

WE ARE

THE Kings
2017 WILLIWAW

Even in treacherous rains, gale-force winds, dense fog, dark skies, deep snow, and bright sun, we come to school. We come to school with spirit running through our veins and our heads held as though we wear crowns. Spirit runs thick through our halls. Running from the classrooms to the gymnasium, from the auditorium to the field and all over Ketchikan, we have the spirit and support for our Kings wherever they may go. Past and present we stand; through all of the wins and all of the losses, as a school, we stand and support. Whether it is in the back of the audience clapping, in the front row the bleachers yelling at the top of our lungs, or sitting in the commons in front of the monitor hoping to see the first play of the game, our fellow Kings are here to support.

This is our court, our school.

We are Kayhi.

We are the Kings.

Junior Sarah Kuharich went to Paris, France with Mrs. Woodward on an EF Tours trip. During her time in Paris, she went to the Eiffel Tower, The Louvre, Notre Dame, Monet's Garden, and took a boat tour up the Seine. "The boat tour was by far my favorite tour, because it was so relaxing and we could take pictures as we pleased," said Sarah. "A lot of the other tours we took we had to wear earpieces to hear the tour guide, and it was like 'quick take a picture before we move on.'" Sarah enjoyed her trip very much and would love to go back.

Junior Verona Kamberi went to Macedonia this summer to see her family. She goes every summer for two to three months, but she was especially excited to go this year because since she is older now she got to go into the city more with her friends and cousins.

Senior Harvey Villalor went to Ilocos, Manila, Caramoan, and Makati in the Philippines to see his family this summer. During his vacation, he zip lined from one island to another, and went scuba diving. "It's really hot and tropical, but always fun," said Harvey. He also talked about how he went island hopping. Island hopping is when you boat to different island and stay at each for one day or night.

Senior Kessa Elliott went to Riomaggiore, Italy with Mr. Cron's AP World class. Riomaggiore is the first village of the Cinque Terre. To get there they had to take a train, but there was a strike at the train station so they luckily hopped on the last train there. Once they got there, they went swimming in the Mediterranean Sea, went to all the small shops around the city, hiked up to the highest part of the city so they could look over it, and of course ate lots of gelato. The night they got there, Kessa went to a small grocery store for dinner. All of the food was incredibly fresh. Later that night, her and one of her friends watched the sunset and when they were walking back to their hotel, there was some sort of candle festival and the streets were lined with candles.

Kayhi Cross Country

The Kayhi Kings Cross Country team runs to the finish line!

This year's cross country team "Was probably the best year," quoted Ashley Cyr (9). Several went to state and according to Ben Ranniger (11), "The team did well," on their performance for the season. The Cross Country coach, Leigh Woodward, quoted, "It's gonna be you against the clock." From place to place, the Kayhi Cross Country team had it's losses and it's wins. Overall the team did great!

All Out, All Game, All Season

The Kayhi Football team has a successful season

This year the Kings played hard all season long. They won two games and traveled to many different places. It was an intense season with a round of memorable games played against rival Juneau-Douglas. Injuries were also prevalent this season with nearly a dozen players affected. The team hustled together during grueling practices and played with passion during every tough game this season.

Swim and Dive

Kayhi's REAL King Salmon

From Anchorage to Juneau, the Kayhi swim team has been to it all. Starting out with a bang, the first meet was in Ketchikan. Originally, there were going to be three other teams coming, but due to problems with communication, only Juneau came down. Later in the year, select swimmers were invited to Anchorage. Invitees were: Lukas Oswald (12), Kegan Rhein (12), Logan Hammersland (12), Ashley Young (11), Jaret Warstler (10), Laura Sherrill (9), Anne Cass (9),

Savannah Nieshe (9), and Ethan Thomas (9). Outstanding swimmers who made it to the state meet are as follows: Laura Sherrill (9), Emma Campbell (9), Jessilyn Sivertsen (10), Maurice Meiresonne (10), Kegan Rhein (12), and Logan Hammersland (12). When asked how the season went, Maurice Meiresonne said "It was a good year. It was fun. Everyone had lots of fun, did good, and some even made it to state!"

Serve Strong. Dig Fierce. Spike Hard.

The Kayhi Lady Kings volleyball team did fantastic as a team this season. They worked together well which made for fun practices and games. When a teammate was down, the girls brought their spirits up. There were many memorable moments this season. Some of these included the varsity team getting to have a serving contest on the University of Alaska Anchorage court. All of the matches this season have been between Kayhi's conference rivals, Thunder Mountain and the Juneau-Douglas. It was a rough season with back-to-back fundraisers and a tough travel schedule, but the team still made it a fun season. The Lady Kings had a great time this season improving their skills in spiking the ball, as well as many other improvements. Leah Benning (11) quoted, "My favorite thing in practice is hitting lines, nothing feels better than slamming the ball on the other side even if you miss 1000 times before you get a good hit." All of the girls showed great positive attitudes by helping and encouraging their fellow teammates. The most motivational words this year came from coach Naomi Michalsen for the team to remember. "Always maintain a positive mindset, especially in the midst of challenges and difficulties." It has been another successful season for the Lady Kings volleyball team.

