Tyler Williams takes his bike out for a joyride, as Mike Tittworth and Chris Brooks try to inform him that only little kids can ride the bike.

Below: Lady of the 80's Jamie-Lee Windsor manages to find time away from her cake sales duties to hang out and clown around with Ben Rosenfeld.

The Rainy Bongo Models are looking hot and stylish. Taylor Gregg, Lindsay Johnson, Katrina Pattison, Hilary Hook, Amy Furstad, Olive Natthong, Gabie Guthrie, Erin Trout, Sonia Christensen, Kayla Lukers, Toni Hahn, Xina Kirschmann, and Jillian Golyer must've had a very hectic time at the carnival. Having to deal with a whole crowd of people is not a piece of cake, but these fine ladies managed to keep everything under control.

Aaron Manuel, Mary Davey, and Brian de Bourqueleson must've had plenty of time to get their picture taken during the carnival. Aaron Manuel took a break from his popcorn booth and chatted with Mary Davey and Brian de Bourqueleson as they popped popcorn.

These up boys and girls, it's the Hillybilly Football throw guys, Kyle Howe and Ben Phillips

On guard! Runway Bingo Model Jillian Galyer impales Aaron Manuel with his chin, and after she stole it from him. She even managed to get away his Robin Hood hat.

Carnival

What did Monica Blanchard, Jillian Galyer, and Kendra Halford do to poor Erin Nugent that would cause her to burst in tears during cleanup? Maybe they had poor little Erin scrub their booths for them, because they look like they haven't even broken a sweat.

Left: Tina Loyd and Michelle Louthead are having the time of their lives at the carnival.

Below: It's the Ladies of the 80's. Sweet, sweet melons, these ladies, Megan Cassin, Amanda Hammermeister, Allison Neterer, Talle Medel, Erin Nugent, Jamie Lee Windsor, are lookin' fine and dandy. STUDENT LIFE

Dances

Kate Galloway - My sophomore year in Algeria II, Pax was trying to convince me that Ty moved here from Africa. I was a dumb and I knew that he didn't move from Africa. But then it became a class effort trying to get me to believe that Ty moved from Africa. Finally I asked Ty if he was imported from Africa. What I meant though was did he really move from Africa. And of course he was sitting across the classroom so the whole class heard and started laughing.

Ben Rosenfeld - The funniest story even, well Zach Thompson and I were in a pickle fight at The Landing, we agreed that we would stop, but I always have to win the last battle. So I put a pickle in my pocket, and we walked out to the car. I sat right behind Zach, and put the sliced pickle on his shoulder. Paul Bengard started cracking up, and I joined Zach pull over, turns around not seeing the pickle right under his nose and says, "I smell a pickle." We had a well hearty laugh, then we got chased down.

Tallie Medel - What I really enjoyed about high school was the giant staircase in the commons, with the banisters to slide down and the stairs to fall down.

Aaron Manuel - One time, Contessa and I walked down freshman hall down to the "ghetto". There were all these people outside in the parking lot, blasting their music. And there was this huge extension cord outside plugged into an outlet inside the building. Danni told me to pull the plug so I did. By the time I pulled it, Contessa had already run to the commons and I tried to walk inconspicuously to the main gym. All the people outside came blasting in through the doors, and they were in a mad rage. They were all yelling and asking everyone who pulled the plug, but they never found out it was me, so that was great.

Shannon Charlton - My freshman year in choir, during a boring day, everyone was really bored and mad. So me, being the cute little freshman that I was, started leaning on my chair to see how close I could get to the ground. And all of a sudden I fell back and my feet were in the air.

Nichole Aaron - My first Winterball was a ton of fun, especially the last dance. My feet were hurting and throbbing, and they were just aching all night, and after all that I knew it was time to go.

Senior

Manuel

Nick Rader - When I was a freshman I went to senior prom. Halfway through the dance the ladies were all over me. Beautiful girls. So, by the end of the night all the senior guys wanted to beat me up, so I just did what was necessary, beat 'em up and took the ladies out partyin'. Wait, that happens every year.

