Golden Stars Of July 4th

In A Galaxy Far, Far, Away The Force Is With The Class Of 2006 As They Begin Their Senior Year.

Introducing the Class of 2006!

Incoming seniors start each year off with an appearance in the annual Fourth of July Parade. This year, seniors braved very rainy weather and still managed to show excitement and anticipation for their last year of high school. Many seniors dressed to the float theme "Space and Star Wars" to show their school spirit and Kayhi pride. Leading the float on foot were brave and mighty jedi knights, battling with light sabers. The students sported umbrellas and smiles as they shouted "2006!" while making their way through town. Although it poured, the rain did little to dampen the spirit of these seniors—the Class of 2006!

WOODHOGS FOR THE CLASS OF 2006

On the 8th of October, it was the annual chopping of the wood—better known as WOODHOGS. Noon that day seniors were supposed to meet by the front gate at Whipple Creek. Only seven students (with three trucks) showed up, but those seniors drove up the treacherous mountain on the old logging roads until finally arriving at the site where they began chopping wood! The adults appeared skeptical by the low turn out, but realized the competition was stiff—with SATs also scheduled for the day. The crew convinced Mr. Bolling others were late for legitimate reasons, so he drove back down the mountain to retrieve any stragglers. While Mr. Bolling drove down the mountain, those seniors who were there worked hard. An hour later he returned with more seniors and five trucks! After all the chopping and hauling, the seniors loaded the trucks and high-tailed it down that mountain!

VANESSA DELONG

Bailey, Caitlin, Emily and I were driving around town one night late when we noticed this weird, constant noise coming from Bailey's car. We ignored it for awhile because we didn't think it was any big deal, but it kept getting louder. Bailey finally decided to check it out. She looked under her car, and there was this huge tree just hanging there! We had been dragging it all over town for like two hours.

BRIAN TARO

I remember one day during freshman year. Paul Henry, making fun of Mr. Kralis, dressed up like a Harley Davidson biker and rode into Mr. Kralis' class on a razor scooter playing "Bad to the Bone" on his CD player. Mr. Kralis was upset, but he didn't do anything about it because Paul had told Mr. Ecklund it was a project for class, so he was in on it, too—sort of.

KAITLYN PORTER

This one time Bailey and I were driving through town while there was all of that construction. We hit a big bump in the road, and my muffler came loose and started to drag. We pulled over because we had no idea what to do. So I called Jenny and she sent her brother Jesse Floyd to the rescue. He just reached under the car and pulled the entire muffler off. Now you can hear me coming down the road miles away.

EMILY EICHNER

Last winter Amber, Elizabeth, Krissy and I were staying at a hotel in Prince Rupert. We wanted to go in the sauna because our muscles were sore from snowboarding. There was a lady in there already, and we didn't think she'd mind if we joined her. But I guess she did mind because she stood up and ripped an effluvium. That got us out of their fast. It was so gross.

MATT HOLM

Last year at Winter Ball, I was just sitting there and then I passed out cold. I don't remember how, all I remember is waking up and everything was red. Everyone knew about it. It was so embarrassing.

BEAC DALE

I remember one time when Alan, Cody, Bailey, Lacey and I were out inner tubing by my cabin. Bailey and Lacey were on the tube, and then our boat broke down. We were stuck, but then we spotted a hippie paddling by in a canoe. We flagged him down, he came over, and we made Cody go with the hippie and his dog to get help at the cabin. Turns out, the lanyard had just disconnected.

COREY HOWE

This year after swim class Alan Dale, Braedon Marrs, Bo Carney and I were chillin' in the Commons. Braedon took Alan's underwear and threw it up on those waves hanging from the ceiling—made it on the first try, too.

JOMARIE ALBA

One day a couple of friends and I were just sitting around talking, just talking. Then one of those silences occurred, and no one said anything. All of a sudden, Arne yelled out, "OMG! I have one of the hardest things I've ever seen! I've never met anyone who has a harder thing than me!" Everyone looked at him in disgust, but apparently he was talking about some muscle in his arm that had developed to be super hard from his years of playing guitar.

