Logan Baxstrom, how did you imagine your summer to be?

"A summer full of suspense, climaxes, and a few calm periods."

Omar Mendoza, did you let the weather decide your summer?

"Yes, in a way, the weather was phenomenal so I got to show off my beach bod."

Where Did You...

1. Kenneth Del Mundo, 4th of July 2. Randy Estrin (9) with his sister Rebecca in San Francisco, California 3. JD Langert, 4th of July

Benz Guillermo, what was the best part about your summer?

"The best part of my summer was going to Tennessee where I met a lot of people from all over the country and also working at the Waterfront Restaurant while serving the best Asian food in town."

Mena Heini, did anything extremely interesting happen to you over the summer?

"I went to Washington DC for Democracy in Action with 17 other Ketchikan people. We met up with 18 Hawaiian kids, split into groups and made a bill on a specific topic. We had a mini congress and toured DC."

Knowledge on Hold...

Though school is off for three months, we still learn

Knowing that the summer started off with people leaving our rock, some students actually learn quite a lot, from being a deckhand, to learning about democracy, or perhaps traveling abroad. Nicholas Whicker (12), who spent one week in Washington D.C., said "You learn more life skills outside of school, you get a taste of the real world." Though some don't go as far as learning about democracy in D.C., many stay home to work and save money. Evan Wick (12) said, "The majority of the student population at Kayhi obtains their education in career opportunities through the jobs that are offered. Companies today are not looking for a piece of paper that says you can do the job, they're looking for experience which can be found in the summer jobs in Ketchikan."

Knowledge

Class Act Mentors and Freshmen

Knowledge is something the Kings love to share. When freshmen need a guide, they can always count on their mentors. Class Act mentors are made up of high schoolers that have already had a year or more in Kayhi. This allows older students to give newer ones advice they've found helpful throughout their high school career so that the transition to a new school can be easier. Mentor and junior Regan Cloudy confesses, "Even though planners are a pain to carry around at first, I've found them to be life savers! Writing assignments down is a great way to stay organized. Plus, the ladies love a man that's put together." Mentors help the freshmen with any questions they have; from where their classes are on the first day, to how finals are handled.

Kayhi's 2013-2014 Exchange Students

Luigi Bandino is an exchange student from Italy. He likes the food here, but thinks Italian food is better. Originally he had chosen USA, Canada, and Great Britain as the countries he wanted to go on exchange to. Thankfully, Alaska is much better than he had expected it to be. In Italy, he had to go to school on Saturdays and not any of the activities given here were available at his school. He has enjoyed making lots of new friends but he misses his family and friends back home.

Jooyoung Park is an exchange student from South Korea. He enjoys playing soccer and video games. His favorite subject in school is PE, because it is a lot of fun and does not involve too much work. He likes the school better here, but he is finding the language a bit challenging.

Frederik Bjerger is an exchange student from Denmark. Even though he had been hoping to go somewhere hot like California or Arizona, he has found Ketchikan to be warmer than he had expected. He really misses Danish food but he says, "The American food is every different from the food we have back home, but I like it a lot!" He also really misses his twin and older sister. He enjoys going to school with a lot of people around his age because it is not like that in Denmark, but he thinks school over there is more social since you get to stay with the same group of people all day and become closer.

Ryo Shikichi is an exchange student from Japan. He has liked making new friends, but finds Ketchikan to be "so-so". He plays soccer in Japan and is currently participating in indoor soccer. He misses friends, but is not too homesick.

Eleonora Biancareddu came from Italy, just like Luigi. This has been the second time she has been in America so she would like to visit Asia or South Africa sometime in the future. She had originally chosen to come to the United States, but didn't know where and she says, "Alaska was a big surprise, but I'm really happy to spend my year in a place that few people visit." Her favorite thing is the scenery of the ocean and the mountains. She loves her family very much and misses spaghetti.

Holly O'Brien was an exchange student in Ecuador her sophomore year. She was introduced to a variety of new experiences. She attended military school with her host sister. Although she never had homework, they would have to stand outside in formation for an hour every morning. During summer vacation, her second host family took her on a lot of trips around Ecuador so she could see the diversity of the country. They took her to the beach three times and visited her host mom's hometown, Loja. Rotary also offered five trips, all of which she went on. She went to a Spanish camp in September at a beach resort, a beach trip in October, went to the Amazon in February, the Galapagos in March, and to a conference/ mountain region tour in May. She loved the experience and says, "It was the hardest year of my life so far and I'm so grateful to have had the opportunity."

Krongkarn Kiatmanachi is from Thailand. She enjoys playing the piano and singing. She would like to visit New York someday since it is a big city with a lot of variety. This year, she has made lots of new friends, improved her English, and has become more interested in sports. She misses home, but is enjoying her time in Ketchikan.

Lisa Torres came back from exchange in Brazil. She was able to meet new people, learn a unique language, and have once in a lifetime opportunities. She admits that it wasn't the easiest year of her life, but she's very glad she was able to go through it. Going on exchange allowed her to grow in ways she never thought possible. She says, "Eu tenho saudades do meu tempo no Brasil. Foi o ano da minha vida." Which means, "I miss my time in Brazil. It was the year of my life."

Two thumbs up from Micah Long (12)!

"What I'm looking forward to most my senior year is Graduation and after I graduate I hope to attend SOU for my nursing degree," says Senior Alex Daniel.

"My favorite part about the senior float was that it was exciting! And more fun than I expected," says Shanna Anderson (12).

"At first the float was boring, but my favorite part was when the music started everyone was up to beat and we were all energetic! Which was a good thing," says Benz Guillermo (12).

The Kings have it all!

The class of 2014 showing their excitement on the Senior Float

Kayhi seniors this fourth of July got lucky this year with amazing weather! The sun was shining, and it was hot out, which made the seniors even more pumped and excited. It has been a tradition that every fourth of July the seniors get together to create a float representing their class of whatever year. This year's theme was "let Freedom Rave!" The float was bright with neon colors, with the seniors dancing, fist pumping, and waving their hands in the air like they just don't care!

"It is exciting that I am on my final step in my high school career and I get to be placed out in the real world here shortly. It makes me feel like I am finally growing up and I can see the finish line in view and I am so close to succeeding," says Kirsten Loertscher (12).

Autumn at Kayhi

This fall, Kayhi started off well with the new school year. Many activities and sports began, with many members of the debate team qualifying for state. Sophomore Zane Welker said "Swimming and dive this year was a lot of fun. There were also many new members to join the team." The weather this fall started off cold and rainy. The most precipitation on average occurs in October, with nineteen inches of rain, and this year was no different.

The cross country put in their full potential this year

Alex Daniels (12)

Kayhi's cross country runners this year did a phenomenal job at their meets. Records were beat from a few to many seconds, and as they say, the time gets shaved off your clock the further you get into the season. The team worked their heels off this year, with many people qualifying for state. "It teaches you about mentally pushing yourself, not just physically. It's a sport where you're competing with yourself a lot, so you have to be motivated by your own goals," said junior Zoe Smith. This year, the team got to feel the different types of ground under their feet, and weather in the air. They got to run on dirt, and gravel in the outdoors, while feeling the rain or sunshine on their skin, from Wrangell, and Juneau to Craig and Sitka making each run feel different from another. The individuals involved in cross country made it feel more of a team sport than an independent one, and more as a family together in the sport than team members. "Most people run a race to see who is fastest. I run a race to see who has the most guts," said senior Alex Daniels.