Kings Wrestling

Kayhi's Kings take it to the mat

This year, the Kayhi Wrestling Team had about 40 wrestlers. 19 of them attended the state tournament. Brayden Linne (10) got 3rd place at state, Vince Tenebro (11) got 4th place, Cameron Harris (11) got 3rd place, Troy Harris (11) got 5th place, Patrick Rauwolf (10) got 6th place, and Haylee Stewart (9) got 3rd place. This year's team captains were juniors Max Collins, Vince Tenebro, Justin Albecker, and Joey Karlik.

Max Collins was undefeated in his matches in Southeast. Coach Rick Collins, commented that this year's Wrestling Team, "was amazing and did great this season as a whole." The Kings claimed their 9th consecutive team title this year at the Southeast Wrestling Tournament. Rick Collins was also named the Alaska Coach of the Year.

Matthew Rodriguez (10) started wrestling because Brayden Linne (10) told him to join wrestling, so Matthew did.

Junior Jacinda Leighton was a manager for the volleyball team. She originally was going to try out for the team, but then realized she wasn't very good, so she decided to be the manager because she still wanted to be a part of the team. Leighton's jobs as a volleyball manager included: keeping score for the games, running the clock, rounding up the balls, organizing the jerseys, and making copies for the coaches and parents. This year Leighton only helped out with the home games. Her favorite memory of the season was watching senior night and watching the how the team worked together during the game. Leighton was a manager for about a month then left the team, because of school conflicts. She also does not plan on being a manager next year.

Senior Marleina Dundas was the manager for the boys' basketball team this year. She became the manager because Coach Stockhausen asked her to and she thought it would be a fun. Dundas's jobs as basketball manager included: running the clock during practice, washing practice gear, and doing the score book. She traveled with the team to Juneau three times and to Anchorage once. Her favorite trip she went on was the Anchorage trip. Dundas said, "I enjoyed it, because it was a new experience for me as the manager." Her two favorite memories of the season was when she walked into Coach's room after practice and all the boys were doing yoga on the floor. She said, "I couldn't help but laugh because you could see they were having a hard time doing some of the position, especially Brent Taylor (12)." Dundas's other favorite memory was when the team went Juneau. "The whole team was going to Bullwinkle's Pizza and I had the aux cord. They all requested that I played Taylor Swift, but NOT Justin Bieber." Dundas really enjoyed being the manager this year and wishes she could run years past.

Junior Addison Catipon was the manager for the Cross Country team this year. He originally wanted to be on the team, but when he got back from vacation the season had already started, so he became the manager. Catipon's jobs as manager included: handing out uniforms, marking miles during meets, taking attendance, and organizing the meet numbers. The only trip he went on was the trip to Metlakatla. Catipon said, "It was pretty chill, we tie-dyed stuff, pulled pranks on each other, and it was all around a fun trip." His favorite memory from the season was when they had a team dinner at Coach Woodward's house. Catipon said it was fun because "I was a big team bonding dinner and there was lots of food. He enjoyed being the manager this year, but plans on being on his team next year."

Kayhi starts off the basketball season with Meet the Kings

When Kayhi Kings and Lady Kings run on the court for the first time this year the gym fills with noise, as the team members are introduced. All the winter sports kick into gear as the pep band, dance team, and cheer team are there rooting for the Kings. Senior Tari Seley said, "Meet the Kings was a fun event to go to always. All though it is not as pumped as it is when we play teams from Juneau, it was still hype, and you can literally yell anything you want." Meet the Kings is like an NBA Allstar game, it's all about having a fun time and presenting yourself to the community. Freshman basketball player, Alex Malouf, said "It was definitely fun playing against your teammates, but it was the first game of the year so every one was still getting into the swing of things. When you're in the game any time a point is made it's always exciting because it's your team mate who made a shot, not your opponent." As always Meet the Kings was a great way to excite everyone for the upcoming season.

Encourage Inspire Cheer

The Kings have Spirit

The Kings have had quite the exciting year with many new cheerleaders and cheerleaders who have been cheering since freshman year. This year has gone great with a new coach and changing the cheers up a bit. They had a fun time with new stunts during the basketball games and keeping up the spirit throughout basketball season. Cheer takes a lot of concentration while doing stunts and remembering cheers. Together this year's cheerleaders pulled it off while still having a fantastic time and making memories. They made it a fun and exciting year for everyone.

K-Highlites 2016-2017

The K-Highlites continued to dedicate time and energy into long, countless hours of practice, and even during the spring snow storms they continued to work on their routines. All of the hard work paid off as the team earned a superior rating for their performance at the regional tournament. Of course the team also performed numerous times during other school sporting events, helping to bring excitement, entertainment, and school spirit to the events.

Team member Mariessa Seludo (11) commented, "My favorite memory was on the last day of Regions when we sat in a close-knit circle holding each other's hands waiting for the announcer to tell us our rating and when they announced that we got a Superior and we all screamed out of excitement and began bawling our eyes out because what we did was worth the 10 months that we dedicated ourselves to the team."

Lady Kings Basketball

The Lady Kings basketball team was on fire this year! They won the Region V tournament this year, and got 8th in state. The Lady Kings did incredible this season. The coaches, Kelly Smith, Jeff Lund, and Dave Smith led them far with a lot of hard work. Commenting on how the season went, sophomore Kaitlyn Smith said, "I personally enjoyed winning Regions. I felt super proud of the team." Senior Sarah McClennan said her favorite memory was, "When we were at the state basketball tournament, we were trying super hard to get on the big screen, and it was really fun!" The Lady Kings won a total of 15 games and averaged 74 points per game.

