OFF THE HOOK
the Senior
Class of 2008
Seniors Patrick Doherty, Patrick Troll, Eli Murph, Hannibal Kintana, Martin Moreno, Loren Carson, Ms. Machado and Amber Machado enjoying a pretty view in Italy on the summer Greece/Italy trip.

Seniors Joey Karlson, Whitney Walters, Anthony Chavarria, Andrew Brooks, Francis Klein, Anica Roskam, Chanah Dulin, and Evan Bolling enjoying a weekend get away at Whitney's cabin.

Seniors Jessyca Stanley and Janiece Lastimosa show off their stunnas on one of the few nice days in Ketchikan.

Seniors Joey Karlson and Evan Bolling prove just how brave they are by cruising Alaska style in the chilly waters of Ketchikan.

Seniors Zach Scovill, Loren Carson, Nick Otness, and Hannibal Kintana enjoy their time in Europe together.

Seniors Kyleen Luhrs, Chanah Dulin, and Brittany Auger at Girls' State this summer.
4th of July

Class of 2008

Theme: Laua

The weather was typical Ketchikan -- WET! You would have thought we were on Mount Waialeale!
SENIOR WALK-IN FINALLY OFF THE HOOK

Class of 2008

The first Pep Assembly was a big success. We had a dance off and the Seniors "Thrilled" the Freshmen and showed them who's OFF THE HOOK. Maroon and white -- we displayed our Kayhi Pride.
Eliza Gichard uses her muscles to chuck that wood.

Jessie Zink and Vanessa Johnson are determined to chop some wood.

Zach Scovill watches over Tamas Denke, who shows him how they do it in Hungary.

The WOODHOGS group hard at work.

WOODHOGS 2008

The mighty WOODHOG has stood by the Senior class since 1999. Left: Allan Manuel and Chris Kinney wait to make the wood chips fly.

The Seniors of 2008 know that if they work together much can be accomplished.

Since we all came from a woman, I wonder why we take from women, why we rape our women, do we hate our women? I think its time we killed for our women, our race to our women, try to heal our women, or if we don't, we'll have a race of babies that will hate the ladies, who make the babies. -Shel Silverstein, Falling Up

September 12, 1989 - March 14, 2006
I remember sophomore year on a wrestling trip in Sitka. We had just finished showering and went to eat at Lane 7. Once we arrived and got situated we got our food and started eating. About 5 min. later a lady walked in and sat on a stool, and 2 min. later we smelled this awful odor as she gets up and says “Oh my!” “I think she just went to the bathroom” is all Mr. Collins could say as he sprinted to the bathroom with all of us but one. Nick Martin was sitting two stools away still eating! Sitka will never be the same for the wrestling team. - Dustin Simpson.

Everyday on the way to work a big dog would chase after me on my bike, and one day Matthew Perry and I decided to tie a bat to the back of it. Several days later I was riding down the hill while holding the bat and steering with one hand. I was so focused on watching for the dog that I ran into a parked boat. I flew over the trailer doing a ninja roll when I landed and came up unhurt, although my bike was beyond repair. - Forrest Allred

My favorite memory of high school was when I was a junior and Colin Ayres, Gunnar Farstad, Corey White, Anthony Chavarria and I blocked off the senior parking lot with snow one cold night. We started filling trucks after school and decided we didn’t have enough snow. So at 11 p.m. Colin, Anthony and I were back up at Harriet Hunt. It was tough, but the funniest thing we’ve ever done. Even the old man who lives next to senior parking lot was laughing and taking pictures during it all.

- Rebekah Miller (See photo on page 33)

The summer after my 10th grade year, Marissa, Colette, Heather B, Lia and I all got really bored one night, so we decided to saran wrap Colette and I together. We used 4-5 boxes and Colette and I could hardly move Marissa then decided it would be really funny to show a teacher… the perfect candidate was none other than Ms. Roppel! So we went to her house and they yelled “Ms. Roppel!” and ran away, leaving Colette and I standing there. I tried to run after them, but I guess Colette wasn’t ready because we fell over. I wound up breaking my nose and cutting a huge hole in my face. Ms. Roppel had to come out and cut us out.

- Chloe Hall

In my sophomore year Laramie Tyler and Colin Ayers tied a rope to my left ankle and I was roped down and holstered up several times off the balcony down Junior Hall.

- Gerald Orton

I went to Italy and Greece over the summer, and had to wash a shirt and my swimming shorts. I went to the bathroom and I saw something that I thought was a place to wash clothes. So I washed them and later found out it was called a bidet.