JOSH COHEN

When I was in Mr. Moss's class one day I walked out the door while Mr. B was in the math office at the same time. That

CONTESSA PAHANG

Brianna Larson and I went to get bingo donations for Senior Carnival downtown, and I parked in the parking lot across from Subway. I was gone five minutes and came back to my car just as some guy was going to tow it away. He had already hooked it up to his truck and wouldn't let me have it unless I paid $100 for the hook-up fee. I didn't have any money and couldn't get hold of anyone, so as a last resort I called my boss. He came to the rescue with his fat wad of cash.

CAITLIN STEPHENS

A couple of days ago, when it was really snowing, Bailey and I were driving around in her car. The roads were really icy so we had to pull over. I got picked up by Ryan Doron because we thought it was safer to drive with him. Then I started sliding all over the place and we slammed into a parked car. It was pretty sweet.

CHELSEY MAY

I remember the softball trip to Vegas my Freshman year, when we were staying in a nice hotel and a couple of us were just hanging out in our room. An anonymous friend went in to the bathroom and was in there for awhile. When she came out, she said the toilet wouldn't flush. Then it started to overflow and there was dirty toilet water everywhere. We called the front desk and a very mad employee had to come clean it all up.

SENIORS- REINCE MAJORITY

JEFF OWINGS

My best memory from high school would be this year's football season. We had a great team and all played really well. We even won a couple games.

BLAINE HEATON

On September 23, 2005, I was driving out north with Rick Grams and the always lucky Chris Ashcraft. It was fairly dark out, and since it was my birthday I thought nothing could go wrong. While driving at a fair amount of speed, a bear runs out in front of the car, and in short, we connected, and my car hasn't been the same. I now have an extreme disliking for bears.

ERIKA PEARCE

the first out of Voc. Med. early to go talk to Mr. McClary. Up my way in the hallway, I ran into Connor, Jason and Billy Pfeiffer in the SRA. They had just received the new fog machine for the dances. Connor said to test the fog machine so I wanted to say and watch. Connor pushed me and let out a good amount of fog. I was quite fascinated by the fog, got the bright idea to push the button again. I held down the button and it was much. Jason said that we should open the door or we would most set off the fire alarm. Right after he said that, the bell rang and Connor ran to the door to let the fog out and the fire alarm went off. We went and the office that was for testing the machine, but they didn't call it in, so the truck came and everyone had to wait outside. We still get reminded about setting the fire alarm off to this day.

JARED AZURE

Last year, a couple of us were hanging out at a friend's house. We were just playing video games and sitting around. Emily decided it would be funny to singe my arm hair with a lighter. I decided I'd get her back. She was sitting in front of the T.V., so I walked up behind her and lit her ponytail on fire. The whole thing went up in a flame. She didn't even realize it until everyone started running away from her. Revenge is sweet.

NICK GALLOWAY

st year, Leif, Adam, Eugene and I skipped school and went up the D1 Loop logging road. We cooked moose over the fire and shot some guns. That's all I remember because we had a big cooler filled with ice cold root beer.

SAMANTHA CLARK SMITH

In gym one year, Kevin Mackey hit me in the face with a dodge ball. My eyes started watering because it stung, and he thought I was crying. I wasn't hurt, but I was kind of mad he hit me, so I went into the bathroom and put a bunch of blush on my cheek to make it look like the ball had left a mark. Mr. Maynard saw the mark and had to have a little "talk" with Kevin. Kevin felt so bad that he brought me flowers the next day! I didn't have the nerve to tell him I really didn't get hurt. He still doesn't know!

LITLY SHROEDER

Calculus class Freshman year, Brittany, Caylee, and I decided to pick our hands in the flour bin because it feels really cool. One day, I was wearing this bracelet with really pretty purple beads, and when I put my hand in the flour, it broke. We had to dig to find all of the beads. About a month later, we were rolling out dough for pies when Caylee felt a little bump in her dough. She looked down, and it was one of my beads!