The Kayhi Kings have a great season

At all of their home games, the Kayhi Kings rocked the crowd's seats. With a roar, the crowd rose when Kayhi's varsity team won the last home game. Afterwards, they went to the Region V Tournament and earned the right to go to state. After losing 50-43 to Wasilla

High School, the Kayhi varsity team got third place overall in the state tournament. They won 79-71 against East Anchorage in the boys 4A ASAA State Tournament. The varsity team gave their all in their last game of the season and ended the it spectacularly.

The Kayhi boys take first place in the CCCC tournament

The Clarke Cochrane Christmas Classic, or CCCC, is the biggest annual basketball tournament that Ketchikan High School hosts. Dedicated in memory of Clarke Cochrane, a late basketball enthusiast and Kayhi P.E. teacher, the tournament invites teams from around Alaska, as well as other states, for a fun tournament right after Christmas each year. Some teams that participated this year include Craig, Petersburg, Eagle River, North Pole, and Thunder Mountain. The boys took first in the CCCC tournament, while the girls took third, and each did their best job, working hard to earn their titles.

Our Spirits are High

Kayhi students travel to Juneau for the Region V basketball tournament

As one hundred Kayhi students traveled up to Juneau for the Region V Basketball Tournament, they brought their spirit with them. The Kayhi games were some of the loudest games of the tournament.

Our student's voices could be heard cheering for our Kayhi Kings, Lady Kings, Cheerleaders, K-Highlights, and Pep Band, even over both Juneau-Douglas High School, and Thunder Mountain High School. Even after having a game every day of the five-day tournament our spirit for Kayhi never died.

At the end of the tournament our Kayhi Kings placed 2nd and got 4th seed going into the state tournament, Lady Kings placed 1st which made that their fourth consecutive Region V title and got them the 8th seed going into the state tournament, the Cheerleader placed 3rd, and our K-Highlights got a superior. Our student all came home with excitement, and ready to cheer on both the Kayhi Kings, and Lady Kings at state.

One memorable moment of Region tournament was on the fourth day at a boys game between Juneau-Douglas and Kayhi. There was about five or ten seconds left on the clock and lights when out. There were a few noisy seconds of people wondering what the heck was going on, then both pep bands roared into action. They traded of songs and played the fasted, most pumped up songs they could. Most of the students in the crowd then took out their cell phones, turned on the flash-light, and started to dance. Pep Club President Edric Andrew Tiamzon (12) said, "It was lit, not literally, but everyone was cheering, Pep Band was going hard, and the hype never went away."

PepClub

No one has spirit like Kayhi!

The Pep Club of 2016-2017 school year was louder than ever! Many of the pep club members go way out with the theme of the Basketball games. From dressing up like whoopie cushion, banana, tight suits the colors of blue and red. This Year the Pep Club also got to attend the regional tournament in Juneau. Go Kings!

Play it Loud and Proud

Kayhi Pep Band show off their spirit during the basketball season

As the Kayhi Kings and Lady Kings run on to the court the Pep Band roars to life to set the mood for the basketball games. This year's Pep Band rocked it every game. The directors this year were Lillian Vaughn (12), and Kinani Halvorsen (12), they did a fantastic job leading and organizing the band through the whole season. "For me, this was the best year I've ever had in Pep Band. I think everything ran very smoothly and the band sounded great basically the entire season. We had a lot of great energy!! Directing is a big job, but Lily Vaughn (12) and I handled every curve we came to with grace.

I couldn't have done it with anyone else," said Halvorsen. This year their new songs they added to their repertoire were, 25 or 6 to 4, Dark Horse, Fireball, Buckjump, and Low Rider. Buckjump was specially added for Coach Stockhausen, he wanted to hear something funky from the band this year. Over all the season went very well and many students and community members are excited for it to start up again next year.

Zombies and Instruments, Oh my!

If you could use any instrument as a weapon in a zombie apocalypse, what would it be?

"I would use a clarinet, because you could stab people with the mouth piece. You got to choose a small instrument, so you can carry it around easily."
-Collette Rhein (10)

"I would use a bass drum, because I could just hide in it and roll around. Knocking zombie's over in it would be fun."
-Benjamin Ranniger (11)

"I would use a trombone, so I could hit people with the slide."
-Sophie Cornwall (9)

"Flute, so I could jab them in the eyes, and I could just play really high notes and break their ear drums."

Pep Assemblies

This year's pep assemblies have been run by seniors Edric Andrew Tiamzon, Angel Spurgeon, and Avery Olson. Pep assemblies get fun and silly, ranging from students being blindfolded then spun around and sent across the gym, to Coach Stockhausen teaching a cheer about bananas. Students wear their spirit colors. Freshmen wear gold, sophomores wear maroon, juniors wear black, and seniors wear white. Freshman Besjan Kamberi said he likes to go to the pep assemblies to watch and interact with the activities. Sophomore Chancetifer Dyakanoff likes to listen to the pep band play their music.

We've got the Spirit

The Kings show their Kayhi Pride

A few times a year, the school week gets a little more interesting here at Ketchikan High School. Times when school spirit seems to run through the hallways and bubble over into a tangible feeling you can almost taste. There are spirit weeks.