Klash of the Kings

Kings making history

KayhiKings football team was something else this year. With more experienced players, the Kings are looking for a better season than last year, which was a non-winning season. They started off this season without last year's starting quarterback T. McBurnette (11) due to knee surgery. Coach Lester Silva replaced him with senior Justin Covault (12). Kings lost the first three games. Then they went on a five game winning streak which placed them in the playoffs. This is the first time the Kings football team has ever been in the playoffs. The Kings this year were also the first team to beat Thunder Mountain H.S.

Coach Silva towards the end of the season got sick and missed a game. With Coach Silva's team making history he also received the "Coach of the Year" award from all of the other coaches in the conference.

"Our season went excellent. Stars are going to shine for us. A lot of people are going to recognize our team and notice we're legit. Watch out for Ketchikan," Coach Silva said.

Keep Calm and Volley On!

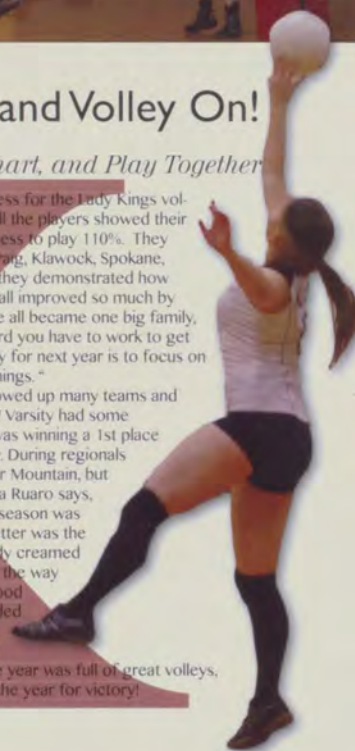

They Play Hard, Play Smart, and Play Together

Kills, aces, digs, and blocks were a success for the Lady Kings volleyball team! With nearly fifty people on the team, all the players showed their hard work, talent, positive attitude, and their willingness to play 110%. They played teams from Juneau, Petersburg, Wrangell, Craig, Klawock, Spokane, and Anchorage. C team had many new players on, they demonstrated how dedication and teamwork was the way to go. They all improved so much by the end of the season. Cassie Montero explains, "We all became one big family, and I enjoyed how fun it was. I also realized how hard you have to work to get where you want. The thing I will work on to be ready for next year is to focus on little things, because that's what affects the major things."

JV had many wins and killer serves. They showed up many teams and scored to 25 a little too fast, but that's a good thing! Varsity had some memorable wins. Their most memorable moment was winning a 1st place bronze trophy in Anchorage at the Diamond Tourney. During regionals they started off with an exciting win against Thunder Mountain, but the second game ended their season. Captain Felicia Ruaro says, "The moment the other team scored we knew the season was over. Knowing that we could have won and done better was the worst feeling. Especially knowing that we had already creamed that team the night before. But not everything goes the way we want it to, most of us did want it, but it wasn't good enough. We didn't put in the hard work that we needed to and I think we realized that, but that is what gives us motivation for next year. It was good while it lasted, we just have to make next year better." The year was full of great volleys, laughs, and memories. They hope next year will be the year for victory!

The swimmers were a Knockout

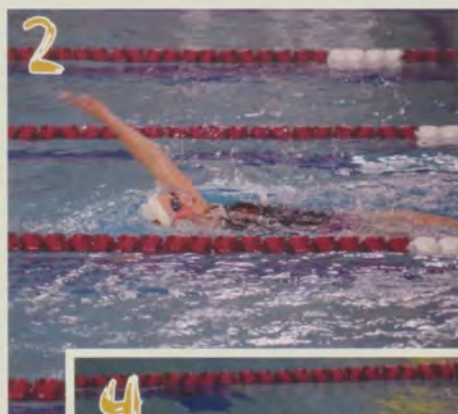

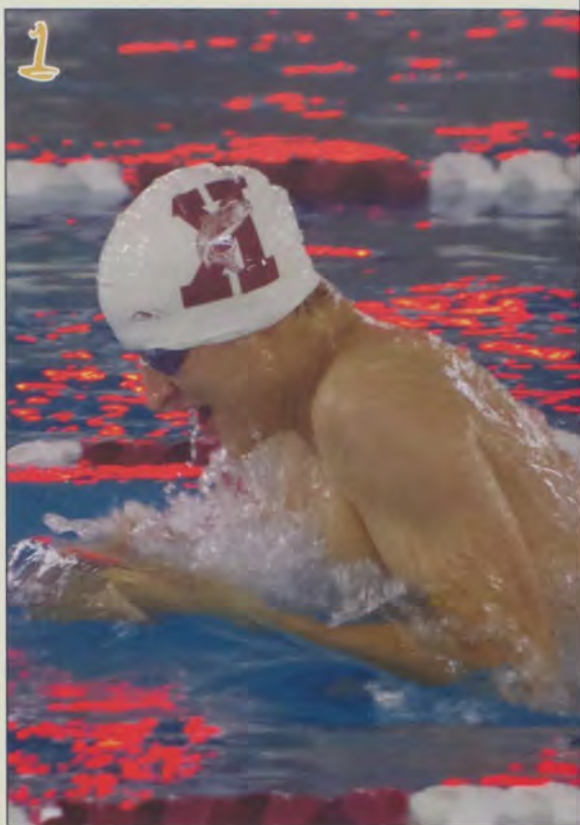

The race down this year's lane.

Kick into gear for the season: The time of fall, when the school begins, when sports start, and when swimmers get their trunks and swimwear ready to go. This is one devoted team that looks forward to doing their best in every competition they perform in. "Swimming is the definition of hard work, and how it pays off. You get out what you put in," says Beau Albertson (12). With that said, this year's swim and dive had a great year with many people beating their records and getting a better time racing down the lane. Kayhi's swim team this year bonded with one another.

"I would say this year the team got a lot closer than in the past years, and that really helped when practices started getting hard. I had a lot of fun getting to know the new swimmers and spending more time with the ones I already know!" says Madeline Stephens (12). This team was so close this year that most of the boys on the team dyed their hair bleach blonde to look fierce and tie up as a team. The swim team is always accepting if you're looking for something to do this next fall. They say that swimming is one of the best sports for your body, so if you're looking to get in shape, have a good time with some new people or just to waste some time next fall, dive in.

You'd think so if you saw our very own kayhi swim team! Talk about team bonding, this team had all the boys bleach their hair to all match. As you can see in the picture of Kayhi's Caleb Kuikhoven (12) to the right and Austin Erickson (11) to the left.

Costumes

What is your costume and why did you wear it?

