As you walk down the halls of K-High you see many different kinds of people, and with those people you find many different attitudes, styles, and yes, Fashion Statements! For some people it looks as if they're trapped in a time zone from the 70's or some other decade. Others look like they just stepped off of a runway in Paris wearing the latest and greatest styles. None-the-less, clothes tend to reflect people's personalities. Here's what some students had to say about the way they dressed:

What do you try to express through your clothes?
 "Uh...nothing. Well, maybe my sense of humor."
 - Chad Hammer, 11
 "I wear what is comfortable. Clothes reflect people's personalities." - Angie Spromberg, 11

GROWING UP

Some folks never do

It seems to take forever just for the day to end, and when it does, it seems like it went by too fast. Just like your years in high school. Where did they go? No one really knows. Everyday we're approaching adulthood with the thought of being able to take care of ourselves comes other responsibilities, like getting a job and paying our own bills or giving up our Legos. But, getting older means a lot more privileges too, like learning to drive or going out on dates. Sometimes it seems like adulthood may never arrive, and for some it doesn't; but, when it does, it takes us by surprise. Here is how a few students will know that adulthood has arrived:

"When I get my first credit card."- Mandi Olmstead, 12

"When I can make my own decisions."- Heidi Erickson

"If I have complete confidence in myself and if I am willing to take full responsibility for myself and my actions."- Jennifer Duff, 11

LUNCHABLE'S

Courtesy of Ketchikan Public Library and Ketchikan Museums

Lunch time is the best part of school. It's a time to fill your stomachs and a time to socialize. It's a part of the school day nobody wants to miss. At Kayhi we are lucky to have an open campus. We are free to leave and do what we please as long as we make it back to class on time. Lunch time is so short you don't even have time to digest your food; you eat and then the bell rings. Some students manage to walk down to the mall or they drive down in this short period of time to get their lunches - either a Big Mac and fries or some delicious Vidol chicken. We asked some students the question, what does lunch time mean to you? Their response:

"Thirty Five minutes to do what ever you want," Jerry Jedlinski, 10

"Lots of food and socializing," Travis Straight, 12

"Getting a break from school," Jessica Brekke, 11

Homecoming is that special time of the year when the whole school is alive with spirit. It all starts about the beginning of December when we start to weed out who we want to take to the dance for sure and someone we might consider as a back up date. Then when the person has agreed to go with you, the two decide on a place for dinner and she tells you what the color of her dress will be (so the two of you will match of course). You decide whose car to take or which one of your parents will drive the two of you. Then soon you and your date are on your way to one of the most memorable nights of your high school career. Just don't forget to pick her up a corsage! Here are a few students' favorite Homecoming Dance memories:

"My favorite Homecoming memory was when my boyfriend said, "Please don't make me go to Homecoming!" - Beth Hartley,12

"Ditching my date my sophomore year!" - Melissa Cummings,12

"Seeing everyone dressed up, especially me with my matching tie and suspenders. It is also going out to dinner with the crew and me picking up the check." -Brian Elliot,11

Baby Steps

Remember your first step? How about the first time you rode a bike? Every parent says "it seems like only yesterday..." when they realize their children have become young adults. No parent wants to accept the fact that their children are no longer babies. When friends have come and gone, your parents have been there to dry the tears. When things have gone wrong, they are there to help you through good times and bad. So for our parents' sake, we have left room for some reminiscing and, yes, a little laughter. Below are pictured some of Kayhi's 1994 Seniors ...yesterday. So go ahead, laugh at yourself and your friends and recall those years that were before your Senior year.

Amy,
We're very proud of you. We hope all your future plans bring you much happiness and success.

Love,
Dad, Mom, and Wendi

Amy Mathison

Alicia Scoblic

Alicia,
Always do your best and go far.
Remember: it was the turtle that won the race.
Love,
Mom and Dad

Heidi Lynn Erickson,
It's hard to believe that this is Heidi's last year. We've had some trying times, but all in all it was worth it. And we wish her luck & happiness.