Each spirit week is planned with a different theme each day. Many students enjoy the chance to express themselves in a different way and go all out, dressing for each day's theme. The culmination of the spirit week is a pep assembly to pay tribute and show support for the activities and sports that will be competing in upcoming events.

Dressed To Dance

Posing on the Dance Floor

There were only three dances this year and we made them as fun as they could be. This year, our first dance was the Sadie Hawkins dance, following was homecoming and then Winter Ball. Our Winter Ball this year was very flashy with the creative Red Carpet theme from the Dance Committee. It was quite exciting with the dancing plus a movie area in the library for those who didn't want to dance the whole time. There was also backdrop set up to take pictures to give the feeling of what it's like to actually be on the Red Carpet. Freshman Tacoma Coronel said "I think for my first high school dances they've been great! I didn't go to the first one but the last two have been wonderful."

Crowning the King & Queen

Edric Andrew Tiamzon and Elsie Heinl win Homecoming King and Queen

This year the homecoming court consisted of both upper classmen and underclassmen. Representing the underclassmen were freshmen Deborah Karlik and Kristian Pihl, and sophomores Payton Simmons and Kyle Smith. Leah Benning and Vince Tenebro represented the juniors. The senior representatives were Kreylynn Johnson and Gage Heath, Havalah Clark and Max Ludwigsen, Kinani Halvorsen and Larsen Nebel, Jelilah Chiann Rodriguez and Shane Menzies, and the Homecoming King and Queen, Edric Tiamzon and Elsie Heinl. Edric commented that he was "skeptical to even be nominated, but then BAM! I was very suppressed." Elsie said, "I didn't think that would happen in a million years." Those that made up the rest of the homecoming court were still honored to represent their class in such a special way. Senior Gage Heath said, "The experience is something not a lot of kids can say they've done, and being able to walk with Kreylynn made it a lot better." Kreylynn remarked that Gage made the experience even better for her as well. As for the underclassmen, Payton Simmons (10) said that she "liked how each class gets to vote for the two people they want to represent them, and it was cool knowing that my class chose Kyle and I to do that. It was a cool experience." Kristian Pihl chimed in that, "Homecoming was cool."

Give us a Scare

Kayhi students show us their creative costumes

In high school when you are busy with all the activities under the sun you tend to forget Halloween, so the night before you look through you house to find a costume. This year many people got creative with their costumes. Sierra Ray (12) was a woodland fairy, it took her couple months to put it together, but the finished product came out just the way she wanted it to. She sewed her costume together using fake leaves and flowers. Another crazy costume was Senior Chevell Lamar's costume. Using lots of paint, latex, needles, and string she made herself into a victim from Criminal Minds for a day. Also around the time of Halloween the Coast Guard put on a haunted mansion to raise money for Fawn Mountain to build a green house. Many Kayhi students were invited to scare people during a portion of the event. Senior Althea Mae Santos said, "I enjoyed being in the event because getting to see people's reaction when you scare them is amusing, and I can't wait to help out with it again."

Class Act Madness

Class Act Is Here Again!

Class Act is a program that helps freshmen adapt to the high school life. There are Class Act mentors that help students get used to everything, they play tons of games and talk about the future year. The students involved definitely seem to enjoy the program. Freshmen that participated were asked what their favorite aspect of Class Act was, and they said: Lillian Daniels responded with, "I enjoyed the people we got to meet." Destiny Arrowood responded with, "I really enjoyed hanging out with my friends and learning about the mentors and what they do." The mentors really helped the freshmen out with transitioning into a new school.

Join In The Fun

Kayhi clubs

Kayhi has added a few new additions to our clubs. There were quite the variety clubs to join this year because of many creative minds that were able to organize them. This year's clubs consist of National Art Honor Society(NAHS), National Honor Society(NHS), National Ocean Sciences Bowl(NOSB),

Health Occupations Students of America(HOSA), Knitters, Chess, Anime, Japanese, Magic, and Drama Club.

Kayhi's got Talent

Many students perform at the annual winter variety show

One of the best-loved events of the Kayhi school year included the Winter Variety Show, hosted each year in the school's auditorium. In talent-show fashion many students, individually and in groups, perform a variety of ways. Some staff also choose to participate. Talents seen at the talent show varied greatly this year including singing, musical instruments, dancing, Magic, and some comical endeavors. It takes talent and a willingness to get up in front of your peers to participate. Each year the student body looks forward to this Yuletide tradition.

Neva Garner

Neva Garner (12) went to Mexico for her exchange and came back with many interesting stories to tell. What she thought was most unique about where she went was that she loved to celebrate everything. Neva went on this trip around the coastline of Mexico that was called "Ruta Maya" which she said was the most interesting thing she got to see. Neva's best part about being somewhere she has never been before is "being able to explore and make new memories."

Giovani Covelli

Giovani Covelli (11) is an exchange student from Brazil. Being in Alaska is quite the experience for him and he is having a great time. The most exciting things he got to see here in Alaska was that there were a lot of bears here, he got to see the northern lights and he got to see it snow here. Alaska is a lot different than the places he has ever been before, he said "being in Alaska is already unique, but I think the nature here is unique, totally different than any other place I have been before."

Andrea Mendiola

Andrea Mendiola (10) is an exchange student from Mexico. She loves the experience of being in Alaska, she said that "with this experience I had the opportunity to experience new things and meet amazing people. Discovering how connected the world really is". The exciting thing she got to see while here in Alaska is the wonderful starry night sky, the northern lights, and the wildlife.