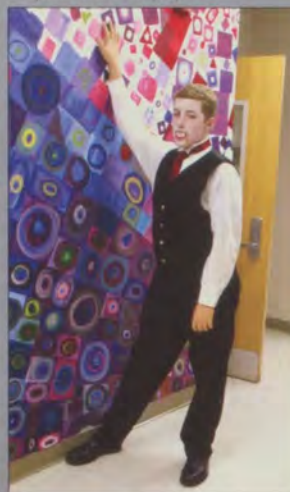

"An alien from Toy Story, because I like aliens and the green alien men are cool!"
-Clara Stanton (10)

"An astronaut! I really like astronauts. I think they're really cool!"
-AJ Cadiente (9)

"A vampire from the 1800s. It was a last minute costume, and I was like 'Sounds good!'"
-Wyatt Anderson (10)

"I dressed up as a Walking Dead zombie because I love the show. I thought it would be a great way to show that you don't always have to buy a costume. Aspiring to be a scary zombie. I did everything at home and accomplished it, spooking people in the hallways."
-Emily Anzueta (12)

Kayhi's Halloween Keeping Up The Spirit

Kayhi students really took advantage of the one day of the year when you can acceptably dress up weird and it's okay. The students really kept the spirit alive. The hallways felt crazy with excitement for Halloween. Students definitely presented some great, and strange, costumes this year, including unicorns, nerds, pirates, basketball players and more. "Halloween was very festive and a lot of people dressed up. I fell down the stairs because I was wearing Stilettos," said Kinani Halvorsen (9). Hopefully next year will be even better, with more awesome costumes. "Halloween was great! It's a fun time and the best part is getting free candy," Kristina Hulse (10).

"Definitely, the past years have been themes, but this year is better because my friends and I made our costumes together and it's more organized."
-Jillianne Fazakerley (12)

Fall Concert

Fall is a great time for Kayhi's first concert of the school year. Concert Choir, Symphonic Band, and Wind Ensemble performed a few spectacular pieces for the audience. Concert Choir performed songs such as The Terrible Tale of Tom Gulligan, Miserere Mei, Soon-Ah-Willie Done, and Baba Yetu. Duncan Menzies and Tim Kulharich helped with some percussion instruments and Hana Oshima accompanied with the piano. Symphonic Band played excellent songs like Two Irish Folk Songs, Song without Words, March of the Minuettes, and Seamus. Wind Ensemble played great songs such as Meridian Beach March, Chant and Snag Dances, and Pirates of the Caribbean. The Fall concert was like a falling leaf browned with the age of autumn. As it majestically floated to the Earth, the notes of our instruments gently fell upon the ears of our listeners," said Jillianne Fazakerley (12).

Kept in the Cold

Time for the sports to start and the crowd to start cheering.

Keevin' up with the games this winter? You could've kept warm inside while watching the Kayhi Kings play basketball. The teams had a phenomenal season; both boys and girls went to regions, and the girls qualified for state. Now, let's not forget about the cheerleaders and K-Highlight dancers, who never failed to cheer on the team and excite the crowd. The pep club and pep band were there to pick you up when you felt a little dead on the court, they would make some noise and cheer for the Kings. Wrestlers this winter did fantastic, with many qualifying to go to state in Anchorage. This winter Kayhi held an SBA retreat, where they bonded with their fellow SBA-ers and spent the night in the school. They had many activities planned for the peers and themselves. We had a robotics competition held in Ketchikan for the first time this winter. ACDC went up to state as well. It was a time filled with a lot of snow, but even more enjoyment.

Kayhi's wrestlers did great this season

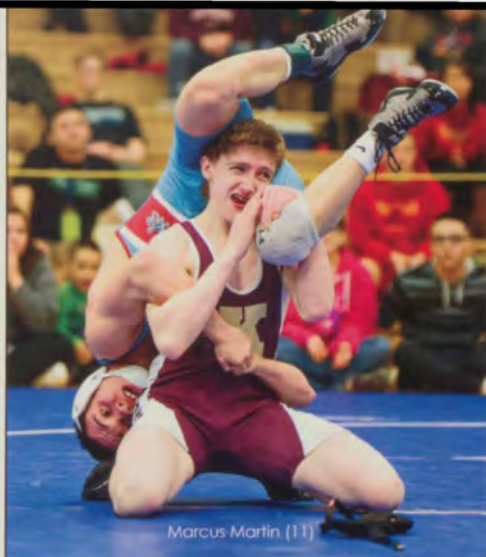

Kings take it to the top this year for wrestling, with many qualifying to go state in anchorage. The wrestlers went to Washington to compete this year as well. "Going to Washington really helped us get better competition before we went up to state," said Marcus Martin (11). While they were throwing each other on the mats and getting their moves down, Coach Collins had his first year back as the wrestling coach. "It was a new environment with a new coach, but we all got along well and made a individual sport feel like a team sport," said Davon Wake (12). It takes support and courage to get motivated to do your best in this sport, every individual has to push their own limits and go as hard as they can to win their matches. The team won in points at regions held in Ketchikan this year. The team had Marcus Martin place 3rd in State, our highest placed wrestler this year. All the members of the team worked their hardest and plan to work even harder next year.

Killer Performance

The Lady Kings Basketball team dominated this season

Keeping up with tradition, the Lady Kings Basketball team once again had an extremely successful season. The team is coached by Kelly Smith and managed by senior Hayley Nichols. They started off their season with a win against West Anchorage and continued striving for excellence from there. "My favorite part of the basketball team is that the entire team goes for the same goal, and we work really hard together to get there. I look forward to playing because it's fun, and a stress reliever," says Junior Tabitha Gordanier. The Lady Kings received first place in our hometown tournament, the Clark Cochran Christmas Classic. The team also received first place in the Region V tournament. "The best part about being on the basketball team is the fact that we are all so close and during season we are like a family," said sophomore Charley Edwardson.

"My favorite part of basketball season is traveling around to different towns and seeing all sorts of talent, and I also like how much fun the team has together." -Charley Edwardson (10)

"Playing basketball throughout all my high school years has been such a great experience. The part that I disliked the most were practices but then it always paid off in the game and made it worth it. The reason I played was to be involved in a sport and then it became so much more than that. The team was my family and this year especially we were closer than ever. My favorite game was during the Clarke when we took first in the tournament." -Brooke Simmons (12)

Inspirational Words

Sayings that Coach Smith always repeats that the players will never forget

Killer Dance Moves

K-highlights Dance Team

K-highlights Dance Team started their season with high expectations from Southeast Alaska this year. They lived up to their outstanding reputation by having long hours of practice and guest choreographers. They had five very complex and entertaining routines that won over the crowd during games. The team performed 2 Hip-Hop, a Pom, and Jazz routine during their regular season. Sophomore Nedalyn Gonzales says, "The really thug Hip-Hop routine was by far my favorite to perform!" They also performed their Tournament, "Dream Circus", routine during Regions. The routine got a rating of Superior, which the K-highlights Dance Team had not achieved in Juneau since the year 1999. Senior and Captain Crysta Davis says, "Getting a Superior in Juneau felt like a huge weight was lifted off my shoulders! Like all the long practices and sweat were worth it." This year was very successful for the team and once again, ended their season by being Southeast's favorite.