- Martin Moreno

In 6th grade, Mari Freitag and I used to go to the New York Cafe before dance class and order soup. One day it was dark outside, and we could clearly see our reflections in the cafe window. We sat there, eating our soup and making funny faces and laughing at them. Then Mari put on my fluffy, white, cheetah-print hat so that when she raised her eyebrows up and down, the hat would bob as well. She was looking into the window, grinning cheesily, eyes wide, and eyebrows bouncing, when a middle-aged man walked past the window and stared at us. We freaked out and quickly turned our attention back to our soup... but then the man came in the cafe, ordered something, then turned and WINKED at Mari. I almost died laughing.

- Olivia Round

So last year at the regional swim/dive meet in Petersburg was interesting. They just built their new pool, and the bathrooms didn’t have any signs on them. So I’m walking to the bathroom after the meet and without noticing took the first left. As I get to the bathroom, I look up to see all the MALE participants. Spencer Round looks straight at me and laughs. The rest of the trip I just got made fun of the whole time, it was pretty intense.

- Kristen Peterson

So Joey Karlson, Loren Carson, Davey B, Eric Cessnun, Zach Scovill, Travis Milligan and I were all chillin’ at Joey’s. We were really bored and started talking about random stuff. Loren brought up this one time he went to the Grand Canyon in Arizona. We all started laughing at him because the Grand Canyon is in Colorado!! We kept making fun of him until after an hour of arguing we decided to get a map and look for it. It turns out Loren was right, but we still made fun of him because of his Willy Wonka thing he did.

- Hannibal Kintana Jr.
I remember during sophomore year Lillian Pringle and I left a dance early to go get ice cream from McDonald’s. It was the middle of winter with snow all over the ground. So we're walking down Jefferson's home and sliding, sharing an iPod and screaming “Blondie" at the top of our lungs. We keep falling over and ripping the hair out of each other's ears—which hurts when it's really cold! I'll remember that slippery, icy, walk to get ice cream of all things, forever. -Leanna McMinn

One sunny day in Drama, our class decided to take an inspirational nature walk. Joel and I, being the photo crazed models we are, decided to take advantage of the sunny, autumn scenery. As the camera was shuttering, our class was slowly drifting out of sight. Twenty pictures later, Joel and I frantically chased our class, but when we rounded the corner, they were nowhere to be found. We were panic stricken, and at a loss of what to do. Mrs. Carpenter appeared out of nowhere and let us in the auto shop. We eventually reunited with our class free of disaster. -Vanessa Johnson

One time in sophomore hallway after school, I was standing on Tyler’s coat and he yanked it out from underneath me and I went flying backwards flat on my back. A teacher came and started yelling her head off at him saying how badly I could've been hurt. We were both laughing our heads off. -Nicci Johnson

I remember some friends and I were canoeing out at Ward Lake when there was still ice on half the lake. We flipped the canoe and had to swim to the other canoe. It was flippen cold! -Eli Murph

Erika Wright and I were setting up the children's fish pond for Senior Carnival and decided that we would do everything since our partner, Mitch, was out of it. Erika was standing on a chair on a table when the chair started to wobble. Suddenly I heard a crash, boom and scream from behind the fishpond wall and no longer saw her hanging stuff up. I quickly hurried to make sure she was ok, trying not to laugh. She stood there examining her aches and pains when we realized that she had ripped the crotch of her pants completely from front to back. Laughing, we rushed out of Kayhi so that Erika could change her very ripped jeans and returned to the pond, thankfully receiving Mitch's much needed help. -Molly Keene

This summer out at Whitney's cabin we had a little get-together. That night while lighting off fireworks, everyone began to go outside. Since Anica was the last one out we had assumed she left the door open. After the amazing fireworks show we headed inside, only to find that the door had never been UNLOCKED! While everyone was freaking outstay two nights. Just move the furniture and you can pull out the sofa bed was all the parents told us. Only problem was the floor was covered in dirt, mud, dog poop and rat traps. Then we tried the sofa bed, only to find an enormous amount of sand, dirt, dead leaves and dirty underwear inside. At this point I was in tears, so we called a cab and went to the hotel Kyleen’s mom was at. The next day we told them we got sick and wanted our mommies...and maybe they should clean their house. -Brittany Auger & Kyleen Luhrs

Last summer I was at Raychaell’s house hanging out with Daniel and we decided we were bored so we drove up to see Jacob. It was bad enough that Daniel backed up Jacob's driveway goin’ 40, but when we knocked on Jacob’s door he was in pajama’s and barefoot. His brother walked up behind him and pushed him out, then he was locked out. So we watched Jacob run around lookin’ ridiculous trying to get back in his house. It was great! -Taushia Hohorst