Academic Decathlon

The Kayhi AcDc team has a successful year

The 2016-2017 United States Academic Decathlon theme was World War II. Students who compete work to master college-level material related to the theme in many subject areas. These subjects include science related to atomic and nuclear physics, literature, art and music of the era, social science, and math covering algebra and trigonometry. Students write essays, deliver speeches, are interviewed, take exams, and compete in an exciting quiz-bowl.

Dauntless Debate Team

The Kayhi debate team takes it to State

DDF is comprised of Drama, Debate, and Forensics. Participating students prepare for competitions in these areas and prepare for formal competitions held once a month throughout Southeast Alaska. Debate students present individual events, speeches of expository speaking, oration and extemporaneous speaking, as well as both affirmative and negative sides of the cross-examination debate topic for each year. Competing requires a great deal of research and organization, as well as the development of critical thinking skills. Often, students work in teams to analyze and prepare both the affirmative and negative sides of a selected topic. The group grows close throughout the year, and many return to compete during multiple years at Kayhi.

Yearbook in the Making

Each year, a small group of dedicated students at Ketchikan High School join the Williwaw yearbook staff. This year, the class of eight students spent hundreds of hours creating the 218-page yearbook, with the help of teacher Todd Henke. Editors Lillian Vaughn (12) and Brooke Mickel (12) went to a yearbook conference in Seattle to help figure out the design of the 2017 book. They decided to make the theme "We Are The Kings," keeping it simple and themed around the school's colors. The Williwaw staff spends the majority of the year making the yearbook, but the work isn't done there; after the yearbook is finished, the students make the spring supplement, which includes spring sports and other events. When the spring supplement is finished, the class comes up with ideas for the next year's yearbook. "I enjoy looking back at the three past yearbooks I've helped create and seeing how my style and artistry have changed. I think my favorite part of everything I have done is taking photos. I love to capture the little moments that people will cherish later," Lillian Vaughn said.

Journalism

Kayhi's journalism class is taught by Jeff Lund. Journalism may be taken by juniors and seniors and counts as an English credit. The students in this class collaborate, research, and interview other students to create the Kayhi school newspaper, The Current. The students produce several editions of the newspaper per year, covering topics such as sports, culture, and current events.

Basketball 101

Basketball 101 is a zero-hour class taught by Eric Stockhausen. It can be taken for either one or two semesters each year and counts as an elective credit. Most of the students in Basketball 101 are on the Kayhi basketball team, but this is not a requirement. The students make improvements through vigorous practice of skills and exercise on a daily basis. Freshman Christopher Paule commented, "My favorite thing about basketball 101 was getting to play basketball with my friends. Arion Mendoza (9) and Arthur Williams (9)."

Hablando un poco de Español

Speaking a little Spanish with the Spanish class

The Spanish class is taught by Senor Raphael Curiel. Kayhi offers Spanish 1, Spanish 2, and Advanced Spanish. Throughout the year, this class learns how to read, write, and speak some of the Spanish language. Students also get to know about the culture and modern Spanish life. From making art to listening to music and eating food, to watching movies, this class is always fun.

Once Driven, Forever French

The French classes are taught by Myra Zelensky and are divided into three different courses that students may take. There is French 1, French 2 and Advanced French. In French 1, students learn about the everyday language and culture of French speaking through total physical response gestures, movements, games and songs. In French 1, students will tell stories and read elementary-level French books. In French 2, students will continually improve on what they have learned during the French 1 class, while speaking only French during their class period. The students in French 2 explore more complex grammatical ideas. Advanced French students learn to listen, speak, read and write. The students continue to learn complex grammatical ideas through reading short stories and intermediate-level novels and answering questions about them.

Child Psychology and Career class is a class that students can take and learn how to work with students as if they were teachers. Mrs. Shelton is the instructor of the class. The students from Kayhi go to Houghtaling and other schools in the community and help them with several different subjects. "Child Psychology and Child Careers is a class that works with high school students that want to work with children when they grow up. We go to Houghtaling and work with students their with reading and math in our "Friends" program. We also go and work with Preschools or Daycares. We get to do art projects and give lesson plans in class, as well as learn about problems that face all students in general," explains Mrs. Shelton.

Boats, Boats, Boats

Maritime is a fun class with a mixture of academic and "hands on" work designed to teach students the skills necessary to operate a boat safely. Student who take this class are exposed to marine safety, seamanship, and navigation. Students will use the school's 45' training vessel, Jack Cotant, and the program's 16' open skiff to reinforce lessons learned in the classroom. This is an excellent course for anyone who plans on operating a boat, or working in the maritime field. Additionally, there is a series of one to three day field trips taken throughout the year to reinforce topics covered in class.

Jazz Band

Music for the soul

Students of Jazz Band get to school at 7:00 every morning to start pumping out those groovy tunes. Sophomore Christopher Brown loves Jazz Band! His bandmates say that he always has a positive and enthusiastic attitude and he can't wait for the next two years. Jazz Band went to Sitka this year for Jazz and Music Fest. At Jazz Fest they had the opportunity to play for several famous performing artists and worked with them to better their talents. Senior Lillian Vaughn loved being there to learn new things. At Music Fest everyone performed very well. They played with many of other schools from Southeast Alaska and were personally adjudicated. They played an assortment of rock, funk, and of course jazz.