CHAISE PETERS AND BRAEDON MARRS

Last Halloween we were celebrating and jacked 30 pumpkins. We proceeded to project them at various objects and rolled some down hills. We were having a good time. We were down to the last one when one of our accomplices threw it out the window, and it smashed a parked car's window. After that, we all fell silent and decided it was time to bail.

CODY COWAN

I remember the Mayor got mad about mine and Robbie's performance at the Talent Show. We sang "My Tony Lama's," and I guess he got upset. It was pretty fun though.

KATIE CHAPEL AND JENNIE SHINN

One day this summer, after a very ambitious bike ride, Katie and I decided to take a swim at Settlers Cove. We took off our shoes and ran down the beach. Well, I ran. Katie just kind of flopped. While we were in the water, Katie suddenly started screaming and frantically swimming to shore. When she finally regained her composure she said, "Oh my gosh! I thought my shadow was a fish!"

AMBER KAMMEYER

Emily and I went to Smither's last Christmas break and decided to give snow boarding a shot. Neither of us had ever gone before and though we were pretty cool once we started. We decided to take the T-bar up the hill. It looked pretty easy because these little kids were just zooming on in. When it was my turn, I fell flat on my face just two seconds after I started going up. Of course there was a huge line of people that saw everything and I had to walk by them to get back in line. It took Emily and me an hour to finally make it up the hill. I still can't get over all of those looks we got from people!

BRITTANY HOYT

The summer before Freshman year, a couple of my friends and I went to Echo Ranch. One night, I wasn't feeling too good. I was on the top bunk and all of a sudden I had to puke. I didn't have enough time to make it anywhere, so I just leaned over the side. I accidentally puked on the girl sleeping on the bottom! I felt so bad!

...THE GOLDEN DAYS

JENNIFER HOYT

I will always remember when Kaitlyn Porter and I were going out to my house to make T-shirts for the Senior Walk-In, and she passed me so I sped up to pass her. (Yes, we were racing.) Then she hit a big bump and sparks flew out from under her car because her muffler was dragging. I was laughing so hard that I started crying, and the even funnier thing was that she didn't even know what happened.

BAILEY SINGSTAD

I remember one day last summer, Kaitlyn and I wanted to go camping at Settlers. It was already kind of dark, but we decided to go anyway. When leaving the house, somehow we ended up in a ditch. My dad had to come get us out, and then we were on our way. While we were driving out there, we suddenly realized that the car was just coasting, not running, and there was smoke everywhere. So we pulled over, ditched the car, and just ran the rest of the way to Settlers.

