As most of you well know, this is the last year Ketchikan High School will look as it does now. There will be many changes that will ultimately result in a new school.

There are many students out there who would love to have a say in what changes would be made.

"I would upgrade the stage for the drama department." - Tiffanie Stevens

"Most definitely I would like a larger main hallway." - Jackie Bauer

"A better pool." - Brandi Allen

"A separate gym for Drill Team and Cheerleading." - Chandra Travers

"A larger music department." - Jena Arntzen

"I think the school should have a larger darkroom, and a working heating system." - Misty Williams

ALL SUN . . .

And games!

Summer—the one thing we look forward to. The three funfilled months that seem to last only two weeks. How can you describe it? It's definitely not all fun and games! There is usually work to do and money to make. But somehow we manage to squeeze in those ever-so memorable moments that make summer the greatest.

If we could we would make summer last forever and never give up the feelings that come along with this time of year. Summer seems to sit on a sunny beach and let warm thoughts trickle through your wandering mind, out above all, summer is — all sun and games!
WE'VE GOT SPIRIT!

Yes we do!

Well, when it comes to pep assemblies, we definitely express our wild school spirit! From our crazy class posters to our outrageous school cheers. From our creative little skits to our humiliating games, from the Seniors to the Freshmen, we all come out showing our wild and wacky school spirit!

Top: Those silly seniors Ralph Lewis and Jan Agthe just being themselves. Bottom: 'I think that you'd better see a doctor about this' suggests Jeff Smith to Sheldon Skillie.
FEEL THE MADNESS!

Let it take hold . . .

This year's Senior Carnival was a smashing success as we raked in an all time high of $15,219. All the hours of hard, grueling work paid off. Laying out the plastic tarp, and decorating the booths let us know the carnival was really going to happen. Anticipation grew as the work went on. The many kitchens of Senior homes were in turmoil as the cakes were baked and ready to go. The closer it came to 8:00, the more excited and jittery the seniors grew. As the doors were opened, people rushed in ready to spend, spend, spend! A non-stop flow of people swarmed around the booths, fighting for their turn. Four hours later, tired but still amped, we still were not done. Posters and booths came down, garbage was cleaned up, and we gave our best effort to return our school to its normal state. The Class of '91 definitely ruled on this night of excitement and FUN!!!

OFF CAMPUS ATHLETES

Go with their talents!

Although many of our Kayhi students are involved with school sports, their hidden talents go far beyond the school grounds. From soccer fields to dance floors, these "outer" school athletes certainly know how to stride to the finish. During the hot summer days, we found many high school students swinging their bat at baseball. As that season came to a close, out came the soccer nets. Soccer action was a smashing success, as the Timber & Marine team accomplished their goal by taking the championship. On certain occasions, we found skaters showing others the art of skateboarding. For those of us who enjoy theater and ballet, we saw several of our fellow classmates practice regularly to perfect every motion. After school the weight room was filled with people trying to strengthen their muscles. Whatever sport it may be, our Kayhi students certainly get the recognition they deserve.

SENIORS COUNTDOWN

To the great escape

From the time school started and the "back to school blues" began, the senior class anxiously looked forward to graduation. Realizing that deadlines for college applications had to be met, the panic-stricken seniors rushed to complete ACT's, SAT's, and achievement tests. As their stress load doubled and even tripled, the class of 1991 focused on their great escape.

Congratulations to Maile Anslinger and Tom Nordtvedt for winning the 1991 locker competition for Seniors with the most creative lockers. These lockers were picked because of the way they represented their personalities. The way you design your locker tells a little about you. It gives everyone walking by an idea of what you are like. A lot of people decorate their lockers to jazz up the dull look. It brings color and character to your locker. Most people usually decorate their lockers with their favorite stars, sayings, or interests. However, you decorated your locker fine just as long as you enjoy looking at it.

Congratulations to Maile Anslinger and Tom Nordtvedt for winning the 1991 locker competition.

The great wait

Suddenly, from out of nowhere, I hear a low growling, bringing me out of my intellectual slumber (which is a nice way of saying I spaced out). As I listen closer, the growling seems to be saying something.

"What do you mean only ONE DAY to come up with a topic and article for your senior section? Are you nuts waiting until now?!"

Now, before you break out into laughter, ponder this,

I AM NOT ALONE!

Left, Traci Madden, working hard?

I have heard many a time that same growling in the halls:

"Quiet, I'm studying for a test next hour."

"Could somebody write my paper by tomorrow?"

"Has anybody read The Grapes of Wrath?"

The Procrastination Monster and its partner in time, The Growler, capture us all, leaving behind an aftermath of excuses and feigned sickness.