So this one time...

What's the worst thing that's ever happened to your instrument?

"One time I broke an eye on a symbol stand and a lot of my friends said. The guys blew out the wall and the light bulb that was plugged into it shattered. When I looked at the symbol the extension cord was cut in half and there was a brand new made in the edge of the symbol!"
Lillian Vaughn (12)

"In 7th grade I had to get a new saxophone because one of the key pads would get stuck and make every note I played sound like a squeak."
Trevor Holt (11)

"Well I was moving my set and I dropped my instrument down a flight and a half of stairs."

Jazz Choir

Singing for the soul

Jazz Choir traveled to Sitka for both Jazz and Music Fests. At Jazz Fest they learned from many talented artists. At Music Fest they were adjudicated on their talent, performance, and pronunciation. Junior McKenzie Thomas says that it is a great experience and she loves how it builds the Kayhi choir to a higher standard. All of the students had a blast on both trips to Sitka and seniors Luke Dossett, Holly Haines, Glenn Cousins, and Kay Fazakerley are sad that it's over, but couldn't think of a better group of singers to share their last year of Kayhi Jazz Choir with.

In Perfect Harmony

Wind Ensemble

The Wind Ensemble had quite a beautiful sound this year. The students worked very hard to do their best for each concert they played. The Winter concert this year was especially special because a few talented students played roles from the popular movie, "Frozen" as the rest of the students played a couple of songs from the movie. There were many different pieces played by the Wind Ensemble that made it a joy to listen to, including watching the dancers on stage.

We've Got The Rhythm

Symphonic Band

Symphonic Band had a great year consisting of mainly freshmen. Improvements have been made and the students seemed to be having a great time, especially during concerts. There are more percussionists than any other instrument, but they still sounded amazing and have worked very hard. As an upcoming event they are very excited to participate in the US Coast Guard Ship Commission Ceremony in April.

Concert choir and Women's Choir

This year's Choirs decided they were going to be changing things up a bit to show what goes on in class. During their first concert, they performed without their robes and instead wore their choir shirts. The first concert was mainly about showing what they do and how much they progressed in choir class, in aspects such as sight singing. To make their songs more fun and thrilling, they were able to wear Santa hats and antlers to the winter concert. They sang a variety of songs this year and to make it exciting for the students, they got to make up a few moves to go along with a couple of songs.

Boys' Conditioning

Body building, muscles, and weightlifting!

Boys conditioning, led by Rick Collins, consist of various training, including weightlifting exercises, body exercises, and lift exercises. This tough class teaches boys how to become strong, stay healthy, and improve their performance.

Like its counterpart class, Girls' Conditioning, this class includes anaerobic training provided through weight and resistance training exercise. The aerobic program utilizes a wide array of cardiovascular and cross-training activities.

Girls' Conditioning

Yoga, fitness, tabata, and more weightlifting!

Girls' Conditioning, taught by Allegra Machado and Shayla Shelton, is designed to provide the female students with both aerobic and anaerobic physical training and instruction. Anaerobic training is provided through weight and resistance training exercise. The aerobic program utilizes a wide array of cardiovascular and cross-training activities, including zumba, yoga, and tabata.

Students are instructed on the fundamentals of exercise science/ theory as well as proper nutrition. Individualized exercise programs can be designed and utilized for specific fitness outcomes. For students to succeed, it is important for them to have a personal desire to willingly and independently participate in strenuous exercise on a daily basis.

Native Art Creations

The Native Art Class

The Native Art class is a place where students can learn how to create many different things including hand-woven baskets and hats, octopus bags, drawings, and more! The students in the class love creating different things. The teacher in charge, Mrs. McLavey, teaches her students how to make some beautiful items. A few of the students in the class said that their favorite item they have made so far in the class was: "The octopus bag I am currently making," Dorothy Rose Outwater (11) replied. "A woven hat," Cade Fawcett (9) replied.

In The Mood For Food

The Kayhi Culinary Class

The Culinary Arts class is a class where students are taught how to cook, clean up, and taste. The teacher in charge, Mr. Edwards, really knows how to make the class fun. His students really enjoy the class and learn many things from Mr. Edwards. A few students told the yearbook that their favorite part of culinary is "The teamwork," Mollie Pew (10) replied. "I really enjoy being around the people in the class and making the food." Lane Monroe added. The culinary class revolves around team work and helping hands.

Drawing and Painting

Kayhi students show their artistry in drawing and painting

Drawing and painting students are instructed in specific drawing and painting techniques and in the use of a variety of media. In studio, students practice and create works using these techniques and media within the specifications and time parameters of each project. Cultural, historical, and career aspects of the visual arts are also explored. There is also some time for personal creativity beyond required projects. Students that decide to take the class multiple times have the opportunity to concentrate their work in a chosen medium and prepare a portfolio.

Sculpture and Pottery

Kayhi's artists show off their skills in sculpture and pottery

Sculpture and pottery students are instructed in both wheel and hand-built pottery techniques, as well as a variety of sculptural techniques. Students learn about, and get to use, a wide variety of materials. In the studio, students do a lot of practice and get to create projects. The projects use the techniques they learn and the different medias with specific parameters and time constraints. Cultural, historical, and career aspects of the visual arts are also explored. Additionally, there is time for personal creativity beyond the required projects. Students are aloud to take the class multiple times, and those that do have the opportunity to concentrate their work in a chosen medium and prepare a portfolio.