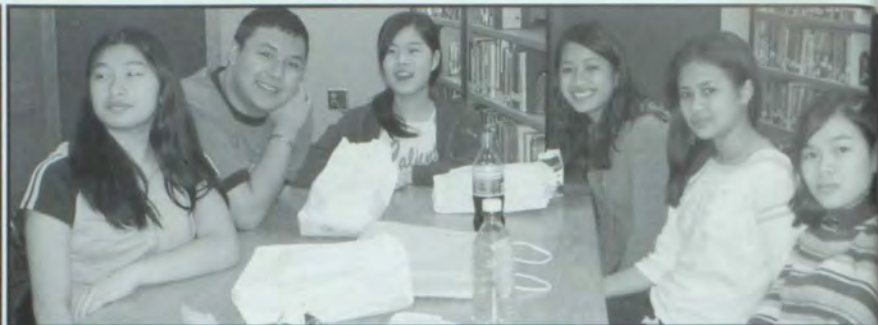

JESSI TEUNE

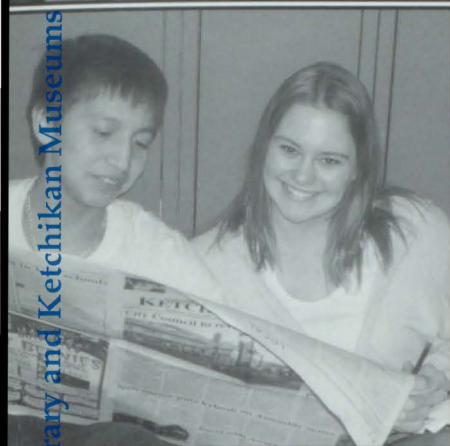

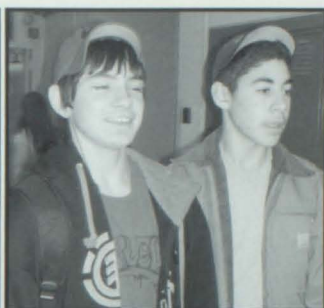

m spending most of my senior year in San Marcos--and just love it! I get to teach kindergarten's English and work as an aide at an elementary school. Of course, I'm also attending the high school. Although I stay busy, there's still time to have fun!

BRANSON QUINT

I remember in 8th grade, some "anonymous" people hung up a bunch of posters for a party at Matt Holm's house. He didn't even know about it, but Mr. E called his house and chewed him out because you're not supposed to advertise parties at school.

Farewell to Mr. Pennington

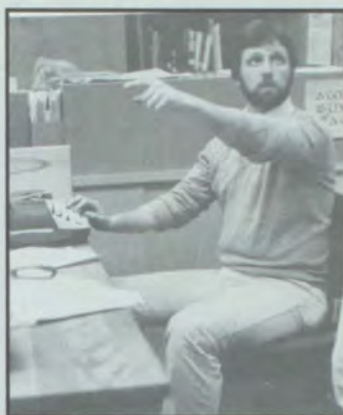

Teacher

Administrator

Mentor

After 29 years at Ketchikan High School, Mr. Don Pennington is joining the ranks of the retired. He first came to Kayhi as a History Teacher in 1977, but has served as Vice Principal and Principal as well.

Many will remember his quiet presence at lunch or school activities, and some will recall the even more quiet visits to his office. He leaves Kayhi as one of the most beloved and respected faculty members; one who has survived it all--new additions, remodeling, administrative changes, and Kayhi housing not only a high school, but elementary and middle schools, too.

The Ketchikan Public Library has the staff from Mrs. Karik and Mrs. Walker always working hard to bring you the best of Ketchikan.

From Mrs. Northvold's random humor to Mrs. Karik's pointless, but always hilarious, and Mrs. Walker's bold, often serious, but always funny, knowledge with a sense of humor, these two are truly memorable.

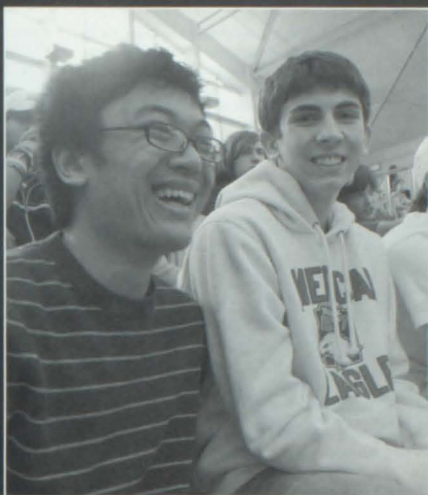

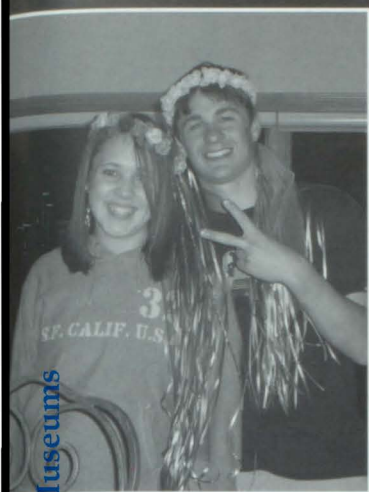

Student Life

Ketchikan High School students DO have lives outside of school

Picture me, Emily Dell, as a young scared freshman. I'm all alone outside the high school waiting for my brother. A car pulls up and assuming that it was him, I decided to make a hideous face through the window. The window rolled down and to my horror it was a car full of seniors staring at me like I was a freak!