Brandon Larson - Sophomore year during intermission at Music Fest, Josh Izatt was on top of the stairs and took his shirt off and swung it around his head while yelling, "Who wants to have sex with me?"

Chris Rahr - I have no senior memories, it's all just a big blur.

Lindsay Johnson - A memory of mine is getting a glimpse and being closer to my dream of being a supermodel. . .

Tasha Schumacher - My most memorable moment is doing a 360 in my life, oh, and always being tardy everyday and every year.

Shari Fisher - I don't remember high school.

Shalle Laughman - Amy, Katrina, Jillian, Xina, and I went to paint our names on the hill, afterwards we were chased by Anne Elliot and her cool buddies. They egged our car, so we went to Curra, bought five dozen eggs, and went searching for them. They were at the car wash washing their cars, right when they were finishing we ambushed them, and yeah, we got them bad. The best part was when I pegged Anne between the eyes. (Haha) Good times!

Michael Marr - When I was an aide for Mr. Kinunen we skipped one day to go drive around and eat our lunch. It was awesome.

Josh Zatt - Sophomore year during Music Fest my buddies got me to go on the balcony and moon everyone when they had a break in the show. So when everyone was out in the commons I mooned, all my friends yelled, 'Run Josh! Right when I started to run Mr. P. yelled my name and I got kicked out of the school for the weekend. It was moly.

Holly Jilyaw - I was the mascot for a basketball game. There was no chin strap, so the head was too big for me. At halftime a little kid came up and grabbed my ankles, and when I bent down to look at him the head fell off. The kid started screaming, 'Mommy! The fish ate a person!'

Livia Ney - My most memorable moment will be to graduate.

Mary Davey - My most memorable moment at high school was last year during Music Fest in Sitka. April 24 was my birthday but also was when the wind ensemble played. They dedicated their performance to Sam Pitcher. Mr. Bjor put his horn on his chair and it was very emotional to watch. They had news cameras taping the concert and kept focusing in on Sam's trumpet. Mary in the band were crying but kept playing. I was sitting in a group of our students and there was not a dry eye in the group. The wind ensemble played so beautifully and I doubt that I will ever hear a band performance as beautiful as that one was. My housing parents bought me a cake for my birthday and that was the greatest day. Good food, good band, and honoring a good friend.

Memories

LynnLee Mitchell - When I was in 10th grade we had English II with Mrs. Stillman, we were reading our books when I happened to look up and gag, because I noticed an enormous amount of armpit hair. I couldn't stop laughing, even to this day.

Mike Swaim, Ben Phillips, & Kyle Howe - We stole a whole cheesecake from Culinary Arts.

Ty Rettle - During Algebra II, sophomore year, Kate G. thought I was imported from Africa. Midway through class she turned and yelled across the room, 'Ty, were you imported from Africa?' There was a moment of silence, then a riot of laughter. I don't think I've ever seen another human turn as red as Kate did.

Ryan Richardson - When Nate Norton hand cuffed himself to Peter Amylon and dragged him around.

Peter Amylon - When Ryan Richardson, Justin Gubatayao, and I egged Sarah Brandt-Erichsen's and Erin Traudt's soccer stuff and car really bad.

Erin Traudt - When my friends and I filled Tyrel Faber's Geo with three garbage bags of pop corn.

Claire Ragozzino - I'm gonna turn the world into one giant nudist colony.

Tzuiah Dulin - I would make it mandatory for all math classes to offer free Odwalla drinks and Tim Horton's doughnuts, and I would stop the Bush family dynasty from touching the presidency ever again!

Rhianna Zastrow -
I will give everyone a pink flamingo and a lifetime supply of Butterfingers.

Sean Maynard - I'm going to be a dentist and come up with a solution that instantly regenerates teeth, so old people can have finally chew food without the use of dentures.

William Klein -
I would make everyone as beautiful as I am.

Brian DeBourguignon -
When my reign comes stagnation will be brought to a halt as the false sense of security is terminated.

How Are You Going

Pages done by Aaron & Abby Manuel, Contessa Palunga, & Lenny Krum

Sonia Christensen
- I'm going to marry Chris Rahr and have hundreds of little Chris babies.