Oh, golly, look at how much time I've wasted talking about procrastination and I still don't have a topic for my senior section.

Oh, well, it's not due until tomorrow!

Relief because we have completed two plus years in the system and anxiety because the most difficult year is still ahead of us. But with the difficulties of being a senior also come the pleasures and prestige—those are a trade-off any one of us would take!

This school year has kept all of us very busy. Catching up on homework and getting to work on time. Some are involved with sports and theater plays, while others use their lungs while watching our home team play. We try to keep up with the steady pace and we have fun while doing it.
This year's sophomore class brought in a group of talented and athletic students. No long can these people be considered "the bottom of the ladder" nor can they be pushed around as being "a little freshman." This class should be recognized as they proved their achievements to the rest of the school. In a great majority of the activities in school, at least one sophomore was found to be involved with it. Their talents ranged from the husseling bodies of Tyler Haddix, Carl Zink and Kyan Reeve, who all made Varsity Basketball, to the brain power of those Jr. Engineers, Alex Conely and Arvin Ner. Not only do the boys deserve recognition, many of the girls have what it takes! Making girls Varsity Basketball, we can find Jolene Lapiński, Jackie VanVleck, and Penny Hamlin. Hopefully the Class of '93 will continue their successes in the future.

Contrary to popular belief the Sophomore class can be serious at times. When it came time for the English "I" search paper, you could almost always find some of us in the library searching away before, during, and after school. Some students did their report on skiing, business management, hospital management, counseling, and a wide variety of topics. This paper made a lot of us think about our future and life itself.

BUILDING BRICKS

You had lived with this particular person ever since childhood. You whined day after day for more attention from your parents, you fought over the same toys, and if you happened to be lucky— you even shared the same room with them. Now, after you thought it was going to get better, you enter high school as a Freshman when your older brother or sister was a Senior. Many of the Freshmen in Kayhi have Seniors as older siblings to look up to when they need help. A lot of these students share the same interests and talents. The most important thing these kids share is the bond of love.
BUILDING TO NEW HEIGHTS

Starting at the bottom

Freshmen, Freshmen, Freshmen. Will they ever learn???

You can’t expect to come to a new school and be welcomed with open arms now, can you?

“But, at Schoenbar I was so popular.”

Well this isn’t Jr. High anymore, you’ve moved up in the world. High School. Yes, you’ve got to start at the bottom again and work your way up to be that well-recognized Senior.

Hey don’t worry, you’ll make it there, just think, only 3 more years to go.

Trying to keep his fingers from being tied in knots, Anthony Manabat concentrates in typing class.

"How old was that piece of candy?" Melissa Cummings wondered.
Two blind mice? Mindy Hamlin with Evelyn Macmanus

Yes, Yes, they have arrived! The largest class has hit the school. They've stormed through the halls in mass quantities. Yes, it's the Class of '94! Freshman have entered the lives of the 'old-timers' here at Kayhi. These new-comers are beginning a four year journey of life in high school. A life of pushing and shoving, broken dreams, shattered hearts, lost homework assignments, Saturday School, after school detention, long and hard tests, unfair teachers, etc. But hey—that's just one side of the story. High School is also filled with high achievements, falling in love, meeting and strengthening friendships, and finally succeeding in what the four years of education means: GRADUATION!! For right now, build on to what you have. Besides, you have three long and memorable years ahead of you.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS

Too much or too little???

As Freshmen we all expect something to be more than it really is. From being recognized in the hallways as Freshmen to being recognized for a accomplishment we’ve made.

Your Freshmen year is full of new and exciting things to experience; don’t expect too much or too little.

Enjoying the solitude of the library, Carrie Bisbaw prepares for her next class.

As everyone knows, going to school is difficult. You have to study and keep a set schedule very closely. Well, if it is difficult for students you can imagine how hard it is for teachers. With lesson plans, tests, grading papers or lending an ear, our staff is a very busy group of professionals. Although they require a great deal from us; (much of which we would rather not have to deal with) they do their best to prepare us for the world beyond these old walls. It is not uncommon for them to share their personal experiences as well as their academic expertise. There is a great deal to be learned from both. Whether it is off to the job market, off to college, off to travel, or just off the island, our staff has done its best to prepare us for what we will find there.

Ahhh, 10 seconds to relax! Mrs. Zelensky catches her breath between classes.
In addition to the Spanish and French classes, a new language class has been made part of this year's program. As everyone knows, the Japanese are very industrious and hard working people. Their language is becoming recognized internationally and is being taught at most schools around the country.