Emily Dell

Freshman year I was messing around in the hallway with my friends and here comes this huge out-of-town volleyball player down the hall. I guess I was in her way 'cause she pretty much pounded me into the lockers so she could get through.

Emily Eichner

work at a drive through espresso stand, and customers aren't allowed inside, of course. So it was very surprising this summer when I was in the bathroom and all of the sudden the door flew open. A Russian couple were just standing there watching me pee. The only English word they knew was "bathroom," so they just stood there and repeated it over and over. I gave up trying to tell them to shut the door, so I just let them use the bathroom.

Alexandra Hofmann

Last year after beating Juneau at S.E., we all ran out to congratulate our team. Realizing I had forgotten my coat in the bleachers, I looked it back up the seats, grabbed my coat, and as I was walking back down, I totally biffed it and slid right into a pile of nachos. Thinking no one saw me, I stood up and looked at about 15 people laughing hysterically at me. Yep, it sucked.

Anthony Chavarría and Erika Pearce

Once while filming at the school for a project, Alejandro and I had to shoot the inside of a bathroom to show its "cleanliness." When inside, I was narrating and said something like: "And here we have one of our nicer bathrooms and... (at this point I realized that the bathroom had a wretched stench). I yelled, "Oh my Gosh! This smells like... we have to get out of here!" Once outside, Alejandro told me he had heard someone in the stall, doing their business...

Contessa Bahang

When Mr. Maynard was gone and Mr. Crockett was his sub for P.E. he invited my 5th hour class to play dodgeball. There were three other classes playing, so there had to be about 60 people in the gym. Well, about 10 minutes into the game I went to get the ball and when I leaned over my pants ripped from the zipper down to my knee. I ran to the locker room and had to wear huge gym shorts for the rest of the day.

Weston Corpron

I was at Music Fest in Sitka my freshman year. Mr. Bjur was us stay for the entire evening concert, and they are LONG. Well, I should have used the restroom before the concert, but I didn't, and towards the end I REALLY had to go! When it was finally finished, I ran to the bathroom. I felt something wet on my foot and my left pant leg was completely drenched. And then of course I had to go through the crowded Commons to get some pants, and I changed in the woods.

Brian Taro

On my birthday, after playing poker with some friends at my house I accidentally forgot that my girlfriend wasn't the same one I had back in 7th grade and I sat down on Sarah Harpold's lap instead of my girlfriends. Oops!

Elizabeth Jaguesch

One day when I was a freshman...I popped some popcorn in the microwave for lunch. Yum. I guess I left it in too long, because smoke started "flooding" out of the microwave...so of course I ran away and hid in the gym for a while. When I came back, the Commons smelled really gross and smoke was "flooded" all over the ceiling. BUMMER! And another embarrassing thing is on page 1. Just take a look at my school picture. PLUS...I WAS BORN NAUTICAL.

Anthony Chavarría

In gym class, we were standing around and I got "pantsex" in front of a whole bunch of chicks. And I'm not talking just "semi-pantsex". It was a full on "pantsex". It was really embarrassing...and cold.

Kayhi's Most Embarrassing

Jordan Azure

So this one night I got dared to eat a whole lime, peel and all, for ten dollars...So I did, and shortly after puked all over Ryan Simpson's floor, which is the reason why he had to move his bed to one corner for the rest of his life."

When the Ballet group went to New York in February we were riding the subway at night, and we saw a bunch of poor people performing for money on the sidewalk. We were watching them, and Emily Dell told me that I should dance for money. Just as a joke I kicked my leg really high and said, "Like this?" and as my leg came back down I kicked this old man that was standing behind me really hard. He gave me this really mean look, and I felt really bad and embarrassed.