We Love You,
Mom & Dad

Heidi Erickson

B.J. Hendricks

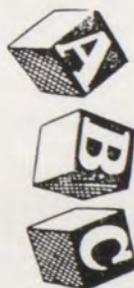

B.J. -
In the Cookie Jar again?!

Mindy Hamlin

Mindy,
You are such an inspiration in our lives,
we're so glad we have at least one NORMAL child.

We Love You Most,
Mom & Dad

Ariana,
Congratulations to one who is still
"spoiled rotten"

From,
Mom and Dad

Pat,
"I took the road less travelled by --- and that has made all the difference." Continue to follow YOUR dreams - Congratulations!

Love,
Mom, Dad & Becca

Ariana Cusack

Pat Cruise

Julie Kenyon

Julie,
You have brought so much joy into our lives. We are very proud of you, and love you lots.

Love,
Mom & Dad

We love you!!
Mom, Dad & Matthew

Ian Autrey

He has determination of a leader
the stamina of an adventurer
the will of a dreamer
and the love of a peacemaker.
He is our son and Bonny's brother.

Matt:
Your insight, judgement, and imagination have made it easy to be your parents. Use these attributes well and you will have the success you deserve. And remember you are loved.

Mom & Dad

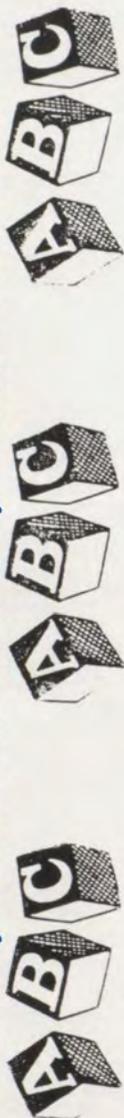

Matt Lux

Congratulations Rhea,
After 12 long years, you finally made it. We're so proud of you!

With your presence we have been blessed. Thank you for the joy that you have brought us, the love, laughter and happiness.
All our love,
Dad, Mom, and Brian

Mandi Olmstead

Doris Rich

Doris,
Words can't express how proud we are of the young lady you've become. Wishing you happiness and success. Reach for the stars, the world is yours.

Love,
Mom & Dad

Dear Lea,
We've enjoyed your "funny face" these many years! Here's to a bright and beautiful future!

Love,
Mom and Dad

Lea Hasibar

Jim Byron

Jim,

We are so proud of you.

Love,
Mom, Dad, John,
Tom, and Tommi

Katie Lamm

Dear Katie,

You've taken our "little girl" on the beach and turned her into the beautiful, talented, funny and wise person you are today! Always be good to our little girl.

We Love You,
Mom & Dad

ChakaBear -

You've come a long way! Yet still there's such a long way to go. Chakster - Don't forget where we live.

All Our Love,
Mom, Dad, Travis and Todd

To My Beautiful Daughter,
I was so very proud then and so very proud now that you are you. You deserve the best that life has to offer.
Love,
Mom

Wally, when his mouth and feet were two steps ahead of his brain. I think you've done a good job of turning that around.
Love,
Dad

Tiffany Bowie

Wally Kubley

Melinda Buel

Melinda,
Through all the years you've made me proud. You've succeeded through the good times and the bad, made it past the pain, and created a whole lot of love.
Mom

Charlie Anderson

Congratulations Char,
You were handsome even in kindergarten. You're a wonderful son and you've made me proud.
Love,
Mom

KYS' PHILOSOPHY STATEMENT:

KYS' philosophy is: All youth and their families must have the opportunity to reach their potential, free of drugs and alcohol. To this end KYS will use education, counseling, intervention, and prevention services to do our utmost to reach the goal of a drug free Ketchikan youth community in a financially responsible manner.

KYS' philosophy is to provide quality programs, work with the community, and set a positive example within the community in personal as well as professional actions.

KYS' philosophy is to work with people and go to them, serve them within their community.

We would wish to congratulate all of the 1994 graduating Seniors.

Now You've looked with your mind and have seen what has passed

You have to say it was an experience filled with good and bad times that your mind and soul will always treasure. You now own a piece of the past.

right before your very eyes.

P.S. Don't forget to blink!