ACADEMICS
Teachers make learning fun

From the first day of school, all students expect their teachers to be serious, strict, and boring. The stereotypical teacher is the person standing in the front of the classroom, yardstick in hand, delivering a monotone speech on the Gettysburg address, the quadratic equation, or how all students should respect substitute teachers.

On the other hand, there are several teachers who seem to "stand out from the crowd". For example, Mr. Sander who always wore his loud neck ties, Ms. Miller who participated in Halloween (see picture), and several others who tried their hardest to make learning fun.

Although there were no cheerleaders, pep bands, or cheering crowds one of the most challenging Kayhi teams, the Academic Decathlon (ACDC), found themselves thrust into the world of academics.

Since this year's competition focused on the 60's and 70's, the ACDC members researched everything from John F. Kennedy to Diana Ross and the Supremes. In preparation for the first competition, the students combed the library for answers to questions like "Which two reporters uncovered the Watergate scandal?" and "What was the mission of the Mariner II?"

Their hard work paid off when the students, after almost ten hours of testing, interviewing, and giving speeches, earned both second and third places. They all agreed that the outcome of their studying was well worth it.

ACDC members are: Chris Bruce, Mr. Wipfli, Arvin Ner, Alisa Breese, Alex Conley, Bill Sparks, Allen Larson, Rodney Short.

New members

The National Honor Society's returning members chose 23 new members this year. They chose them because of their superior leadership, service, and academic skills.

The new members are Brandi Allen, Sarah Barron, Shelli Broderick, Colleen Doughtery, Carolyn Deuhn, Brenda Gibson, Rob Hagan, Troy Hayes, Jennifer Jackson, Chris Kemp, Gretchen Klein, Ralph Lewis, Karl Lindemann, Trisha Loitz, Alma Manabat, Danielle Michaelsen, Linda Miles, Adryn Miller, Tasha Norris, Aimée Stye, Jennifer Thompson, Rebecca Valentine, and Rebecca Wingreen. Returning members are Andria Mcconnell, John Tilotson, Matt Baumgartner, Steve Bloom, Jeff Rankin, Robin Kimberly, Krisan Patterson, Angela Wendte, Chris Walker, Jennifer Simpson, Maile Anslinger, Ana Ner, and Tasha Baumgartner.
Playing the keys

This year our business class has been very busy. We have been doing programs for all sorts of special events, compiling a phone directory for Valley Park, balancing corporate ledgers, and planning how to make our first million. The computer classes have also been hard at it. It is a constant challenge trying to keep up with all of the new technology and computer programs. Brains, eyes, and sometimes tempers may become strained, but those who persevere are better equipped to enter the future job market. Thanks to our computer/business department we are well on our way up the ladder.

I can't believe I deleted my whole assignment. Clayton Jones stares blankly into his computer screen.

Mr. Bjur and Mr. Hughes have been doing an excellent job with their groups this year. Mr. Bjur's symphonic band has been playing impressively well this year. 15 kids from the band went to southeast honor band in Petersburg. Mr. Bjur said "the band made very excellent progress this year." In the concert choir there were also 15 kids who went to southeast honor choir. They made the same progress as the band. Congratulations Mr. Bjur and Mr. Hughes for a job well done.

Help!!

The office is the very core of our school, without this main ingredient our school could not function properly. We owe a great amount of gratitude to these people who give us the push we need to make it through. Whether it's making sure we go to class, or helping us with problems and decisions facing us. No matter what we say or think, we do need these people.

We had a lot of people in new positions of help. They all did a wonderful job. They really pulled together to do what had to be done.
FOR THE HEALTH OF IT

Physically Speaking

What would we do without those wonderful teachers that help us get motivated to make our bodies a happier place to be.

These people do not only condition our bodies they condition our minds. Being in a more relaxed atmosphere we find it easier to discuss more personal matters.

As you can see we owe a lot to these teachers that care and teach us about our bodies.

WHEN'S VACATION

Extra time????

Working together—the main idea of yearbook. We brought our talents together to make a book of the year. But yearbook isn’t just that. It’s learning how to work with many different people. It’s being there for each other when a helping hand is needed. Without a yearbook every year would gradually fade but with a yearbook your past memories can be brought back to life again and again. Those wonderful times you had are always there for you to pick up at any moment. As yearbook members we have a great amount of responsibility and pressure upon us. What we put in this book we are judged by. I am absolutely positive that by the time you read this you will be pleased with what we have accomplished.

Maritime

When you live on an island, you appreciate the small things that influence your life, like, say, the water. Some people depend on it for a living, others just for a good time. In Kayhi there are many students who fit into both groups, which is why the Maritime class is so important. Among other things, they study navigational aids, fishing techniques, and make lots of trips on the Jack Cotant. With all of this hands-on experience, those fish had better watch out!