They are loud and proud

Knuckle down, buckle down, do it do it do they! This year the cheer team had an awesome season. They learned many stunts and cheers! Marleina Dundas says, "I learned to stunt and stay light which really helped me from falling." Practice definitely makes perfect for the cheer team. Everything was done over and over again. "Just one more time!" was a phrase they went by.

The team consisted of 25 people; JV and Varsity team. The Girls perfected round offs, backhand springs, back tuck, aerial and arabesques. They also succeeded in doing the basket toss with flyer, Havalah Clark (9). Sophomore Adie Barajas explains, "We've improved a lot since last year, and Kristina didn't break my neck so that's good!" Coach Sleeper reminds the girls to "Never stop trying, never stop believing, and never give up."

Pep Band plays great tunes for basketball games all season

Key points of Pep Band are to play loud and have fun. Pep Band has been playing some great music this year at the basketball games. They always get the crowd pumped up and excited. The Pep Band practices a lot so they can play really good songs. Many people can recognize the awesome hits that they play, such as "Crazy Train," "Another One Bites The Dust," "Holiday," "Bad to the Bone" and "Thriller." All of the Pep Band members enjoy their time playing in the band. They even have dance motions in "My Sharona." "Pep Band is the coolest ever and everyone should play an instrument," said drummer Duncan Menzies (11).

Pep Club's Keen Spirit

Pep club cheers on the basketball team

Kayhi students kept up the spirit this year for Pep Club. They made tons of cool locker posters and signs to put in the gym. Pep Club always had interesting themes for basketball games, and some people, such as Hitsati Hudson (11) and Josh Timmerman (10), really dressed up for the themes. Some of the themes this year were camouflage, white out, pink night, and America.

"My first year of Pep Club has been really fun and exciting," said Rizza Rodriguez (9). All of the Pep Club students that went to regionals had a good time cheering on the Kings.

Kayhi Kings always show their team spirit

Kayhi Seniors Nicholas Whicker, Keefe Blankenship, Kohl Hallman, and Sophomore Alex Pihl host our pep assemblies with games between classes and performances by cheerleader's, while the school's pep band plays upbeat music. Pep assemblies are a fun way to gather the school together to honor past events, to get to know how our teams are doing during season, and to get our students loud and excited to cheer the teams on! Senior John Dillon says, "The pep rallies are really chill, especially the performances. I like the part when people were shooting basketballs blindfolded and the part with that zombie dance was cool."

Ignite the Memories

Dancing The Night Away In the King's Palace

It was a lovely night for the Winter Ball! This year the theme was King's Palace. The Pep Club and dance committee made a beautiful castle, surrounding the whole commons area. Decorations filled all around the dance floor for a night to remember. Great music was played and many pictures were taken. Freshman McKenna Kimball says, "My favorite part of Winter Ball was the lights and the music choices. I also liked dressing up and getting ready with my friends. I also liked that a lot of people came, but it wasn't even crowded. I can't wait for all the other dances during my high school years!"

White Out, Kings Palace, Hoe Down, and Homecoming were all the themes for the dances this year!

Intense Game

Region V Basketball Tournament 2014

Intense games and performances were seen during the Region V Tournament in Juneau this year. Excitement radiated through everybody, and all who participated had a fun time. Our Kayhi Kings led a successful season and made everybody proud during regionals. Boys Basketball did a great job obtaining a second place at regions. The Lady Kings conquered their games and won first place. The K-highlights Dance team got a rating of Superior for their tournament routine and the Cheer-leading team had astounding performances and got second place. All of the teams' hard work payed off and ended their seasons feeling accomplished. Freshman K-highlights dancer Sienza Chandler says, "Regionals was definitely very stressful and hectic but it was also very rewarding. You could tell that everybody was working hard to accomplish their goals and it was great to see how all the teams achieved them."

Inquiring Those Funny Stories

Stories from students and teachers are shared throughout

Inquiring about funny stories from students and teachers is extremely entertaining and definitely a lot of fun. When asked if she ever heard anything funny a student said, math teacher Jen Karlik responded, "Late after school I overheard two students in the hallway talking, 'Just use these four simple words: will-you-go-out-with-me!' 'That's six words man.'" Although some of us don't have dating issues we may know some people who are not quite up to date with today's music. "Ms. Wallen heard me singing along to a song. She had asked me, 'Who sings this song?' I had said, 'Ginuwine' and she said, 'maybe you should let him sing it,'" explained Devon McDonald (12). Perhaps it's not music or dating issues that some people have, maybe it is trying to understand why Chemistry teacher Sean Powell does mysterious labs. "Beans and gummy bears..." Mr. Powell had the chemistry students complete a lab about large amounts of beans and gummy bears, no one knows why," said Owen Tarpy (11). All in all, teachers and students at Ketchikan High School are strange, but quite entertaining.

Clubs Available at Kayhi

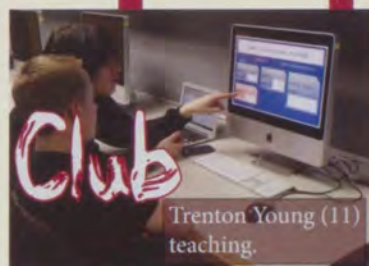

Imagine being part of a group that allows you to learn new skills while having fun with people who have the same interests. Kayhi Clubs give students that opportunity. This year Health, Programming, and Archery Club were introduced to Kayhi students. Health Club was a brand new club and was lead by Sharayah Taylor. They met bimonthly to discuss their process and gave each other health tips. Programming Club was lead by Junior Trenton Young. First timers learned how to make web pages. Once they got past that stage, they would go into making some games and learning to use Java. Archery was also new and was lead by Mr. Scarzella. They met twice every week during zero hour on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Mr. Scarzella says, "Some kids have a class during zero hour and they still come."

Industrial Robots

The Robotics team put all their thought into this years robot.

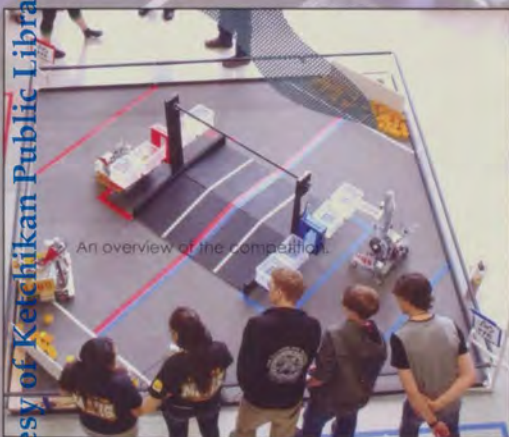

Into the depth of the robot is where these students are. Kayhi's robotics team this year had a great time at their First Tech Challenge. At this competition Kayhi got 2nd place, while their robot was ranked 7th. At this competition they are ranked by points by a referee that is judging their moves. First Tech Challenge or, FTC, is an exciting and fun global robotics program that ignites an enthusiasm for science, technology and a discovery in our students and teaches them concepts, principles of leadership and how to work as a team. "I was really glad to be part of the robotics team. It takes a lot of knowledge to get your robot to perform the tasks it does, but I believe as a team we did great," said Sage Acteson (10). This is a task that has a lot of knowledge put into it. From programming the robot to start the competition off with the autonomous period, to driving it with controllers, the team had it all planned out smoothly. "As the coach of robotics I get the privilege of seeing young people learn skills such as programming and mechanics, that they may not have had an opportunity to do otherwise. Robotics goes from excitement, frustration, clarity and ends with accomplishment," said the robotics Coach, Ms. Whyte. So if you're looking for a way to explore the engineering and scientific part of your mind, join the robotics team next year!