Casey Klask -
Make the world so everyone has rice balls.

Vanessa DeLong -
I will buy shoes and bags for the homeless.

Ben Voetberg - I will make every night be like Saturday night.

Kayleigh Hoyt - I will become the first female president and declare every Friday
National Tampon War Day.

Josh Cohen - I would make everyone worship me like a god.

Johnny Steward - I'm going to change the world
one girl at a time.

Bonibelle Nacionales - I'm gonna be a dedicated firewoman and climb burning buildings and save old people. Then I'll dive into bushes to find lost pussy cats!

Waldy Kintana - I'd make sure there was an abundant supply of green leaves and flowers, so we breathe a lot of healthy oxygen.

Jillian Galtier - I will change the world by making everyone fall madly in love with me and putting a spell on them to do everything I command them to do.
MWUHAHAHAHA!

Tyler Williams - I'm going to make all the trees money trees. So everyone will have money, and I'd keep a third of it all.

Joy Demmert -
Be the first girl to live on Uranus.

To Change The World?

Alex McDonald - I will change the world by making sure that Bush isn't re-elected.

Hilary Hook - I'd make everyone sit in a circle, rub their toes, and make them say "I Love You."

Marcus Robecker - I will change the world by letting everyone in the world have no age requirements for everything.

Chelsea Goucher - I will change the world by being a genuinely good person and loving everyone- even Claire's nudists.

Eugene Dayon - I will become President of the United States and declare world peace, and tattoo
"Adam" on my brother's forehead.

Erin Nugent - I'm going to develop transporters so you can go anywhere in five seconds.

How Do You Eat Your Reese's Peanut Butter Cup?

Hmmmm

Below: Freshman Elizabeth Harney shows her bravery as sophomore Billy White shows us how he eats his scrumptious Reese's Peanut Butter Cup.

Right: Muscle boy freshman Chase Hoyt likes to do push-ups against the wall as he eats his Reese's Peanut Butter Cup. Growing boys need their milk, but Reese's is a good alternative.

Senior Erin Nugent likes to play with her Peanut Butter Cups before she eats it. She rolls it down the hall if it lands right-side up she'll eat it. Otherwise, it goes in the garbage can.

Freshman Molly Dwyer exclaims, "Eat it!!!!!! That's what you're supposed to do with them!! I usually just put it down my shirt to give me a nice perk."

Hmmmm

I like to eat my Reese's like a bite. I put it in my mouth, chew as hard as I can get the delicious flavors around my mouth, wipe the chocolate around my braces, and then I swallow it.

Chris Ashcraft, freshman

I like to sniff my Reese's Peanut Butter Cup first. Getting a whiff of that chocolaty goodness makes me wanna shake and jiggle. It makes me wanna scream after the peanut buttery goodness goes down my esophagus.

Andrew Russell, sophomore

Hmmmm... Yummy!

Junior Zach Thompson throws his little brother freshman Adam Thompson into a dirty, full of crap, nasty plastic bag. Being initiated can be a fun experience for some people, and it doesn't look like Adam is enjoying those 15 long minutes. But Zach had fun. Just look at his huge grin. He even looked for the dirtiest garbage can he could find, and he made sure his brother was in there for a good amount of time.

On July 4, 2003, seniors
Kayleigh Hoyt, Amy
Farstad, Jillian Gallyer,
Kathrina Patterson, Shale
Loughman, and Hilary Hook initiated some freshmen for the new school year. Some 8th graders got initiated early too, since they are in Kayli's now.

Senior Tyler Williams duct tapes freshman Jamie Edmondson onto a tree. He was going to duct tape her onto the flag pole, but Mr. Pennington kept watching Tyler after he heard about it. So Tyler went for the next best place, a tree. The tree all wet and slippery, it was a surprise she stayed up there for so long.

Kayhi Fight Song

This year is the first for the K-Highlights to begin each variety game dancing to the Kayhi Fight Song. Brimming with energy and school spirit, they add to the excitement of the home crowd.

Asian Funk

The season opener used rice hats in the choreography, which made synchronization even more difficult. The music included clips from songs such as "Kung Foo Fighting" and "A Night in Bangkok," and the cartoon "Hong Kong Phooey".