Politics? They know all about it. SBA simply means Student Body Association which in turn means an association of incredibly cool, smart people. One representative from each homeroom is chosen together with all class officers and combined they are a group of kids who know how to get what the school wants. This year Tasha Baumgartner started a committee to adopt-a-child which seemed to work out well. Often seen was Mr. Hamlin dropping your brunch change into the donation box. All in all, SBA did some great things for the school and should be commended.

Kings ... K-Hi ... KHS ... No matter how you say it, Kings have always ruled. This year we temporarily lost our school spirit — but we came back with a loud roar. All of the sudden, the stands were full and pep club filled the gym with laughter, screams, and awesome cheers. “We are, we are, we are the best. Who are we? We are KHS!” Kings did a great job this year thanks to the encouragement of pep club and an incredibly loud pep band. We were there for the teams through thick and thin.

Perfect trio

Some say it's talent and some say that it takes a lot of work. Paul Bergeron, Jeff Smith, and Maui Valentine have what it takes to be the best musicians in Kayhi. They have worked hard and their tunes have been heard in classes, halls, and of course in band. Maui lends a note in wishing a fellow student Happy Birthday and Jeff played his guitar in French for Christmas. While Paul plays his heart out in Pep Band. Yech for these three!

A Thespian that is. A Thespian is a person who has shown dedication and talent in the area of theater. To become a Thespian a person has to put in a lot of hours both on stage and behind it. We are a group of dedicated individuals who all have different strengths and talents. Throughout the year we have received a new director and have undergone many different changes. We have begun to compete and travel throughout southeast, and have also started to make money to send some of our members to a Shakespeare festival in Ashland, Oregon this summer.

Once upon a time in the magical land of Kings, there was a fairy princess named Mrs. Luhrs who had a long, long dream. She dreamt about a group of high school students having a great time planning activities and teaching in child care centers, she saw them exploring careers in early childhood education, learning how to have positive relationships with children by developing skills in communication and dealing with children's behaviors, she saw that these would be basic life skills that the students could use for all eternity. When Mrs. Luhrs awoke, she realized that all of these things had happened, bringing great joy to the land of the Kings. And they lived happily ever after.
What’s playing?

The Symphonic band has been playing dynamically this year. They played to their best ability and kept the audience on the edge of their seats waiting for more. The Symphonic hypnotized the audience with the beautiful music flowing throughout the auditorium. The Symphonic band requires a lot of hard work and time to get the sound the audience hears during the performance. You are considered the best of the best when you reach the Symphonic band level. It is considered an honor more than anything because not only do you get a better music selection, but there is also more self-satisfaction you feel good about yourself when you know you have done a good job at a concert. When you are on stage you get excited about performing because you want to show the crowd that you are the best. The song’s that the band plays challenges their ability and skill.

Jazz maniacs!

Why get up an hour earlier every morning? Why stay another hour after school? This insanity? Basically, yes. But these jazz maniacs thrive on the feel. It is a completely different and fun type of music. According to Jeff Smith, "It's mellow, down dirty and cool. The rasp gives a rush. It's smooth and totally awesome." The Jazz band and choir are definitely a very dedicated bunch of people.

Brenna­lee Jones, who has never performed with a choir of such magnitude before, is looking forward to the festival which is held in February. When asked if she had any words for other signers in Kayhi her reply was, "All it takes is practice and confidence in yourself: All Northwest is worth the work!"

Concert Band rockets above the rest

Most students see Concert Band as a stepping stone to Symphonic Band. If this year's Concert Band was any reflection of next year's Symphonic Band, then we may be able to look forward to hearing one of the best bands in the state at our high school!

Blasting off with their fall concert, the band has been going up, up, up! The highlight of their performance was Arlington Ridge. Though they lacked in bass a little, their strong woodwind section carried the band's performance beyond the audience's expectations.

The winter performance included The Piper and Captain, White River Canyon, and March on King's Highway. As they wrapped up the year, the students anxiously looked forward to contributing to the Symphonic Band's success.

The Kayhi X-team did a good job during this year's season. Now, after the season is over, it turned out that the most successful individual runner was Gretchen Klein, with her first place in state.

We asked her some questions about her and the team. We asked her, if she had set a goal for herself, and if the team had set a goal for themselves. She said that the team wanted to get first and that she herself wanted to win the state championship in her age group, but to achieve the goal, she had to work hard.