An overview of the competition.

Kayhi Tech's robot picking up blocks.

What is a robotics competition

The robotics team had to get their robots in the competition floor and for the first 30 seconds is the autonomous start where you program your robot to go on its own and get points. You can get points by either making your robot go on the ramp or put a block into the basket or underneath the baskets. After that you pick up your two remotes, and have two drivers and a coach. During this time you can either get the blocks in the baskets balanced or you can make a flag rise up or get your robot to hang from the bar on the competition floor. These all have different scoring ways and there are a couple refs judging your robot while you perform, to see who will win with the highest score.

Inquisitive Thinking

Whether on a plane, ferry, or bus, Debators must practice everything they know for their competitions

Ingenious minds are put to the test in Debate through trial and error, nervousness, and even worse. "The epic humiliation I had to go through was debating the toughest debater, Owen Fulton of Sitka High, because his voice was tuneful," said Michael Salita (10). The Ketchikan High School Debate Drama and Forensics team traveled to Haines, Sitka, Wrangell, and Juneau for competitions that seemed like a fight to the death. Over half of the Debate team consisted of new students that have rocked the podium, such as Cheyenne Mathews and Ella Sherrill, who made it to multiple final debates. Ketchikan had one of the best teams in Southeast Alaska this year with Oratorical, Expository, Extemporaneous Commentary, and Extemporaneous Speaking, with many students finaling more than twice. "Speeches are probably the hardest part of being on a debate team. I have to say I'm extremely impressed with how the new debaters did this year," said Claire Landis (11). This debate season has ended with great improvements with every student from start to finish. Good job Debaters!

An Inside Look

National Ocean Science Bowl receives a great ocean science education

Intelligent people are in NOSB. National Ocean Science Bowl is an academic activity that focuses on learning about ocean-related topics for competitions. They study hard and eventually make a 20-page-long research paper. Although NOSB is a nationwide program, Alaska is the only state that writes a research paper.

"National Ocean Science Bowl is a challenge but it's all worth it in the end," said Micah Briola (11). The mascot of Ketchikan's National Ocean Science Bowl is the "saber-toothed salmon." This year's team consisted of five people with Julie Landwehr as the coach, and the small team did well.

"National Ocean Science Bowl is a fun and challenging way to test my knowledge on ocean science," said Keenan Sanderson (11).

Academic Decathlon has had a very successful season

Interesting things happen in ACDC. The Academic Decathlon team did very well this year. They had more people on the team than last year, but it was still a fairly small group. Academic Decathlon studies really hard to take tests and do competitions. This year's topic was World War II. The group consisted of nine people, and Candace Robb was the coach of the team. They spent countless hours studying and working hard so they could compete.

"Travelling with the Academic Decathlon team has been a really amazing experience!" said Kessa Elliott (9). Academic Decathlon had such a successful season that they went to the statewide competition that takes place in Anchorage in February.

Let Your Inner Leader Come Out

SBA leaders come alive

In a world we become leaders. Derek Peterson helped some students become strong leaders at the SBA retreat. They played many games and activities. One of the games they played was called Crossing the Fence. The point of the game was to get everyone over a high rope without touching it, and if someone touched everyone had to start over. Mr. Peterson said they did a great job, because most groups he has all the guys try to jump over, and don't make it so they have to start over. This group didn't have to start over at all. Everything they did he turned into a metaphor, and instead of saying becoming a leader he said become a big balloon. "I wanted to be in SBA to become more involved with the students and the school and represent the student body via my school board position," said SBA President Evan Wick (12).

Careers With Ms. Hagemann and Machado

In Ms. Hagemann and Machados' Careers class, students learn valuable skills that they can apply to their near futures. It is a semester-long class where students learn about their interests and are given guidance for their future. They learn how to properly fill out resumes and job applications as well as how to have outstanding job interviews. Students also go on field trips to understand the variety of workplaces and behavior for them. Sophomore Max Oaksmith says, "Careers has been a really helpful class because it has organized my thoughts on what I want to do."

Well, We're Pretty Nifty

The real story behind the yearbook class.

elliawan

Never a dull moment when you come into this class. Yearbook is a great way to bring your creative mind into action. When you join yearbook you are making a big impact on how this year will look. This year's class may be small, with only 9 students, and 3 returning students, but we are all full of determination and commitment giving each page our full potential. "My first year in yearbook has been really fun. Everyone is always laughing and now we all have countless inside jokes," says freshman Brooke Mickel. In this class you learn the ways of designing and advertising. You get to design the way you want your page and it goes through the junior editors, Joann Paule or Sara Collins, before moving on to the editor-in-chief Naomi Updike. "I really enjoy having a fair say in what goes in the yearbook and how it is designed by the first year students in the class; getting to design your own pages makes you be creative," says Junior Joann Paule. After the process of us fixing mistakes on pages it goes to Mr. Cron and his evil green pen. We work on the pages until almost perfection is reached. This is a very close class with that said, we all can joke around with each other, and every day there is laughter in the room. It is a good way to end your day with good people, good pages, and a good class.

Knowledgeable about Language

Spanish students learn about Hispanic language and culture

Kayhi Spanish class is a great opportunity to learn Spanish. The class is taught by Steven McLaren who speaks Spanish as a second language. They're always learning something new about Spanish culture and even have fiestas where everyone has to bring a Hispanic dish to share with the class. "My favorite part about Spanish class is bringing food and eating at the fiestas," says Havalah Clark (9). "I like learning about other peoples cultures from around the world!" says Taylor Moody (9). Towards the end of the class everyone gets to make their own pinata of whatever they want. It's an awesome experience and very fun!

French with Madame Zelensky

Imagine being able to understand more than one language. Students who are in French class are one step closer to achieving that goal. The French 1 class gets to learn basic words and start performing short skits, also known as "Mini Contes", where they get to incorporate new vocabulary they've learned and comprehend it better. Freshman Pablo Orta says, "Mini contes are a lot of fun because we play around with them sometimes and Madame Z gets frustrated."

While French 1 stays in the present, French 2 begins to learn past and future tense. Their "Mini Contes" become more complex and last for a couple of minutes. They also learn about the regions of France and create websites on them. Their knowledge of the culture is expanded when they learn about "Mardi Gras" and make masks.

Advanced French is all about increasing skills in vocabulary and comprehension of the French culture through various films. Jade Simons (11), a very big fan of French films, says "French movies are completely different from American films. They don't have the usual 'happy ending' and they always turn out to be way different from what you'd expect." They also created marionettes and made a short skit with them.

- colored paper as mats
- and eye droppers to give the coffee filters a cool water color effect.