80s Mix (Pom)

80s Mix (Pom)

The K-Highlights shook the crowd all night long with their pom routine. They brought everyone back to the 80s, dancing to songs by AC/DC, Kiss, and Warrant.

Breathe

The "Breathe" routine stands out from all the others this season, as it solely relies on choreography and does not use any props or poms. It incorporates jazz movements to hard rock songs and other trancing tunes. The outfits worn for the performance had flames on the arms and legs, which heavily accent all their movements.

Cowgirls

Yee haw! Ride em, cow girl! Using props like cowboy hats, boxes, and ropes of various sizes, the drill team has a routine worthy of a Superior rating at Region V. With all the eye-catching footwork and fast moving rope tricks, this routine is the hardest to perform, but definitely the most visually appealing.

Did you know?

- The team practices three times a week, with a total of 7-9 hours.
- All four coaches were past members of drill team.
- Every member is expected to give their all during practice as if they were performing in front of a real crowd.
- Last year drill team had a total of seven members, but earned an excellent rating at the 2003 Southeast Basketball Tournament here in Ketchikan.
- Drill team has ten returning members.
- This is the first year in Kaydi history that the drill team has ever danced to the school fight song.
- The biggest team in K-Highlights history was in 1992 with 36 girls.
- Synchronization is the hardest aspect of dancing.
- The drill team season lasts from October to March.
- Drill team performs their routine for the school song for every varsity basketball game.
- Much work goes into choreographing dance routines. It takes a little more than a month to learn each routine and perfect them. Throughout the whole season, they come up with an average of four routines, including one for the Region V Basketball Tournament.

Above: These girls are worthy of being Vegas showgirls! They keep their toes pointed and postures straight for an awesome kickline.

TONI HAHN

"I LOVE performing! And our costumes are so pretty."

AMANDA HAMMERMEISTER

"This has been my favorite year of all four years being on the team. I thought being the only captain would be really hard, but the girls made it super easy. I love you guys!"

AMY FARSTAD

"I never would have thought this, but I kind of wish I did Drill Team before this year."

KAYLEIGH HOYT

"I really enjoy drill team, but I think the team would really benefit from allowing Hilary Hook on the team because she has better moves than Kevin Bacon in 'Footloose'."

ABBY MANUEL

"I had the opportunity to get to know these girls a little better. We're all goofy and we all have fun together."

Willow is an exhilarating class. I sweat my funny off everyday working on the pages. I enjoy having special privileges, like getting out of class to do yearbook stuff and getting into events for free.

Jillian "Jills" Gallier
I like Willow because it's so fresh. It's the hottest class around. I've learned lots in yearbook and it has dramatically changed my life. And that's why I like yearbook.

Amy Farstad
I think yearbook came at the perfect time of my life. I was just lost when I got a calling from yes... Willow.

Aaron Manuel

By being in Willow, I got to go to all sorts of school events for free. All I had to do was bring a camera and say I was in yearbook. And I didn't even have to take pictures. It saved me a lot of money. With the money I saved, I was able to buy tons of food and eat during my side hours and yearbook class.

Writing a tally sheet for every page done in the yearbook is important, but writing the correct spelling of names is even more important, which is exactly what senior Amy Farstad is doing. Correct spellings of names on the tally sheets make it so much easier for the index people to index them in the index. This year's index people are senior Aaron Manuel, sophomores Jenny Hoyt & Lenny Krum.

This year is Mrs. Campbell's first year being a yearbook advisor. Being a former yearbook student herself, she understands how the deadline system works. There's just too many deadlines all at once!

Senior Kimberly Boles is this year's #1 Ad Seller. Calling and talking to numerous business managers is a lot of work and very time consuming, and senior Kimberly Boles surpassed expectations and accumulated tons of moolah for this year's budget.

Mary Grace Sevilla

Willow is a super-duper fun class. We have pizza parties every week, and we eat ice cream, drink root beer, and play "Twister" all the time. People should enroll in this class next year so they can find out for themselves just how fun it is.