She runs 5 days a week, with a rest on Sat. and Sun. Once a week she takes a long run, which is about 12 mi. Her meals are healthy, to keep her in shape. There are several things that go through her mind right before each race, and her main thought is to get out fast. Her biggest success was to get first in state. She said that she felt very good after winning the race that made her state champion. Her future plans are to keep on running and to go to California for the nationals, where her goal is to get under the top 8 runners in the U.S.

Devotion

It took devotion to get up at the crack of dawn to be at the pool by 6am. Our willpower was driven to the limit by being expected to walk past temptations and be at the pool for our afternoon workout! However, by working together with devotion, we launched our way up stream and left the Bears, Vikings, and Wolves stranded on the rocks. The boys finished 1st at southeast as the girls climbed to 2nd place. Despite the ice and snow in Anchorage the boys cruised right on finishing 2nd in state, smashing at least 16 other teams and gaining the reputation of having “No Respect”. The 1990-91 season had its definite ups and downs, but the boys positive mental attitude pushed them toward the top. Each game was packed with quick moves, lightning speed, and spine tingling 3 point shots by Scott Smith and Archie Dundas. The boys program was restructured this year under the capable control of new coach Phil Jackson. Under his direction the boys got down and hustled especially on defense in a lot of games. Starting all over

It isn’t very easy starting a whole new season with new teammates, let alone starting with a new coach. You really don’t know what to expect from him.

This year the Junior Varsity and Freshman Boys Basketball teams were directed under first-time coaches John Brown and David Brown. (It just so happens that these two men are not related to each other.)

For the players it wasn’t exactly easy to adjust to the new coaches. But the teams turned out just fine. With a whole set of new rules our players had an advantage, they could start the season with a clean slate and impress the coaches, and not have to worry about the past.

Clockwise: Defense attack! The Kings guard the net with their lives.

RISE TO THE OCCASION

The Kayhi beat

After hard work and dedication it became the rule that the Kayhi Girls Basketball Team pulled off close games with only minutes left on the clock. Although they lost a few frustrating games, they put it all together in the Clark Cochran tournament to take the first place trophy, a feat which had not been accomplished since 1983. The late night practices and the early 7:00 a.m. gym times have richly paid off for the girls, raising hopes for a promising season.

International Rules

We've got to do what? Jump for every jump ball? Run down the out-of-bounds line with the ball? Watch a 30 second shot clock? Ketchikan girls JV team had to make some major adjustments while playing a series of Canadian teams in British Columbia this winter. "The game is a lot different than the way we play," says JV star Niki Rhyner. "but it's more fun!"

While the girls were with their Canadian hosts they ate at the Prince Rupert D.Q., went swimming and cascading down the indoor water slide, and played some impressive basketball. "The trip was long, but it's nice to be away from the rock for awhile. Besides the boys team travels with us!" exclaimed an "anonymous" JV player.

Eat my dust! Diane Blair leaves an astonished Juneau player two steps behind her.

No doubt about it! Alysia McEachern hits the free throw.
The JV trip to Prince of Wales Island "stunk" according to one player, but was "fun" according to another. The weather was bad! There was slush up to their ankles, roads were layered with ice, the rain chilled them to the bones, and the team ran off the road at 4:00am on the way to the ferry. At one point the road was so slick the team had to make a human chain to cross it! It wasn't all bad though as the boys team traveled with them. "I hate them!" exclaimed Diane Blair, "They kept throwing our sleeping bags in the hoops in the gym!" "It was a bummer, but it makes a good story", reflected Niki Rhyner.

Working their way up, the C team gets in some shooting practice.
This year's Christmas classics turned out to be quite a success. With our Varsity girls taking first place, and our Varsity boys taking second.

There were a variety of teams participating this year. We had girls from Newport, Washington; Prince Rupert; and Metlakatla. We also had guys from the North Pole; Prince Rupert; and Metlakatla.

Each night the stands were filled with students attending Kayhi now and also many alumni returning home to see how their old school was doing and to visit with other returning students.

Saturday night was quite a night. As anticipation filled the air as to who was going to be the new Homecoming King and Queen for 1990. Slowly one by one the candidates were announced. Andrea Zeiser & Matt Baumgartner, followed by Angela Wendte & Archie Dundas, Danielle Michalsen & Scott Smith, Robin Kimberly & Chris Kemp, Steve Bloom & Heizelle Cadiente, and last but not least Myra Kahle & Quanah LeComu.

And the Homecoming King and Queen for 1990 are Robin Kimberly and Archie Dundas.

COMMAND PERFORMANCE

K-Highlites take the floor

Yes, Yes, Yes. It's time for you to hold onto your seats, stop whatcha doing, sit yourself down and get ready for some grooving. They've marched on the floor and have taken their positions, so kick back, relax, and enjoy the tradition. It's for certain that the Kayhi Drill Team has kept up with their tradition of amazing the crowd as they perform their "Superior" routines during the halftime of the basketball games. The 24 members have dedicated themselves to make each performance unique and enjoyable to you.