The Key to Success

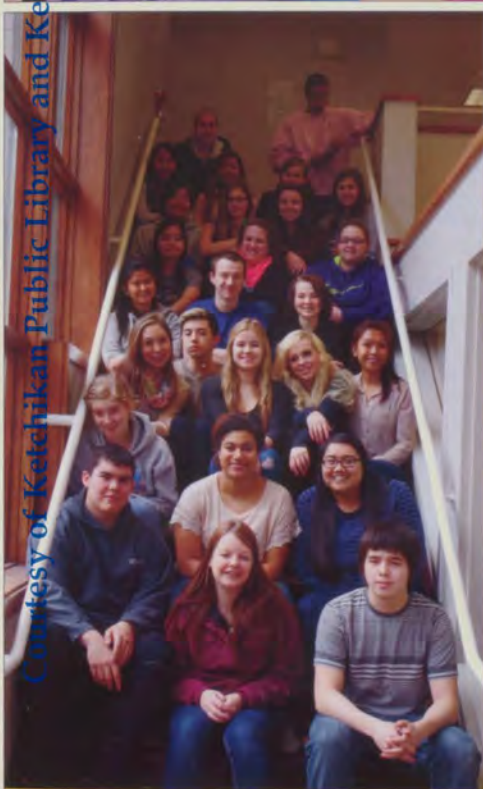

Future Kayhi Kings...

Keeping up with little kids running around and trying to teach them at the same time can be very hard. But some Kayhi students in Child Careers and Child Psychology can be a big help. Kayhi offers Child Careers and Child Psychology, teaching students the mind and behavior of children from prenatal development through adolescence. Kayhi also offers and FEA (Futures Educators of Alaska) club where students compete with each other over scholarships.

"What made me want to take Child Careers was because I've always wanted to be a Kindergarten teacher when I graduate college, and figured taking child careers would help build experience for my goals. The experience of working with kids has taught me that working with young children is not as easy as it looks, but it is extremely rewarding in the end," says junior Claire Landis.

Jump Into Jazz

Kayhi Jazz Band jazzing it up

Impressive skills is what Kayhi Jazz Band has. Jazz Band is a zero hour class. Ms. Pagnotta always says, "You guys look like death warmed over." Luckily their concerts aren't at seven am. Although it's early and they are all extremely tired, they still play very well and get things done. This year they went to Sitka for Sitka Jazz Fest. It was a blast! Jazz Band also participated in Music Fest and did a fantastic job. Jazz Band is a very fun class even though it's a zero hour class. "There's nothing like some cool jazz to start you day off with an adventure," said Jillianne Fazakerley (12).

Incredible Voices

Kayhi Vocal Jazz singin' it loud

In sync, we sing together. Jazz Choir has nine people in it, and is zero hour just like Jazz Band. They sing and occasionally dance. Except for Tommy - he dances all the time. Ms. Purcell always has to say, "Tommy stop dancing!" Jazz Choir agrees that their favorite things about the class are all the shenanigans they do. They also went to Sitka for Sitka Jazz Fest. Their performance got a standing ovation. Jazz Choir did wonderful at Music Fest too.

Never Stop Singin'

Concert Choir singin' it loud

Nothing stops them from singing in Concert Choir. Concert Choir did amazing at all their concerts this year. They also did a great job caroling around the school before Christmas break. Some of the songs the choir sang included "San De Camaguey," "Valparaiso," "The Fall," "Exultate," and "Summer Man." "My favorite part of Choir is when we warm up and feel like everyone relaxes their voice and controls their voice at the same time. Ms. Purcell always teaches us new techniques, like how to sing the right way. I never learned Choir before. It's very interesting and it is my favorite class at Kately," says Morgan Kiatmahachai (11).

-Sienna Chandler (9)

"As I was growing up I've always wanted to play the piano. When I found out that there was a Piano / Music Theory class, I knew that I had to take it."

-Camille Cadiente (9)

"I wanted to learn how to read music and be able to play the piano."

Band Nerds

Wind Ensemble never stops jammin'

Ninety-nine problems, but music ain't one. Wind Ensemble is the upper class-men band, but there are two lucky freshmen in it. "Wind Ensemble is great, because sometimes it doesn't even feel like a class or work, but just a bunch of musicians having fun!" said Kathleen Chaudhary (11). There are thirty-eight instrumentalists in Wind Ensemble. They do the same stuff as Symphonic Band, play music, but are more organized and more advanced. Wind Ensemble is more advanced, but careful "If you play by smell you stink," Ms. Pagnotta always says. "And close only counts in horseshoes and hand grenades."

Make Some Noise

Freshmen band always keeps it loud

Newbies rule in symphonic band. There are twenty-six people in the group. It is an all freshman band. They are defiantly loud and they know it, except the trumpets are always quiet. Ms. Pagnotta always tells the trumpets "P is for power". Although band is fun and goofy, you have to stay on track. You have to do better than you did at the last concert. They were able to participate in Music Fest because Ketchikan is hosted it this year. It was a great new experience for all of them. "My favorite thing about band is that I like playing in sync with the band," said Gabriel Canfield (9).

Stop at Nothing

Boys Conditioning guys go hard in the gym

Nothing can stop the guys in Boys Conditioning class. The class is taught by Nick Pader and Rick Collins, who both have lots of experience in weight training. Each day they do a different set of workouts such as a cardio run outside one day, and then a weight lifting day in the gym another day. "The best part of Boys Conditioning class is making fun of Mr. Pader," says freshman Larson Nebl. The Boys Conditioning class helps improve guys' self esteem and maybe even meet some new people that have the same passion for working out and improving their health. "My favorite part of the class is getting jacked and strong," says sophomore Jason James.

Never-ending workouts for the girls conditioning class! This class is taught by Sandra Pagnotta. They do a variety of workouts such as cardio, yoga, pilates and sometimes on nice days even go out running in the sun. "I love girls conditioning, it has helped me decide to go into a career involving health and exercise. My favorite part of girls conditioning is being able to set goals and meet them," says senior Nicole Emmert. It's a great class for girls that want to get in shape or even just get their daily exercise in! "My favorite part of girls conditioning is being able to set and reach goals for myself, it makes me feel more in control of my body and gives me confidence in my self-determination," says freshman Audrey Kistler.

Useful Skills??

What's the most useful thing you have learned in Maritime?

"One important thing I have learned in Maritime is the survival safety. I think I will be able to use those skills a lot in life."

-Noah Silva (11)

"Cleaning the boat is my favorite thing to do in Maritime and it's also a skill that I can use elsewhere. Maybe when I buy my own boat, I'll know how to clean it."

-Matthew Kelly (11)

"I think that the most important that I have learned is being able to actually go out on a boat instead of being in a classroom and learn, working with your hands and learning that way is a great experience."

-Corbin Shaw (10)

Navigation at its finest

The Maritime class had a fun and exciting year while learning at the same time

Not exactly what you would expect from a regular class, even better! Maritime class taught by Mr. Collins is very useful for anyone who wants to navigate through waters and be keen with those skills. Some skills the students learn during the semester are: tying many different knots, splicing ropes, reading maps, putting on survival suits in the water and have a chance to go out on the school owned boat. The students get to take a field trip to the swimming pool and practice putting on survival suits in the water to prepare for real life experiences. "My favorite part of the Maritime class is that I get to learn skills that I will actually use in life unlike math class. Also there are my friends in the class, which makes it even more fun," says junior Noah Silva.