Jordan Schrepel

Chase Hoyt

"So there was this blonde in yearbook class, busily doing the captions for her Summer Memories page. Being the unbelievably genius she is, she happily completed her page, which included a picture of the Statue of Liberty. About a month later, she had her brunette friend look over it and see if everything was peachy. The brunette gasped and looked up questioningly at the blonde. "Umm...The Statue of Liberty isn't in Washington D.C." Do you get it? I don't!"

Visiting Senior from Japan

I like Ketchikan because everyone helps me and treats me nicely. My friends have interests in Japan. Thanks so much for helping me. I will never forget Ketchikan life and my new friends. If anyone ever comes to Japan, email me at ikeshima@hotmail.com.

Eriko Ikeda

Visiting Senior from Japan

This year has been the best time of my life. Everything is amazing and wonderful--especially Drill Team, which has been so fun! I really love to dance. This exchange has been a good experience for me. Thank you very much for everything. I love Ketchikan!

Carmen Diaz

Visiting Senior from Spain

I'm a senior exchange student from Spain. I came here because I thought that it would be a good experience and I was going to have fun, and that is just what I am doing. I met a lot of people, and I am always with my friend Shanna. We hang out together. This is the best experience that I've ever had, and I am learning a lot of English habits.

Exchange

Winston Monticello

Returned Senior from Mexico

Living in Mexico for a year allowed me to represent Kayhi and show other people around the world how cool Alaskans really are. I had a blast, but it's good to be back home.

Tyler Mortenson

Returned Senior from Ecuador

Voluntarily placing myself in a 3rd world, Spanish speaking country, was the best decision I've ever made in my life. Seeing how the world works outside of this desolate city we live in, was a mind-blowing experience. Getting to learn a new language and making new friends along the way made the experience worthwhile. I hope the exchange students here, and the ones leaving, enjoy the experience as much as I did. Holla, out to Molly Keene!

Sophmores Chosen for Rotary Exchange

Sam McDonald

I'm really excited to be an exchange student next year. The fact that I am going to be exposed to a culture very different from my own will give me an experience of a lifetime.

Molly Keene

I am excited to represent Ketchikan in whatever area I am chosen to travel to for a year. It should be a blast! Although, I am going to miss Kayhi, all of my friends, and family. Tyler is so cool!

2005-2006 Williwaw Staff

As Good As Gold

Senior Contessa Pahang served as Williwaw Editor for the second year. As last year, she was once again training a new adviser as well as trying to get staff members on step as to what needed to be done, when, and how. Her insight and eye for the details of page appearance made the yearbook processing, through the use of the Internet, a less formidable task. The Williwaw staff consisted of 15 students, Contessa Pahang, Erika Pearce, Jared Azure, Brian Taro, Emily Eichner, Hilary Goucher, Jamie Edwardson, Jordan Schrepel, Lindsay Tucker, Aimee McClory, Kaila Cowan, Marissa Medford, Kaleigh Holm, Elizabeth Jagusch and Adam Thompson. Two other students, Jomarie Alba and Tyler Barrett, also were part of the yearbook staff First Semester.

Skin the Bear, Mount the Hide, Eat the Meat, KAYHI PRIDE!

Kayhi's Pep Club was incredible this year. On Friday, February 3, JDHS boys basketball came to town. Pep Club rallied and wore camo and war paint because we were going on a Bear hunt. The stands were packed with Kayhi students and supporting community members. The crowd was intense throughout the entire game, and it quickly became an anti-Bears weekend! Friday, Ketchikan beat Juneau by 17 points, however, Saturday Juneau came out ahead. Kayhi played a good game and played hard.

Memories of the Gold ol' Days

Alissa White

While in Anchorage a few of us volleyball players and my dad were sitting at a Starbucks. There were 2 strange women by us, and one of them told us how she petted a moose and it kicked her. She then showed us her leg, and said she had germs on her fingers. The other lady asked us all of our names, when my dad responded with Ken she got all ecstatic. The woman started yelling "Ken! K-A-N!" and we all stood there trying not to laugh. She then walked behind my dad and started hugging his coat. A few minutes later they left, and we all just ran off and started laughing.

