Angelina Martin, a senior, spent her year in Peru, where she attended a private Catholic school for girls. But she was able to mingle with the Peruvian boys at the many 'discotecas' that she went to.

Senior, Gavin Piercy lived in Russia during his year abroad. Gavin always had a fascination with Russia from old James Bond movies so being able to travel around and see all the sights was a big thrill for him.

Taylor McDonald, a senior, moved down to Brazil. She loved traveling around the country with the other exchange students. Her travels took her from the Amazon to Rio de Janeiro.

Senior, Carla Raglianti, has joined our school from Santiago, Chile. "Though it rains here a lot", she said, "the people are very nice". She enjoys Ketchikan and hopes that the rest of her year is just as great.

Coming all the way from Cordoba, Veracruz, Mexico, senior Luis Miguel (Mickey) Caballero has fit into Ketchikan nicely. He likes playing soccer on a local team even though we don't have grass fields. He doesn't like the rain either, but he's getting used to it. Good luck.

Theresa Marche is from Potsdam, Germany. As a senior here at Kayhi she thinks that this year is much easier then back in her home town. "I'm glad that I had this opportunity to live in a different country," Theresa stated. "Ketchikan is wet and cold, but the people are so very nice."

Seniors Theresa Marche, Angelina Martin, and Taylor McDonald bundle up to face the cold weather.

Senior Mickey Caballero loves Rotary.

Reflections

Archie Ironcillo: One of my most embarrassing moments was during a Kayhi basketball game when Lowell and I performed with the Schoenbar Boys Drill Team. I was wearing overalls and as I exited the gym they fell down! The other side of the gym got a full on view of my boxers!

Ms. Bowlen: Two years ago on Halloween I was over visiting a friend. There was a knock at her door and to my surprise the door opened to reveal Tyler Woodell and Ben Voelberg, dressed as girls, standing at her door.

Derek Clark: When I was eight my family went on a trip to Florida. My mom took me to this huge mall to go shopping. I wasn't watching her and the next thing I knew, I was all by my self and I couldn't see her anywhere! It was really scary!

Stacey Stone: My most embarrassing moment was when Jennae Ostrom panted me in second grade.

Charisse Seludo: I added "Alexis" to my ICQ thinking it was Alexis Schofield. When "Alexis" got on we started to chat. I said, "Do you know Alexis Pahang? He is so hot!" After "Alexis" logged off I looked at their information and the name said "Alexis Pahang!"

Ian Roskam: Two years ago on the Music Fest trip. Ms. Dorsey (the former counselor) was following me and my girlfriend around. It was kind of funny at first, but then it just got really annoying!

Isaac Lucas: When I was a freshman there was a really hot girl that went to my school. I was walking downstairs one day and she walked by me going upstairs. I turned around and checked her out, and when I turned back around, I fell right down the stairs!

Sarah Slenkamp: I was driving through town one day and I saw "Luscious L". I turned around to look at him and couldn't stop staring! All of a sudden my friend said "Sarah! Car!" I turned around and slammed on my brakes just in time to stop myself from rear ending the car in front of me!

Shaun Phillips: One day in Culinary Arts we were making doughnut holes. I was having lots of fun throwing the dough balls into the hot oil. All of a sudden something happened... and there were flames!

Mr. Powell: One day I had students outside. Mr. Martin (the Superintendent) walked by and asked, "Do you learn better in the sunshine?" Before I could reply Christine Stack said, "From him? We don't learn nothing!" I enjoyed working here.

Photos by: Aubree Danner and Emily Brooks
Carla Raglanti: I was at a party and I got lost when I was coming back from the restroom. I finally found my way back and all these cops were looking for me!

Ms. Roppel: My most traumatic experience was during my first year of teaching. A very troubled child cut off the judge’s daughter’s long blonde pigtails during a seventh grade spelling test.

Katheryn Brooks: I was walking downtown last summer. A truck with hot guys in the back drove by. I tried to watch them as I walked around this fat lady with a stroller and a toddler and I ran right into a fire hydrant!

Jesse Zaugg: One day in gym we were doing shuttle runs. I was wearing those snap away pants and somehow... all of a sudden... I wasn’t wearing them anymore and was completely exposed, and I’m not just talkin’ boxers!

Mr. Dwyer: A few years ago I had Jessica Kenyon and Chris Campbell in my Chemistry class. I was demonstrating a reaction on the board. Chris looked confused so I asked if he needed any help. Chris said he didn’t need any help from me but would like some help from Jessica because he was in love with her.

Tallie Medel: During HSGQE testing, I got lost! I went to my Spanish class and there were people testing in the class! I couldn’t find out where my class had been moved to!

Marcus Robecker: I was at Disneyland with my family a few years ago. I was walking around the park and I saw these really hot girls. I couldn’t stop looking at them and I must not have been paying attention to where I was walking because I ran right into an ice cream vendor!

Kevin Clemens: When I was in eighth grade I was on the State Farm baseball team. My pants were really tight that year. Somehow, at one of our games, my fly was wide open. These really hot girls were staring at me and I kept looking back at them. My coach saw me and got really mad.

Jerrad Fudge: When I was in eighth grade I housed two guys for the Schaenbar Shootout. They were acting really weird. Later that night I went into my kitchen and found one of them going to the bathroom in the sink!