These girls don't just know how to dance, but they are involved in many other school activities besides being on the Drill Team. Some Drill Teamers can be seen on stage for drama or diving into the swimming pool as a member of the Swim Team. You can also find some musicians and politicians on the team. No matter what the Drill Team members are involved in, one things for sure, the K-Highlites are devoted!

Right: Leaders of the Pack - Jennifer Thompson, Robin Kimberley, Alma Manabat, Andrea Zeiser, and Hillary Webb.

A fond farewell

Nearly half of this year’s Drill Team consisted of the Class of ’91. Eleven members dominated the K-Highlites. Most of the Seniors shared many memories by being on the team; some memories were more memorable than others: “Like when my skirt fell off.”—Myra Kahle “When our music stopped in the middle of the routine.”—Hilary Webb “When Robin kissed my butt in RoboCop!”—Tracii Madden

Leaving the team will be sad for most of the Seniors since 5 of the members have been on it since their Freshman year. Others have been on it for 3 years, and some for 2 years. To the Seniors, the K-Highlites bid you a fond farewell!

Above: Jammin’ to the beat is Seanna O’Sullivan as she grins to the audience.
"Hey man, you wanna come to the b-games with me?" "To the b-games? No way, nothing is happening there. All there is, is a lot of people chasing a ball and the score is going to be in the newspaper anyways."

"Look man, there are a lot of other things going on. All our friends will be there, so that we can find out what we gonna do this weekend and ..." "And what?!"

"And there are going to be the cheerleaders, you know, Julie, Jill, Cindy, Sarah, Danielle, Jennifer and Jennifer ... And tell me do you really don’t care about those girls helping our team to get more baskets? And during timeouts and other breaks they always do small performances to help people over the time until the game continues. I think we should honor their hard work. "Let’s Go!"

Getting ready for the final position are Cheryl May, Tracy Sund, Martha Ansinger, Beth Peterson, Karen Langsang, and Melinda Buel.

"Maybe we are the only ones at the game" says Melinda Buel to Beth Peterson before one of the games.

"Go Kings!" Tracy Sund cheers on the team.
The winner is...

This year Southeast Region V Tournament attracted 600 some students involved in pep band, basketball, cheerleading, and drill team. It was four days of exhausting Games and outstanding half time performances. Teams from Juneau, Wrangell, Sitka, Mt. Edgecumbe, Petersburg, and Metlakatla all assembled in the Clark Cochrane Gym. With the community of KTN Supporting us in the stands.

The Kayhi girls pulled away with a win against Sitka to enable them to go to state. The boys didn't fair that well against Sitka, losing by two points. The close loss cost them the ticket to state. At the end of the tournament Juneau came out Taking southeast for the boys and girls team.

Action

Lights! Camera! Action!
Looking at these pictures you can grasp a look at this year's Southeast tournament. The Kingsdome was packed with hundreds of fans and over 600 talented athletic students from all over Southeast. This year there were 5 teams that participated in the Drill Team competition and 8 for the cheerleading competition. A mens team from Sitka and Juneau added to the entertainment this year and were both very exciting to watch. Cheerleaders from Haines, Wrangell, Petersburg, Mt. Edgecumbe, Sitka, Juneau, and Metlakatla cheered on their teams during the basketball games. The results of the competition? Both Ketchikan and Juneau's Drill Teams and Cheerleaders came out with Superior routines. And last but not least the Pep Club and Pep Band kept the Kingsdome rockin' and roarin'.

The 1991 wrestling team came into the season with high hopes for a repeat of the S.E. title. Although they lost their head coach, Steve Mello, who provided them with the 1st S.E. championship in 15 years, the spot was filled by Miles Hancock. Miles was a national competitor at the University of Oregon. He has the knowledge and experience to provide the team with the skills they need to retain the S.E. trophy this year and for many years to come. With the birth of the wrestling club there have been plenty of fundraisers for out of region travel and the 1st annual "pack the gym night." Although the team lost four seniors who placed in the top two in regionals last year, they have eight returning wrestlers from the varsity lineup. With a young team being so strong, hopes are for the 90's being a decade of Kayhi dominance.