Drafting

From Blueprints to 3D prints

Since the beginning, drafting has held a certain kind of lure for future architects. In the beginning of the class, students do tutorials on Solidworks to draw objects. Solidworks is a 3-D mechanical drafting program that helps explain what students are building and helps students build what they want to. Eventually, the students progress to three-dimensional printing, including designing toy spinning tops for a "Top Off." The class also use other software programs to create actual architectural designs, like a treehouse.

Welding

Kayhi students learn the art of welding

Welding is a course covering the fundamentals of welding safety and a variety of welding processes. Students become proficient in Shielded Metal Arc Welding (SMAW) and Metal Inert Gas (MIG) welding. Students also get an introduction to oxy-acetylene welding, brazing and cutting. Students learn to weld in different positions with an emphasis in flat, horizontal, vertical, and overhead welding positions on mild steel using a variety of welding rods and techniques. Many students enjoy their experience in welding and return to take it for more than one year. A number of Kayhi students who struck their first arc at Ketchikan High school have also had chances to take welding classes offered through the Vigor shipyard in partnership with KIC, or classes at UAS.

Small Engines

Kayhi students learn about engines

From chainsaws to motorcycles, Clint McClellan's class does it all. Most of the time, the workshop is silent, with students focused on their projects. The students work on a variety of things. Some work on engines like chainsaws, others work on bigger things, like a motorcycle.

This introductory level shop class covers theory, operation, maintenance, repair, and overhaul of two and four stroke gasoline and diesel engines. Students learn shop safety, tools and fasteners, precision measurement, engine systems, engine performance, and the use of specialized engine tools.

Automotive

From mopeds to cars, they fix it all

Mr. McClennan's automotive class works on cars and other vehicles, from the engines to the basic repair of the entire shell. This year, the class got to work on Officer McGarrigan's car, along with other various projects. Automotive students get the opportunity to do a range of projects such as painting cars and general work on engines.

After being introduced to theory and basic service procedures in the classroom, students perform actual service on vehicles owned by the community, including faculty and student vehicles. Students learn to safely use tools and shop equipment; perform underhood service including fluid service, battery service and belt service. Students also learn to mount, balance and patch tires.

Keep On Building... Woodworking & Building Construction

In building construction class, students study NCCER Core. It is a national certification that is required for any apprenticeship program. It consists of nine modules from basic safety to employability skills. The students also get hands-on training in tools and equipment used in the construction field. They also get hands-on experience building small buildings. This year the class built a trailer for the Ketchikan Lions Club to be used as a fish weigh station for the Ketchikan King Salmon Derby. They have also repaired and built bus sheds for the Lions Club.

The woodworking class is an introduction to modern day woodworking. Students acquire a fundamental knowledge in the safe use of hand and power tools and woodworking procedures. Students plan, design, select materials, layout, cut, assemble and finish projects approved by Mr. Zenge. Projects increase in difficulty as the semester progresses. The students also learn basic and advanced joinery, finish types and lathe turning, producing pens, bowls and lamps along with other things involving woodworking.

Computer Tech

Tech for the Future

Students interested in careers in Information Technology or Computer Science benefit from the opportunity to learn computer anatomy, diagnostics, and repair in Kayhi's Computer Tech class. Students get to understand the interactions and relationships of hardware, firmware, and software, including operating systems. Students gain exposure to career paths in the computer industry, and gain useful knowledge to lead them toward industry certifications. Additionally basic coding skills will be taught using a variety of methods and learning activities. The class is largely project based, and some of the projects students worked on included building a computer, installing Linux, using commands within the Unix kernel, creating their own video game using Scratch, and more.

Medical Terminology

Kayhi's future medical experts

Medical Terminology, or Vocational Medicine, is the study of the terms doctors and physicians use in the field. Learning to use this terminology is essential for any career in the medical field. Teacher Zara Nesbitt said, "Really it's just a lot of vocabulary and diagrams of the human body." Students receive three college credits from UAS Ketchikan in addition to the high school credit. The college course is required for completion of twelve different UA medical programs. The medical terminology students volunteer at the Ketchikan Health Fair, manually taking blood pressures, weighing people, and finding BMI's. Students also spend two extra school days for basic CPR and First Aid Certification. During the second semester of this class, students get to job shadow at Ketchikan Medical Center in the pharmacy, radiology department, emergency room, pediatrician, and orthopedic clinics, as well as at Creekside Health Clinic.

Gone Fishing on a Sunny Day

This years seniors decorate and show off their Fourth of July float

As the surprising sun beats down on the pavement the class of 2017 gets their float ready to show off to the city of Ketchikan. This years senior class decided that their float theme would be "Gone Fishing." The float was decked out in everything from buoys, to fishing lures, to life jackets, to fishing poles.

The day before the Fourth of July, a group of seniors got together to help build the float. They started by wrapping the float with fishing net donated by Ketchikan Youth Initiative, then they added everything else. There was even wooden stars, which resembled starfish and toy sharks which were good enough to resemble little fish, wrapped in the net.

The sun was a very shocking thing to see on the Fourth, since the day before was overcast. Many of the seniors were not ready to be in the warm weather. Kyra Weiker said, "It was way too hot out and I was not wearing the right clothes."