LynnLee Mitchell

The best part of yearbook is taking pictures for my pages and creating pages. It is all fun! I have the power to put tons of pictures of myself in the book, and take other people's pictures out. I am the Yearbook Goddess.

Ever wonder where Willow gets all its money to produce the yearbook? Probably not, but you're going to read about it anyway. Every year the Willow staff goes to local businesses to sell ad space in our yearbook. They have exactly 20 pages reserved just for ads, and each page is worth at least $400. They also have 20 pages reserved just for Baby Ads, which are worth $240 each page. And then there's yearbook sales. Yearbooks are sold for $50-$55. Willow usually gets an order of 350-550 yearbooks every year, $5 for personalization and another $5 for the Spring Supplement. 2 out of the 12 signatures in the yearbook are printed in process color, which costs around $1,000 per signature. You do the math.

Matt Boyd

Oh my gosh, Willow is great! I love the way we get to work with others and take pictures. Those aren't the only fun things, we also get to leave class to sell ads and design pages to be put in the yearbook. This class is so fun that there is no word to explain it.

Abby Manuel

This year started with minor complications, but Willow helped me get through the hard times. It seemed like every time I was down, yearbook was there for me. I came to class every single day knowing Willow will be there for me.

Senior LynnLee Mitchell pretends to help senior Mary Grace Sevilla work on baby ads. Baby ads are hard to work on and very time consuming, and that's something senior LynnLee Mitchell would rather not deal with.

Our 2004 Willow, "Signature", is made up of 192 pages in a 9"x12" trim size. Yearbooks are printed 16 pages at a time on large sheets of paper called Signatures. Each side of a signature contains 8 pages called a Multiple. Our yearbook has 2 signatures in color, 10 signatures in black & white, and 1 signature of World Beat (a Jostens add-on).

just can't decide which pictures he's going to use for his pages. Should he use the picture of senior Jido Galyer? Or should he use the picture of the sophomore Jenny Hoyt getting friendly with her chair?

Left: Meeting deadlines is no problem for senior Jillian Galyer, just look how comfortable she looks writing her captions for her pages.

Pep Club is fun. My favorite part of it is doing concessions. I got free food and free pop by working concessions. I didn't even do anything. Drama

Why I'm in Drama...

"It's fun and I get to hang out with different people. I get to travel to different places with my friend that are in Drama and Debate. You can be a freak and it's okay."

-Kirsten Flyaw

"It gives me a chance to be someone that I'm not everyday, even though my multiple personalities get in the way."

-Archie Inocillo

"You pick out pieces, work on them all year, and then perform them for judges."

-Frances Klein

"Meets are great, but so hard. I met lots of other Alex's. It's awesome to get to travel and everyone there is really open and fun. I spent lots of time hanging out with everyone and laughing."

-Alyx Hatfield-Evans

"It's an activity where you can act anyway you like and the meets are ton of fun."

-Katheryn Brooks

"In Drama, you travel to different places in Southeast and compete in different events. The events are mima, solo, humorous interp, dramatic interp, readers theatre, duet, and duo interp. We compete so we can go to state and compete with those around the state. The way you qualify for state is you place twice and give a command performance. This is my third and final year in Drama. It is really fun and you meet lots of interesting people. If you are interested at all in acting, you should be in Drama. You can yell and scream and no one looks at you weird. You just say 'I'm in Drama' and people right away understand. This year we have a big Drama and we have three new coaches. Francis Leach, she played Ada Annie in Oklaoma last fall. Elizabeth Nelson, she is an actor and director. Chloe Patton, she is the old Drama teacher and actress, a mimist, and very cool lady. I joined Drama because it has been my dream since I was three to be a molestar. I have learned a lot from Drama. We travel with the Debate team and do some events with them. The Debaters are just as crazy as Drama people. We do plays and get covered in makeup. Well no, that was just me! In the Wizard of Oz I was the wicked witch of the west and I had to wear green makeup all over my face and hands. It only came off with Ajax! Drama is very fun and every crazy person should join."

The group of Debaters gather together in the library to study before the argument begins.