In the beginning, there was volleyball. And in 1991, the Kayhi girls worked towards perfection. Along the way, they learned a few things about volleyball, themselves, and life itself. Keep reading to gain knowledge on these matters. The best thing about volleyball is:

"When all the hard work pays off in a game." "It's fun, exciting, and intense all at once!" "Picking up a killer spike or setting the ball up for a middle or back hit that's unexpected and no one can touch it." "I'll give it a 45. It's got a good beat but I can't dance to it." Taking all of these great comments into consideration, volleyball must be stupendous. Now, don't you wanna go out and play volleyball? So go out and challenge a volleyball player near you, but if they are from Kayhi, be prepared!

STUDENT LIFE
No, this is not the soap opera, it’s a day in the life of a fellow Kayhi student.
Student all know about the hassles and struggles one day of school can bring.
From the crack of dawn or as your alarm clock buzzes, stumbling bodies arise from a restless sleep and begin their journey through 7 hours (estimated) of school. The long day is equivalent to 420 minutes or 25,200 seconds.

Some say the drama of school begins at 8:15 a.m., but actually the day begins as soon as you make an attempt to get out of bed and head for the shower. Once that obstacle has been accomplished, the countdown for school starts. The average person takes about 1/2 an hour to 1 hour to make certain the day starts off right. Some basic essentials that may help the day go smoother may include enough hairspray, an awesome outfit, a healthy breakfast, and maybe even a sack lunch especially made by mom. Now it’s time to go to school!

Kayhi style

The halls of Kayhi slowly fill up with student bodies before the 8:15 bell rings. Occasionally you can find students racing down the hall to make it to class before the clock strikes 8:20. Homeroom class is probably the most unique. The class usually contains a rowdy group of students or a tired group. The rowdy group usually tends to have lots of talk about. The tired group mingles towards the back of the room to sneak some sleep in. Homeroom starts off with the day’s announcements, frequently read by our SBA president Maile Anslinger. As soon as she is finished, the teacher goes on with the lesson plans for the hour! Homeroom seems so long, it makes you wonder when the day will be actually over. Finally the dismissal bell rings and you’re off to 2nd period.

By the time the first two hours have gone by, your mind is calling for a break and your stomach is calling for a snack. Just between 2nd and 3rd hour, we are allowed a 10 minute break. Brunch breaks rescues us from our hunger pains and gives us time to chat with friends for a few minutes. You’re back to work as soon as snack break comes to an end. 3rd and 4th hour drag on by and before you know it, lunch is just around the corner. The MSR then becomes the major meeting area. Most of the students remain in the school and spend their lunch hour eating in the MSR with friends. Some people take advantage of owning a vehicle and head down to the mall to get something to chow down on. When you return to school, the day just seems to fly right on by. 5th and 6th hour end so quickly and before you know it, school is out-FREEDOM! Hundreds of bodies scurry home and rest up for a brand new day!

How to rest after a week of school

Every night after the sunset reaches the Ketchikan downtown area, you can see the creatures of the night coming out of their living habitats. All they want is something to do. To become better at what they are doing. We questioned some of the creatures, the ones that are called students, as to what they do during night hours.

"Sleep" - Travis Wright
"Dance or go to the movies" - Misty Williams
"I go to Guanas house and sleep" - Myra Kahle
"Go home, plug in my Rossini overtures and drink lemonade" - Tom Nordtvedt
"I play basketball" - Andrea Joseph

"I kiss my daughter, kiss my son and my wife" - Peter Boilling
"I play Trivial Pursuit with my parents" - Dustin Adams
"I go out with my friends, waste gas and race Hap and Ned." - Alma Manabat
"Play poker" - Duke Homan
"Go and watch the basketball games" - Cheri Fleenor

Even though this sounds boring, there are lots of other things going on, like ..., that give the students an excuse to come home in the early morning hours. These things are not to be mentioned.
Right: "Come on Kayhi, let's he!" Cheering fans attempt to disturb Juneau's free throws. The cheerleaders prefer it over yelling.

Below: Tired of old breath mint commercials? Dean Lukin has found the perfect solution for bad breath. Below: Reflecting, Mr. Sander remembers when this was futuristic dress.

Right: The perfect disguise! Brian Schelin has finally found the way to sleep through class.

"I hope this teaches you all to take the garbage out when ma tells you to!" scolds Lee Warren.
Go bananas!!! What possesses Kayhi students to act the way they do? Spirit week? Games? Juneau Bears? Who knows, but whatever it is, it works. School colors day usually is the biggest hit during spirit week, BUT this year, the freshmen showed up at school dressed to kill. Their Hawaiian skirts and shirts were spotted from miles away. Hall decorating was "most excellent" with the Seniors coming in first for their rain forest-jungle theme.

The other halls looked great and all the classes really gave it their all. After the judging, the Senior net was pulled down from the ceiling which caused total chaos. Students were overheard telling Miss Turek "I'm tardy because my button got caught around the net!" There's no logical reason but when the time comes, Kayhi gives 100% effort.