"I thought the theme represented our class well, and it was very easy to find all the materials to put on the float," said Angelica Gomez, "It was also really exciting to walk in the parade because it's something I have been looking forward to since I was little."

McKenzie Harrison and Angelica Gomez pose for a picture as the parade starts.

Christian Lorenzo hangs a fishing pole on the side of the float. "We decorated the float really fast and it was very last minute, but it looked really good. It was really exciting to represent the class of 2017 in the parade," Lorenzo said.

"Senior float was very stressful, but was still a ton of fun. I'd like to thank anyone who helped out and I'd especially like to thank my right hand man Tia," Halvorsen said.

Edric Andrew Tiamzon decided to buckle himself into the lifejacket on the side of the float and hitch a ride. "I saw the life jacket hanging there and I was like 'Hey I wonder if I can fit in that?' So I got in it and since I was too short, I jumped on a skateboard," Tiamzon said, "I'm also pretty sure it was a hazard doing that, but I didn't even care."

The Beginning of the End

The class of 2017 celebrates their first day of senior year at senior walk-in.

Every year, the seniors of Ketchikan High School are welcomed back to school for their final year as a Kayhi King. On the first day of school, the students walk into the auditorium and receive high fives from all of Kayhi's staff. The class of 2017 had a blast as the whole school applauded and cheered. Senior Christian Lorenzo said, "Having senior walk-in on the first day of school was fun. It was like an introduction to the whole school that we're the students you don't want to mess with this year." After the seniors took their seats, principal Bob Marshall gave a speech and introduced all of the teachers, who made their entrances interesting with dancing, costumes, and Mr. Scarzella even rode his unicycle. The class of 2017 had a great time on their first day of their last year as a Kayhi King.

Food, Fun, and Fiasco!

The Senior Carnival just keeps on getting better! This year the Seniors went all out in a very fun carnival. They had countless fun games, awesome costumes, and great food! The Seniors made sure to make sure the fun never ended, it seemed! Everyone enjoyed themselves and were walking around with their cool prizes and cakes. Averie

Archibald said, "Being around all the little kids and hanging out with my friends." was what made the carnival the most fun. Seniors that attended had a blast. The carnival included two seperate gyms. The large gym was dedicated to adults and older kids, while the smaller gym was set apart for the little kids.

The Good Old Days

Kayhi's seniors recall their favorite childhood memories

As we grow up, we make countless memories that we will always remember. We do fun things with our friends that turn into lifelong memories. From our days in kindergarten to making our first friends, to when we learned how to ride a bike, these memories will always stick with us. Senior Sarah McClellan's favorite childhood memory was, "When my older brother Brian hand-crafted a bow and arrow, went outside, shot a robin, and cried all night about it, specifically because of the potential of that robin and the possible children that could have starved without their mother." Kayhi's seniors remember some of their funniest and most memorable times with great friends and family.

Way Back When...

What is your very first memory?

Logan Hammersland

"I tried to show my mom a disappearing act magic trick that consisted of me taking some dimes from my mom's purse and shoving them up my nostrils until they were out of sight. Everything went just fine until the time came to take them out. I managed to get a few of them stuck up there and we ended up spending the night in the ER getting change pulled out of my nose."

McKenna Kimball

"When I was in preschool, Kinani Halvorsen came up to me and started talking to me, but I was so shy that I didn't say anything back, but we still ended up being best friends."

Kyonna Spigai

"Meeting my mom at the airport after she had gone on a trip when I was about three. She brought me back an Elmo stuffed toy and I remember being really happy."

There is nothing in this world that could affirm God's special love for you. Your journey is about to start and we know you can achieve anything with your perseverance, talent, and intelligence! We love you!
-Mom, Dad, Alyanna,

Edward and Jozaiah

Arra Seludo

Chase your dreams. All you have to do is believe that you can achieve, because we believed in you. Good luck! Mom, Dad and Brother love you so much.

Glenn Cousins

We are so proud of you, son. Let today be the start of something new.

Love, Mom and Dad

Maddy, you are a shining example of what a daughter can be - loving, compassionate, beautiful, good, honest, principled, determined, independent, sensitive and intelligent. You are a shining example of what every parent wishes their daughter were. I'm so very proud of you.

Love, Mom, Dad and Nina

Kristin Boney

Seems like just yesterday you were our little J.T. Grunt Pooter Rooter Man exploring the neighborhood with your Snoop Dog. Look at you now. It has been a privilege and an honor to watch you grow up to become such an incredible, hardworking, intelligent, strong, kind, and compassionate adult. May God be with you every step of the way as you continue life's journey. We are so very proud of you!

Love, Mom, Dad, and Sisa

Mom, Dad, Luisa and Carlos

Shawn Sande

Shawn Patrick Sande,
Thank you for continuing to show the rest of us what W. Whitman meant when he said: "From this hour I ordain myself loos'd of limits and imaginary lines." It is your willingness to leap from the cliff with hope of flying rather than fear of falling that has always amazed your family. Keep searching for the adventure, find new places to explore, lead with kindness, learn something new everyday and remember you are loved beyond measure.
Mom, Dad, & Campbell Rose

Yogi Berra said: "Little League Baseball is a good thing because it keeps the parents off the streets." Thanks fellas for keeping us off the streets and remember that no matter where you go and what you do, we will be cheering for you.