Spencer Round

The coolest thing that happened at Kayhi was the car bash fundraiser that was set up by the boys soccer team last year. Afterwards the team realized they had only raised about $75 dollars. But I still thought it was awesome when Cody Cowan drove his truck up on top of the car, it was also pretty funny when Mr. Kinunen got hit with a rubber molten.

Graham Seibel

This one time I thought a paper was due in Mrs. Bowlen's AP English class, but wonderful me forgot to do it. After lying to several teachers and skipping a class to try to get the paper written, I find the paper really wasn't due after all.

Tera Olmstead

I had Chem 1 with my good friends Alexandra Day and Emily Dell. This one time we were mixing chemicals together, and we ended up making table salt. Well, tricky Emily told us to taste it because it was just table salt. So being the gullible girls that we were, we ate some of the salt. Later when we told Mr. Dwyer what we did, he said we could've died! No big deal...Thanks a lot Emily!

Milisa Jakubek

I remember one dark and stormy Halloween night a bunch of cool kids with a van stuck a million plastic forks in Kayhi's front yard. Then they all went to Mrs. Roppel's house and did the same thing to her lawn, only this time with plastic spoons. Those crazy kids!

Elizabeth Jagusch

During swim season I remember when Connor Pihl and Weston Corporon rolled up a chocolate Power Bar to make it look like poop and just left it on the pool deck. All these kids walked by and had disgusted looks on their faces. Someone even ended up stepping on it. GROSS!

Eric Bezenek

It was a really hot day, so to quench our thirst John and I went to the store to buy some bottled root beer. John decided to show his new bottle opener for us, but he didn't realize the caps were just twist off. Well, John ended up spilling pop all over his stomach and pants.

Victor Anzueto

Last year we had current events due. Mine were on the Chupacabras and a boat that spilled oil somewhere in Alaska. When I started reading my current events I said, "A sheep broke in half in Alaska." Because of my accent I said sheep instead of ship. The whole time Mr. Berardi thought I was talking about the animal and not an actual boat. He started laughing so hard that he turned red! The whole class started to laugh as well for about 5 minutes. After class Mr. Berardi taught me how to pronounce ship.

Meghan Traudt

One day during lunch, I sat down with Heather, Lia, and Courtney Turner and was preparing to eat my turkey sandwich, when I suddenly saw my friend Jon Wendel upstairs. I ran upstairs to talk to him leaving my lunch on the table. When I came back and untied my bag I noticed a bite had been taken out of my sandwich. I had no idea who had done it, and I just assumed it was my dad. Later that day when I asked him about it, he told me I was crazy. A few days later Heather finally told me that it was her, and I had no idea.

Chloe Hall

When the girls soccer team went to Canada last year, one night Marissa, Nicci and I went to Tim Horton's for dinner. We sat down, and some old homeless guy started leaning over and saying the most random things like, "Do you have soap in your cappuccino?" Even though none of us had coffees. After a while he got up and moved to the chair right next to our table and started telling us about his daughter, what he ate for dinner the night before, and where he lived. Marissa & Nicci started laughing so hard that Marissa got up and left, while Nicci started crying. Marissa came back with Anna Taro who pretended to be a chaperone and told us it was time for us to leave.

Tara Wilhelm

I remember when Mr. Kinunen showed me the science freezer. It was really cool because there were a whole lot of dead animals. What I can recall was seeing a hawk, a sea snake, and a lot of dead sea animals. It was great!

Alex McDonald
I'd take the gold and become a leprechaun. Then I would beat up the Lucky Charms guy and take his job.

Kourtney Ludwig
If it were from a REAL leprechaun, I would just sell it on eBay!

Devin Klose
Melt down the gold and make a statue of Kenny Pearson.

Frances Klein
Use the gold to set up a black market here in Ketchikan and then make millions upon millions of dollars.

What Would You Do With a Pot of Gold?