About the Math Tutoring Center

The Math Tutoring Center is a new club to Kayli. It provides an opportunity for students to not only receive help in all levels of math, but also to participate as a tutor themselves. The center is open a few days a week after school. It was started after the need for math tutoring was expressed. The tutoring center offers tutoring to students at every level of math, and provides another facet for service to our community.

ECONOMICS

Economics (from the Greek oikos 'house' and nomos 'law') is the study of the production, distribution, and consumption of goods and services.

MR. NORDVEDT

I enjoyed teaching Economics during my first year here at Koyuk. My class had a good sense of humor and was lots of fun to work with. One of the highlights of the experience was helping students organize a corporation and market a product to sell to the public. We had good success selling Nalgene water bottles emblazoned with a Koyuk logo. I am looking forward to teaching the class again in the future.

JASON PFEIFFER
Production V.P.

As Vice-President of Production I helped to keep the company going. Working together with the other officials from the company we came up with a high demanding product. Altogether it was a great semester for the class and a wonderful learning experience.

ANDREW KOLANKO
Marketing V.P.

As Vice-President of Marketing I had the opportunity to help make vital decisions in our company's endeavours, and was able to achieve knowledge of what I might expect in my future plans with business.

BYRON LOVE
Finance V.P.

Working as the Finance Vice-President, I learned that finance is an important backbone to any working company.

Mr. Nordvedt teaches juniors Byron Love, Katie Cronk, Jennifer Holcomb, Catlin Rettke, and senior Brian Vreeland the game of Settlers of Catan. Throughout the semester the class played numerous games involving economics, and some games that had absolutely nothing to do with it, but it was still fun.

RANDY GABOR
Human Resources V.P.

Being Vice President of Human Resources is a very challenging position. You are entrusted to keep important documents about the company. I also kept track of company meetings, documents, what is being discussed and what is being done about the company. It was fun being Vice-President of human resources. I would love to do it again!

ALEX ZINGER
President

No comment.

"My favorite part of economics class is Mr. Nordvedt's story telling. He tells us all about his life, experiences, and everything. He always talks about when he was in yearbook, he would walk around with a camera and snap and use yearbook as an excuse. One time, once every Friday, he spent the whole hour talking about his trip across America."

Mary Grace Sevilla 12

"I find that educational economics movies we watched. I especially liked watching that goofy last, David Schumacher, honestly fell asleep through the movie though, but it was fun when I did watch it."

Jennifer Holcomb 11

"Selling water bottles was fun. It was fun handing down people and making them buy our product. We got $2.50 for each bottle we sell, and I bought two shares of the stocks, so I ended up getting $17.6. I wish I was just smart as Jason though, he invested $156 in the stocks and in the end he ended up making a profit of $556, or something around that much. Stupid me."

Our wish for you

Take our hands for they reach out to you any time you need them. Take a moment each day to reflect on what you have and how fortunate you are. Take a moment to reflect on what you want and how capable you are. Take the time to do things that bring you pleasure and self-satisfaction. Take resources available to you and put them to use for your own enjoyment. Take the kindness others show you as a measure of their high regard for you. Take the insensitivity others may demonstrate as an indication that their own self-esteem may need building. Take comfort in the realization that although you may not be or have all you want, you are working at it the best way you can. Take pride in your individuality, your special ways, the beautiful person you are. Take our words as loving advice, because we want only the best for you. Take our love with you wherever you go. It has been and always will be yours.

Love always, Dad and Mom

Learn from yesterday, live for today, hope for tomorrow. Now is the time to bathe in joy, celebrate, and hug a friend.

In dreams and in love there are no impossibilities, so may you always, dream big and know that nothing will change my love.

Shoot for the moon. Even if you miss, you will land among the stars.

Kayhi Fight Song

*We pledge allegiance to dear old Kayhi
To give us power to keep our true colors high Push on to greater glory
So that her honor may never die.*

*Then sing a song to Kayhi
We give honor unto her name Proud her colors waving
Every banner will tell her fame.
Tra, la, la, la, la, la.*

*Maroon and White are fighting
To bring home a victory
We pledge our hearts to Kayhi
And forever our loyalty.*

Kings!