I'm Chu from Taiwan. I think the most interesting part of my life is being in Ketchikan! When I knew exchange country was America, I was so excited. When I knew I would go to Alaska, I was nervous. However, now, Ketchikan is just like my hometown! Although the temperature is so cold, I still feel people's warmth. Although the weather is always rainy, when I see everybody smile, I feel sunshine. Everyone is very nice and friendly. Every tree in Ketchikan is calling my name: the ocean, the mountains, and the fish, too, want to be my friends. It's very hard to explain how awesome it is! Although I have seen snow before, it is very beautiful in Ketchikan, and I'm still so happy! I can see that much snow here. I'm so glad that I can be an exchange student. I'm also glad that I came to Ketchikan. My English is much better than before. Because everybody is my teacher, I can learn more and practice more. I just want to say, "I love Ketchikan! Thanks everybody!"

-Chu Peng-Chih

I'm Tamas Denke, and I'm from Hungary. I want to be a mechanical engineer and maybe do some computer programming in the future. I'm glad I could choose classes to get closer to my aims, and so far, I'm enjoying the exchange. However, I am in a small town--compared to my hometown, Budapest--I don't have any problems, except I dearly miss public transportation. However, now I can relax a bit after 16 years in Budapest, the capital of Hungary. And I love to live here...however the rain also exists. I've found friends quickly, or maybe they've found me, but never mind, I have good friends here. And I'm so amazed that I'm busier than at home! I have something to do, so I won't be bored during this year, hopefully. Finally, a thousand thanks to my friends and to my teachers for their help and kindness, and much more to the Rotary for bringing me here for a year.

-Tamas Denke

Hi! I'm Liana. I'm from Bucheon, South Korea. Honestly, when I knew I'd come to Alaska, I was surprised, and my family and friends imagined igloos, icebergs, polar bears, and many other things like these! - And even I didn't know Ketchikan is on an island before I came here! Anyway, so these things were such a surprise for me. However, my exchange year in Ketchikan has been so good that I love to adapt myself to new circumstances. I'm really thankful for this opportunity. When I was in Korea, I just studied every day so I can go to a good university. So, playing volleyball was really a new experience for my life. And that was so fun, too! I love volleyball! My departure date is June 18th. In some ways I don't want to go back to Korea, because I'll miss you guys!

The 07-08 school year has been the best in my life! Lianat.p@hotmail.com

-Hyun-Young Kim [Liana]

To be an exchange student is not easy and not always happy. There are a lot of feelings that I have never experienced before. To speak in a different language and live among people who are always speaking it has been really hard, especially since our cultures are so different.

However, it's really fun to be here in Ketchikan with all of you. The best thing is absolutely volleyball! Awesome players on the team became my first friends in Ketchikan. They are the best. Thank you for your patience (trying to help me understand). And also thanks to my good Asian friends that I always hang out with, many seniors, friends from T.A.G., teachers, and everyone that helps me, thank you so much!!! This year will be in my memory forever.

And if I have time, I'll have to come back again!!

-Chutimon Nimluk [Gam]
I had an awesome year in Thailand. I lived right in the middle of Bangkok and grew to love the life of a big city. My host family there was awesome and let me explore the country and surrounding areas. I worked in orphanages in the north, studied Buddhism, became a masseuse, learned to firedance, worked with injured elephants, and met people from all over the world. Being an exchange student taught me so much and opened my eyes to the world. Thailand was, hands down, the best adventure I have yet to take.

-Molly Keene

Being an exchange student was an experience of a lifetime. Being gone for ten months in a completely different culture away from all my friends and family was very eye opening. Being in France gave me opportunities that can't be found in Ketchikan; for example, I joined the local rugby club and took golf lessons. I got to go skiing in the French Alps, and I was also able to visit many other countries throughout Europe. The question I get asked most often about my exchange is what I miss most about France and my answer is by far the French cuisine. Going to France for a year was a life changing experience and I wouldn't trade that year for anything.

AASG meets twice each school year (winter and spring), and the winter meet was held at East Anchorage High. While there, the delegates wrote resolutions to change rules with the intent to help make school, or even our nation a better place.

AASG strengthens school governments by training student leaders. The students attend many presentations and participate in workshops. This year was a huge success and resulted in Ms. Roppel being elected as President of Advisors and Junior Kalli Kline was elected as the Secretary of the State Student Government.