Human mops sweep the gym floor at a Pep Assembly.
He dribbles down the court, he SHOOTS, HE SCORES!! Hey, wait a minute, I'm supposed to be writing an article, how did I get in a basketball position? Oh, well, I can ease my mind knowing that I'm not the only one this happens to. Come on, admit it, you've all done it before.

You start out very serious minded and determined about everything you will accomplish but bit by bit, your body takes over, suddenly you look like a yoga professional and your legs have gone to sleep. Well, I've got this article out of the way, now if I could only get out of this knot!

LIVING IN AMERICA!

A different life!

You've seen them around and wondered "Who are they?" Well now we are bringing them to you up close. We've got Jan Agthe from Germany, Momoko Susuki from Japan, Toby Ward from Australia, Adam Welz from South Africa, Paula Costa from Brazil, and Dorritt Fredrickson and Thorbjorn (Bill) Rame from Denmark. They are getting experience in American life and loving every minute of it! They are getting to do things they've never done before. According to Bill Rame, "You have forests here. At home you could walk through a forest in half an hour and would see a lot of people." Jan Agthe says he gets to "play around at Harriet Hunt." When asked what he thought about America, Adam Welz said, "I find that Americans know far less about the rest of the world than most of the world knows about America—that is very interesting." These people must definitely enjoy living in America!

Flirting—Joel Kinunen and Dorritt Fredrickson laugh together as get to know each other.

Up We go! says Jan Agthe as he coaxes a stubborn bike up a steep hill.

Trapping- Bill Rame does what he enjoys most about living in America.

"Brilliant!" Budding photographer Adam Welz plans his next awe-inspiring shot.
They'll have to rewrite history books to fit in all of the record breaking news that took place this year! The 1990-1991 school year was loaded with world-changing news.

In early 1990 more than a few feathers were ruffled when environmentalists proclaimed 6,000 spotted owls to be endangered species. Logging in the Pacific Northwest was cut down and many loggers lost their jobs.

NASA suffered engine problems, fuel leaks, and several other embarrassing setbacks.

The nation faced a broccoli-hating president. "Just put toothpaste on it," advised one preschooler.

After 27 years, six months, and a week in prison, Nelson Mandela, symbol of South Africa's anti-apartheid movement, was released from prison.

Roseanne Barr sang (murdered) the national anthem at a San Diego Padres' game.

The Berlin wall was anxiously torn down in a united Germany. The wall slabs sold for as much as $300,000.

After 27 years, six months, and a week in prison.
Into War

One of the most serious events of the year was when the United States and the world entered into war with Iraq on January 16. Almost everyone has expressed a different opinion on our position.

"Television press is glorifying war. People must realize that people can die in war. This is not the Superbowl!" - Sten Carlson

"The media is doing a good job balancing military secrecy and freedom of speech." - Rob Short

"The soldiers should be treated like human beings while they are there and when they get back." - Patience Sherman

"It was unavoidable. Hussien needs to be stopped." - Esther Rhodes

"The American people should have decided to go to war." - Glen Coyille

"I support the troops too. I'm just protesting the war." - Leanne Drake

Some are praying for peace while others support the war, but almost everyone wants to make sure that the men and women in the Persian Gulf are well supported.
Lunch in . . .

Lunch-time, the time of the day when groups of students run in different directions. The favorite places are the mall and the MSR. Students have different ideas about how to create their lunch-time. They eat, cruise and shop. There are a few who go and play in mud puddles in their 4x4 trucks. Some students go home and have lunch with their families. The places where the most students go to eat are: Super Value, Mac Donalds, Sea Mart and Grand deli’s. The favorite food ranges from a simple salad (mostly consumed by wrestlers that are on a diet!) to Big Mac Happy Meals, that often turn out not to be very happy.

Some students don’t eat lunch at all. Those are the wrestlers that have to make their certified weight for the weekend.

Right: "Goodbye!" Russel Thomas sings the blues.

Right: "This is it!" Rod Thomas exclaims.

WE HAVE LOOKED
Towards the Future...

Another year goes by and we have the opportunity to look back at the wonderful and not so wonderful memories. We have a record of what we have looked for in the future and have now seen as the past. People and lives change as they travel through the year. They are affected by many different events occurring in and out of school. These four years have such a great impact on us that we will only see it well after we have collected all four of your high school yearbooks. Then we will have actual proof of the exciting happenings in our crazy adolescent years. Yes, in time our memories will fade, but luckily we have a personal reminder of our 1990-91 school year.