Nutritious Culinary

Never Stop Cooking!

Never forget to wash your hands in culinary class. This is one of the basic rules that the students in Doug Edwards' culinary classes use in class.

Everyday, Mr. Edwards and his students prepare great food. The zero-hour culinary class prepares and sells breakfast each day, such as breakfast burritos, pancakes, and biscuits with gravy, and sometimes the other culinary classes make and sell lunches. During a typical day in culinary class, students prepare the salad bar for lunch, make food, and sometimes food.

Some foods that the culinary classes make often are miniature pizzas, wraps, salads, and hamburgers. "Mr. Edwards is the bomb! My favorite food that he makes are the pizzas," Patricia Weokoluk (9).

Native Art Fun

Notorious Art is Made by Native Art Students

Native art students have made some great art projects this year. Barbara Pearce teaches Native art to students that are interested in learning Alaska Native cultural art. They get the privilege of painting Native art pieces and learning how to bead and sew to make a variety of different kinds of bags. Native art students also learn to carve. "I like teaching my students to make everything, but I probably like teaching carving the most," said Ms. Pearce.

Noteworthy Craftmanship

During Drawing and Painting class and Pottery class each student found their talent in making art pieces this year

Not every class you get to have fun and learn at the same time! pottery class and Drawing and Painting class are both taught by Louise Kern, and are a great way to express your abilities. One of the projects in Pottery class that all of the students have a fun time making are the mosaics, where they get to use all different colors of glass and can design anything that expresses themselves. "My favorite part of Pottery is that it's the one class out of the day that I get to let my creativity flow, and there's no right or wrong answers," says Senior Megan Dial. One of the creative projects that the Drawing and Painting class have the opportunity to make are self-portraits. It's fun to see the finished projects in the hall and to try and see if we can tell who the person is. "Being able to express your ideas and interests through art is my favorite part of Drawing and Painting class," says junior Chloe Miller.

The Inside Scoop

Looking at the makeup of a small engine

"In small engines class our main project that we work on is taking apart this small engine and then being timed on putting it back together" -George Bolton (9)

Starting up fly wheel

George Bolton (9)

"My favorite part of the General Service Tech class is changing the tires on the cars we work on. I like changing tires because it's probably the task that I'm best at, so I can get it done pretty quick. Something that I am excited to learn is how to run the OBD2 sensor, which is basically the computer inside cars. I will definitely be taking General Service Tech class again next year. And I recommend this class to anyone who either just likes cars or to anyone who plans on ever driving. This class has taught me a lot about how to maintain my truck and fix things when needed." Nick Taylor (11)

Neater than you would imagine

General Service Tech and Small Engines class rocked this year

If you are ever interested in knowing the in's and out's of an engine take the class Small Engines or General Service Tech classes. In Small Engines class you learn all the major and minor parts of an engine and then get to dismantle the entire motor just to put all the parts back together again. Each student is timed on how fast they are able to put all the pieces back in their proper spots. "My favorite part of Small Engines is knowing how to put an engine back together once all the pieces are apart, it might come in handy someday," says senior Katie Broderick. General Service Tech is one of the most useful classes at Kayhi, learning how to repair or improve your car is a great skill to have. Many of the cars that you learn by working how to work on are teachers' cars that need service and some of Mr. Sweetman's vehicles. "I'd say that the most valuable thing I have learned in General Service Tech class is that a flat head is named a flat blade screwdriver and just the fact that I know how to fix my car if it were broken," says senior Sam Hansen.

Students in Wood Working and Building Construction take a leap into handy craftsmanship

Now with the skills learned in Wood Working and Building Construction, students are able to create gifts, craft items for sale, and gain skills for the future. When asked why he likes Building Construction, Kage Zink (12) responded, "So you can show off your creativity and you don't need to worry about homework, teachers, or classmates. You can get lost in your work and not have a single worry in your head." But the class isn't always easy. Stone Riley (12) said, "The hardest thing about building is designing actually. Building is easy, it's just a process, once you learn that process, it's the same every time. Designing is more complicated because it involves your imagination, which doesn't always make things easy." As it sounds, neither Woodshop nor Building Construction students will ever lose their gift of handy craftsmanship.

OR That

Books or movies?

This

"Movies because I like to see the special effects and it speeds up the time it takes to read a book."
-Chayce Hasty

"I personally would prefer books, but since time is so valuable and limited during school, I would choose movies. Movies are much less time consuming than books."
-Hana Oshima

"Books. With out the books there would be nothing to make a movie out of. The movies from books get everything wrong in them also!"

"I love movies because I can enjoy a story and quickly rather than a few weeks. Hardly ever do I read unless it's for a class assignment. Those Hobbit movies... books are way better."
- Owen Tarpey

"Books, while movies are great for providing visuals it's a lot harder to pack all the same details that books feature into an hour and a half film."
-Faith Jardine

"Books. Movies leave out way too much information."
-Alex Wear

"Books because movies don't always finish a series, books last longer, and many movies are made from good books, and you can read in class more often than you could watch a movie."
-Tyler Bailly

"Definitely movies! Books are boring. There's no reading involved in movies. I don't read unless it's required."

"Senior year has been full of stressful moments and amazing memories! The class of 2014 has exceeded many expectations, and is a class I am proud to be apart of. With only a few months left, the final moments have been some of the scariest yet greatest experiences so far. The ending of high school has definitely been the best part." Lisa Torres (12)

Feeling Golden

All of the Seniors march around the gym during Senior Walk-in Gliding down the gym floor, it's what all the seniors had a chance to do at the start of the year. The teachers line up to congratulate the kids with a high-five as they enter the gym. The class of 2014 sees the day as a great awakening; they realize how close they are to graduating and creating more opportunities for themselves. Senior Walk-in can be a chance for the freshmen, sophomores, and junior classes to congratulate the seniors for making it this far. "Going to Senior Walk-in was the beginning of the end. High school flies by faster than anyone realized, and all the hard work was way worth it in the end," says senior Megan Dial.

Senior Carnival

2014 Class Clown

"The funniest thing that happened at my booth was when a little boy threw a dart and popped a balloon and he jumped up and down screaming yes!" says Allison Seiber (12) on the far right.

"The funniest thing that happened at my booth was when a little kid kept ripping the fishing pole out of the booth" says Kaleb Kuikhoven (12)

The Golden Seniors

They are as good as gold!

Getting ready and setting up the booths for the carnival a day before the big night, the power suddenly went out! Senior Mathew Guerra says, "when the power went out it was definitely a game changer. How the tables have turned also brought everyone closer which was a lot of fun!" But that didn't stop the class of 2014 from getting the job done!

On the night of the seniors big show, they all put on their game face to show the community of Ketchikan what Senior Carnival is all about; fun! And to also give thanks to the parents who helped support our class.