Chaise Hoyt
I'd make Rumpelstiltskin thread the gold for me, and then I would make a golden suit out of it.

Kayla Serwat
My plan would be to make a lot of jewelry out of the gold and sell it to the tourist that come here every summer.

Coleman Alguire
I would sell half the gold for actual money. Then I would throw the other half off of the Eiffel Tower.

Ryan Gray
I'd steal the gold, capture the leprechaun, and make him be my friend. Then together we would do a jig!

Alejandro Chavarria
I'd invest in Microsoft. Then I'd subscribe to The WallStreet Journal. I'd then, of course, need an apartment with a fireplace. With the WallStreet Journal I would watch my stocks go up (if they went down I would curse the Nasdaq.) Oh yeah, I'd also need a lifetime supply of tea, and TEA CAKES! Buy low, sell high!

Gary Turner
Take the pot of gold and use it to start my own factory. It would be a milk-badger processing plant.

Russell Younberg
I'd put the pot of gold at the end of a rainbow of course!

Corinna Troll
I would get some teeth-bling. DUH!

MEET Teams

Lady Kings

With the 2006 Girls Basketball season underway, Kayhi has shown that size isn't always everything! Although the team is young, they play well together and exhibit toughness! Anticipate the return of most players next year—with another year of experience, maturity and growth, this team should be quite formidable—look out Southeast!

Head Coach Bob Hammer and Assistant Coach Mike McDonald work with players to help them develop skills they can use on the court, as well as in life. Many of the concepts players learn mold their character and help them become better students and citizens.

The Golden Spotlight

Drill Team's first drill of the season was their "Pom" routine. "Pom" was full of awesome tricks and sharp movements. The girls worked super hard to get this routine together and performed this drill during the half time show of many Kayhi's basketball games.

The Jazz Routine was quite different this year. The use of only one song, "Good Luck" by Basement Jaxx, made it unique. Although the routine was slower, it was very impressive. The girls did some awesome controlled movements and their technique on each one was great. For variety they wore two different outfits for this routine, the "Dizzy" outfit from last year's tournament routine and the "Cowboy" outfit from tournament two years ago.

This year's Hip Hop routine was extremely entertaining. With their sassy outfits and cute music, they made the crowds go wild. They wore mini skirts, knee high socks, and jerseys with 3/4-length sleeves. Their music definitely pumped up the crowd—especially when Gwen Stefani's song "BANNAS" came on for the routine. The crowd sang along with that part which made the routine special and even more exciting.

Extra! Extra! Read all about it! The drill team's tournament drill is NEWSIES. For those who don't know, that's a Disney Movie about little boys who go on strike while working for a newspaper company. The girls will be doing a lot of partnering tricks and maybe a little gymnastics. This drill is by far one of the most difficult they have worked on this year. The girls will be dancing with newspapers and on boxes. It's going to be a very entertaining piece, and the crowd is certain to love it!

Managers: Chelsea Nusbaum and Mary Key.

Left: The drill team performs their "Pom" routine for the Girls Basketball games verses Sitka Wolves, Friday, February 10, 2006 during that half time show. "Work It Girls!" The girls did an awesome job and exhibited their spectacular moves!

Left: The girls perform that awesome "Hip Hop" routine during the Boys Basketball game verses Juanu Douglas High School on Saturday, February 4, 2006. The girls performed for one of the largest crowds all season. The crowd was awesome as they sang along with the music when Gwen Stefani's song "Bannas" began.

Hurricanes ravage the Gulf Coast region in the fall of 2005, posing an unprecedented test of the United States federal emergency response efforts. Hundreds of lives are lost and thousands are left homeless in the wake of Category 4 Hurricane Katrina, followed by Rita and Wilma. The tragedy spurs contributions of money, talents, homes, food and more in an attempt to raise spirits and rebuild the area.

RISE FROM THE STORMS

Homes across the country are opened to families left homeless in the wake of Hurricane Katrina.

Thousands of volunteers help Habitat for Humanity rebuild homes in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.