At the end of a successful night, the seniors rushed to clean up. Finishing in less than hour, beating last years 2013 class by only two minutes! Which was just in time for the pizza party!

"Senior Carnival was great! It was really entertaining to watch all of the kids and parents have such a fun time at our biggest night of the year!" says Cheyenne Savage (12)

Above: "During set up I left to go get some tape and when I came back the power was out and I couldn't figure out what was happening haha!" Zach Fraunhofer (12)

Q&A Back In The Day

What was your favorite memory when you were little?

"My favorite memory when I was little is when I went sledding with my cousins for the first time."

Jazen Rodriguez

"When my mom rented a jumpy house during the Fourth of July and had a trampoline and a swimming pool. She would make lots of yummy food and my little friends in the neighborhood would come and party. I thought I was the coolest kid on the block, like I am today."

Sonny Wright

"My favorite childhood memory would have to be when I shot my first deer when I was nine years old and it was a time that I will never forget."

Kyle Mulder

"In fifth grade, after moving during the summer I got to take care of my cousin's cats and I loved them so much that my family got to adopt two of them."

Natalie Shipp

"One of my favorite childhood memories would have to be spending time at my great-grandpa's farm. He taught me a good work ethic and life lessons that still affect me today. We used to live within walking distance of his house. I would feed the chickens, milk the cows, ride goats, and help with crops. This might not seem like much, but he is the only grandparent that I ever grew close to and the one that ever made time for me."

Kristen Loertscher

"Deciding to take a short cut to Fawn Mountain on my walk to school, while attempting to climb the fence that borders the elementary school, I seriously cut a hole in my pants and suffered the embarrassment throughout the long day."

Favorite High School Memory?

Keefe Blankenship

When we beat JD on our home court and we stormed the court. One Love

Kage Zink
When our Football team became the first team to beat Thunder Mt. on their home field.

Nate Fouse & Hitsati Hudson

How long have you been best friends
3 years

What do you like best about each other

Nate: I like Hitsati's warhawk. How we are like brothers. How I basically live at his house. How we always have the greatest times, and his standards.

Hitsati: I like Nate's man screech, his laugh, personality, and watching him cream kids in football and wrestling.

One of your favorite memories together
All the nights on Hitsati's red couch.

Damon Wake & William Kurtz

How long have you been best friends
Since Freshman year.

What do you like best about each other

Damon: I like Will's beautiful eyes

William: I like Dami's cat shirts and his gorgeous smile.

One of your favorite memories together
Hangin' with the crew at Connal Lake.

Cole Greenup & Tim Kuharich

How long have you been best friends
1 year

What do you like best about each other

What's not to like.

One of your favorite memories together

Whenever we hang out the memories are to be had, so no particular favorite.

Mercy Flores & Cristelle Norcio

How long have you been best friends
Since middle school (5 years).

What do you like best about each other

Mercy: Cristelle is someone who I can tell my most embarrassing moments to and just one of my best friends who just relates to whatever stories, I tell her whether it's family or just what size bra I have.

Cristelle: There is one thing that I really like about Mercy is that she's a friendly girl who always smiles every day. Mercy is someone I can trust. She treats me like her sister, and most of all whenever I have time to tell her who's my crush is, she listens and laughs about it. I love my best friend no matter what! :D

One of our favorite memories with each other is when we almost got into a car accident and practically screamed our heads off, but it wasn't even that serious, in the end we just laughed until our stomachs hurt.

Tommy Varela & Abby Daniels

How long have you been best friends
Since 1st grade.

What do you like best about each other

Tommy: I like how we're pretty much the same exact person and she always tells me when I look fat.

Abby: I like how we beat the crap out of each other and can only stay mad at each other for 5 minutes.

One of your favorite memories together

When we would pull each other up the stairs in sleeping bags yelling "IF YOU'RE MY BESTFRIEND YOU CAN SAVE ME!" #whatswrongwithus

Emily Porter & Maddy Mandt

How long have you been best friends
Since 8th grade.

What do you like best about each other

Emily: Maddy's skidmarks after she leaves

Maddy: Her dazzling personality, she always speaks her mind.

One of your favorite memories together

One of our favorite memories is when we went to Washington for a track and field trip. We got to stay in a church with lots of games and the rest of the team. The car rides to the meets were really fun, we listened to thug music.

Where did you work this summer?

and did the scorching sun make it better or worse?

Dockside Galley

It was over 100° inside the building on the hot days from the grill making the tiny area so heated. No amount of fans cooled us down and it made our boss even crazier. We went jetskiing after work though so the hot was nice. And the hotter we were the busier we were because we are in the marina so people wanted food for their boats." - Taylor Bartholomew (11).

Ketchikan Outdoors

"I worked at Ketchikan outdoors and the weather was always great. Rainy days were fun and gave a new experience but sunny days were always fun too. Rainy days while building a deck for the Collins family sucked but it was usually sunny, which sucked just as much because I got really sun burnt." - Davon Wake (12)

Sweet Mermaids

"I worked at Sweet Mermaids, a coffee and pastry shop downtown. The weather made it miserable. If it was 70° outside, it was 85° inside. We had no air conditioning and the ovens and stove were on all day. The summer heat was a lot to handle." Hailee Miller (11).

Tom's Treasures

"The summer heat made it worse because my store has one door so no air circulation went through the store and we had like 100 display lights. It was always 10° hotter inside than it was outside." - Thomas Varela (11).

"Girl you must be tired, because you have been running through my mind
all day long."
-Brian McGlerman (10)

Let me pick you up
What is your best pick-up line?

"Do you have a Band-aid? I just scraped my knee falling for you."
-Tim Kuharich (11)

"Have you checked your diaper lately? Because you smell like love."
-Emily Porter (11)

"Do you believe in love at first sight? Or do I need to walk by again?"
-Taylor Moody (9)

"How much does a polar bear weigh? Enough to break the ice. Hi I'm Catherine."
-Catherine Hudson (9)

Anyone up for a food fight?

If you were in a food fight what would be your weapon of choice and why?

Business Ads by Lily Vaughn

"A fruit cup because it's liquidy."

-Drewanne Hoyt (9)

"Raw oysters because they are the most effective; I mean if someone gets hit in the head with one they aren't coming back up."

-Grant Hinkle (9)

"Tomatoes because I hate them and because it looks like blood and that's cool."

-Sadie Barajas (10)

"Cake because it's very messy."

-Jacob Shay (10)

"A cheeseburger because it would be funny to see someone get hit with it."

-Antoinina Hammersland-Pillaca (11)

"Tuna fish because it would be bad to get a face full of it."

-Noah Silva (11)

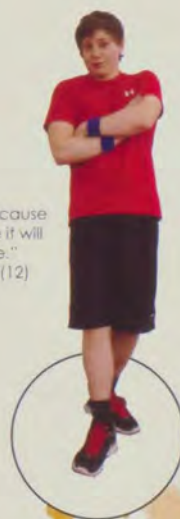

"Spaghetti because it is all-around messy and it would be gross to get on you."

-Danica Rodriguez (12)

"A jelly doughnut because when it hits someone it will get all over their face."

-Christopher Gurske (12)
